In the wake of Jolo attack

PNP in EV in full alert status

JOEY A. GABIETA

TACLOBAN CITY- The terror attack in Jolo, Sulu has resulted for the Philippine National Police here in the region to raise into a full alert status.

Chief Supt. Dionardo Carlos, police regional director, said that placing the entire region under full alert status could help deter unscrupulous individuals in carrying out their illegal or terroristic acts.

"The PNP (in the region) is in full alert status which means 100 percent presence of personnel, (especially) those in the fields," Carlos said in a press conference Monday (Jan.28).

On Sunday (Jan.27), about 20 people were killed and 112 others were injured in a twin bombing incident in a church in Jolo with the terror group, the Islamic State group, claiming responsibility.

The police regional director said that public places like churches, terminals, shopping malls where most of the people converge to include vital installations in the region are be monitored with police visibility to be heightened.

Carlos also said that entry points of the region will also be monitored for any possible entry of individuals who plan to carry out their illicit and terroristic activities.

The region is considered to be a gateway to Luzon and Mindanao areas.

TACLOBAN CITY – The Biliran Electric Cooperative (Bileco) has tentatively set the operation of the Higatangan microgrid system on March 8.

This was disclosed by Bileco general manager Gerardo Oledan who said that the project will provide a 24-hour uninterrupted power supply from the previous 5-hours a day to this island that has two villages with more than 600 residents.

"Bileco has conducted the testing and commissioning of the microgrid system last January 24 and doing full observation with regards to stability," Oledan said.

"The plant will undergo more testing and observation for a week to ensure reliability and stability of the plant before the formal inauguration tentatively scheduled on March 8," the Bileco general manager added.

The inauguration is expected to be graced by local government officials of Naval, Department of Energy, National Electrification Administration and representatives from the South Korean government.

The electric cooperative also hopes that the project

Former Tacloban City Mayor Alfred Romualdez said that good and effective governance will be among the cornerstones of his administration as he seeks the position he held for nine years in this year's midterm elections.

Ex-mayor Alfred Romualdez vows a clean and effective governance

TACLOBAN CITY- Alfred Romualdez, former mayor of this city, finds himself back in the game of politics after three years.

In an exclusive interview, Romualdez who is running unopposed as mayor of this city in this year's midterm elections, discussed his platforms and advocacies on his political comeback.

When asked about his political agenda, the former mayor talked about the need to restudy ordinances especially the old ones which are no longer applicable to present times and conditions.

Romualdez, who was Tacloban's mayor for nine years ending in 2016, also emphasized the necessity of manpower and technical people to come in and work for the government since it's hard to convince career people to work for the city because most of them prefer to work in private sectors where they are able to acquire better compensation.

In relation to his political comeback, since it has been three years after his last term, a lot has happened within that period of time.

This 2019, Romualdez is leaning towards a clean, good, and effective governance.

Farm-to-market road benefits farmers in a rural E. Samar village

BORONGAN CITY- Residents in Barangay Anislag, Quinapondan, Eastern Samar are now experiencing faster delivery of their products with the completion of the farm-to-market road (FMR) with cheaper transportation cost.

Brgy. Anislag is 6.40 km from Quinapondan town proper is nestled on a hilly and mountainous area.

"For so long ago, farmers used to travel by foot or carabao with their farm products. In the early 90's, there already existed a gravel road. Residents travelled by motorcycle and tricycle with more or less 45 minutes to one hour from Brgy. Anislag," farmer Rolly Pagadora said.

He said when the road was really in a poor condition, the farmers spent so much time in delivering their products so that they needed to transport their cargoes twice: first, by carabao and then by motorcycle.

"After we harvested our crops such as vegetables, root crops, bananas and coconuts, we had difficulty in selling them because the hauling cost was too expensive. We endured high transportation cost and long travel time that greatly affected the quality of our products and our income," said Pagadora.

"These were some of our struggles until the Subsidiary Grant Agreement (SGA) came bringing the road concreting project to Quinapondan town and to our poor barangay," he said.

The national government secured a financial contribution in the form of a grant from the Federal Republic of Germany under the Financing and Project Agreement (FPA) between the Land Bank of the Philippines (LBP) and the LGU of Quinapondan through SGA under the Yolanda Reconstruction Program (YRP), said Marites Servano, the municipal planning and development coordinator.

Under this agreement, P40 million came from SGA and P10 million from LGU Quinapondan as counterpart fund or equity.

"Because of the completion of the 4.5 km FMR with a bridge, the travel time now is only 20 minutes to 25 minutes and delivery of our farm products to the market is easier," Barangay Councilor Linda Baston said.

She thanked the national government, Federal Republic of Germany, and LGU Quinapondan because of the positive changes brought by the project implemented in their area.

The FMR with bridge did not only benefit the farmers but also the high school students when going to school from Barangay Anislag to Quinapondan, the village councilor said.

Eastern Visayas engineers brace for strong quakes

TACLOBAN CITY -- The Association of Structural Engineers of the Philippines (ASEP) has been raising the capability of civil engineers to compose the post-earthquake response team and assess damaged buildings.

Training of civil engineers is badly needed since the country is highly vulnerable to destructive earthquakes, said Ferdinand Briones, ASEP regional coordinator for Eastern Visayas (Region 8).

"This is our advocacy to make structures and communities resilient to various hazards. Among our key activities are vulnerability and risk assessment of structures, and capacity building and training," said Briones, who also heads the Department of Public Works and Highways Northern Samar 2nd district engineering office.

Hundreds of civil engineers, both from private and government sectors of different parts of the region, on Thursday gathered in this city for a two-day training on the group's disaster mitigation, preparedness and response program.

On feeding program budget

The move of the Senate to increase the Department of Education (DepEd) budget for school feeding from P3.97-billion to P7.58-billion is commendable enough but it could have ill-effects and disadvantages if the program implementation is not closely monitored.

Without any doubt, this on-going program is advantageous to the students and pupils particularly those who come from hard up families. It could promote proper nutrition, eradicate hunger, build up a healthier young generation, and even attract children to schools instead of just roaming around outside doing drugs and vices.

Drawbacks, however, are likewise accompanying this program. One such downside is the indolence that results on the part of parents, who eventually just rely on the feeding program for the sustenance of their children.

They are not urged to work hard anymore since they can't see its necessity. If millions of families nationwide will just rely on the feeding program so their children could eat, they would become a great burden for the government and the tax-paying citizens.

Moreover, this program needs constant monitoring from anti-corruption measures of the government because, per observation, some of its school budgets are not spent for the children's feeding but are siphoned into the pockets of corrupt school officials. Now that additional budgets are on the way, the more that they will likely be malversed—to the government's loss.

While the Senate is acting in a heroic manner with this additional budgetary allocation, there should also be effective mechanisms that should monitor the feeding program implementation so that the children will indeed benefit from it and the government's funds will not go to waste.

Lowering criminal liability age

When President Rodrigo Duterte urged Congress to lower the age of criminal liability to nine, 'twas just to ensure the Filipino youth would accept responsibility for their actions. Little did he know the admonition would be greeted with fierce opposition.

Yes, this proposal to lower the age of criminal liability in the country from fifteen to nine years has come under fire as human rights groups and legislators had warned it could harm rather than protect children. By way of recall, the justice committee of the House of Representatives had approved this bill due to the "alarming increase in the number of criminal syndicates using minors to carry out criminal acts based on recent news reports."

Covered by the bill are crimes like murder, parricide, infanticide, serious illegal detention, car-jacking and violation of the Dangerous Drugs

Act. Under this proposed law, children above nine years old but below 18 years old are exempted from criminal liability and intervention unless they had acted with discernment, in which case they shall go through appropriate proceedings. They will not be imprisoned, however, but will instead undergo "rehabilitation, reformation and confinement" in reformative institutions.

The measure is expected to deter criminals from corrupting children, and turning them

The Legacy of Henry Sy Sr.

Henry Sy Sr. is the man who built a business empire in the Philippines with 60 branches nationwide and 4 branches in China – the Shoemart (SM) malls. His remarkable success story had its beginning when as 12 year old boy, he arrived in the Philippines with nothing but shirt on his back and 10 centavos in his pocket.

Henry Sy achieved his goal of becoming a businessman, emerging as the Philippines’ richest man with a net worth estimated at $19 Billion. He was known to be very frugal reportedly counting every centavo to make sure nothing is unaccounted for. He was a simple, humble and low-key person.

At an early age, he already knew the value of hard work, industry and diligence working 12 hours a day in his father’s small sari-sari store in Quiapo. He was an extraordinary man whose vision has influenced the lives of every ordinary man.

Mr. Sy transformed the retail industry in the country. He was one of the great

Avoid scandalizing and being scandalized

SCANDAL, of course, is a sin. We need to be reminded of this since nowadays it seems that scandals are so common that many people think it is just okay to cause it or to be scandalized.

When one scandalizes somebody else, he leads or tempts that other person to sin. And when one is scandalized, he actually is not only tempted but has fallen into sin, at least by having some bad thoughts.

We have to be most mindful of our words and deeds, because no matter how insignificant they may seem, we can already cause a scandal in others. And we have to strengthen our defenses against scandals, so that instead of thinking badly, for example, of someone due to what we have seen or heard, we are ready to understand and help.

And scandal need not be in the sexual department only which is already a grave sin. It can only be a matter of gossip of any kind, as long as we cause another person to sin by thinking badly of someone or by leading him to have some critical thoughts, mental reservations, rash judgments, etc.

Of course, we have to distinguish between the temptation of scandal and the sin of scandal itself. Temptation is only temptation and is not yet a sin because we have not yet consented to it, though we may already be attracted to it. The sin of scandal is when we consent to the temptation and, worse, when we enjoy it.

We have to be most entrepreneurs in the Philippines and in Asia. Through hard work and determination he built one of the largest and the most successful companies in the country by providing affordable and high quality goods to a large segment of our population. He also gave back to the country in a very significant way through his contributions to education by donating school buildings and libraries.

Henry Sy was an icon who served as an inspiration for aspiring entrepreneurs across the country. He showed the winning attitudes needed to be a successful businessman – hardworking, persevering, humble and kind.

His vision and perseverance towards his dreams inspired a lot of entrepreneurs. His legacy will continue and inspire future generations. He said “You have to have a dream, whether big or small. Then plan, focus, work hard and be very determined to achieve your goals.”

careful about the danger of scandal, both in its active and passive aspects, since this danger is now rampant. In fact, we can say that the danger has become part of the world culture, promoted not only by individuals, but also by big and powerful institutions like the media, and in the fields of politics, business, entertainment, sports, etc.

It might be good to review the points of the Catechism about scandal, if only to help us develop a certain sensitivity toward its danger. They are in points 2284 to 2287 of the Catechism of the Catholic Church.

“2284. Scandal is an attitude or behavior which leads another to do evil. The person who gives scandal becomes his neighbor’s tempter. He damages virtue and integrity; he may even draw his brother into spiritual death. Scandal is a grave offense if by deed or omission another is deliberately led into a grave offense.

“2285. Scandal takes on a particular gravity by reason of the authority of those who cause it or the weakness of those who are scandalized. It prompted our Lord to utter this curse: ‘Whoever causes one of these little ones who be-

How about Biotech Center in the Visayas?

In mid-2018, the Department of Agriculture unveiled a much-welcomed Project to the Philippine science and technology program – construction of a P302 million Biotechnology Center in Nueva Ecija. The Center is mandated to serve as the hub for effective implementation of technological advancements in the local farming sector.

As a practicing researcher in Biology, the establishment of the Center is a boast to improve the lives of the lowly farmers. Aside from infra-structures such as farm-to-market roads, pre-harvest and post-harvest technologies, research laboratories, experts/researchers/scientists, and processing buildings (for excess farm harvests into value-added products), Filipino farmers direly need Centers, preferably one each in Visayas and Mindanao! There are sufficient number of active Filipino S/T experts to man such Centers who could be fielded in central and southern Philippines. To repeat the sub-title of this column “S & T En- hanced Nations Have Edge”. We have to cut-down on farm products losses!

Mine I, therefore, a strong appeal for the D A leadership and national government headship to include in their food security program by educating farmers on the significance of accepting and implementing laboratory- and field-tested technologies that are ripe for immediate implementation in this predominantly agricultural country. There is need to source out funds to build Biotechnology Centers in the two other geographical division of the country Visayas and Mindanao, both distant from the Imperial Metro Manila!

into criminals. With this, hopefully, children will no longer be used by criminals in their illegal operations. They were just used before because, when caught, they are just set free.

But just the same, concerns for children arise, especially from those who think that children are not capable of doing foolishness and illegal activities, describing the proposal as anti-poor, anti-family, etc., when the global trend is to raise, not lower, the criminal age. Accordingly, as Save the Children has it, it is “not in the best interest of children” as it “will only push them to further discrimination, abuse and eventually into more anti-social behaviour”.

While the intention of the bill is good for the peace and order of our society, further studies ought to be made still. Like how sure are we that with this likely law, criminals will no longer use the children in their criminal activities? How strong are these children physically and mentally to resist manipulators? How knowledgeable are they about the consequences of criminal acts?

Amid this issue of lowering the age of children to as young as nine relative to criminal liabilities, I can’t help but see myself as one of them. Young kids, in their formative years, are too vulnerable and powerless against people’s evil manipulation around them. It’s not the burglar in them that does most of the misdeeds; oftentimes, they are just victims themselves, forced to commit illegal acts out of ignorance, poverty, pressure, and many more.

If children’s role in criminalities is mostly one of victims, then better punish the real criminals, not these victims.

Safer schools ensure children's rights to education and survival- Save the Children Philippines

Save the Children Philippines welcomes partnership with the Department of Education and Prudence Foundation in strengthening safety in schools as millions of children face risk of injury, psychosocial trauma and deaths during disasters and emergencies.

The project-Education Safe from Disasters was launched on January 16, 2019 to be implemented by the Department of Education, in partnership with Save the Children Philippines and Prudence Foundation.

The three year project improves the capacity of learners, teachers, schools staff and officials on disaster preparedness and risk reduction. It also integrates safety and disaster resiliency in the construction and retrofitting of school buildings. The program will be pilot tested in 16 schools division in Metro Manila.

The Philippines ranks third in the 2016 World Risk Index of the most disaster prone countries in the world. Every year, the country is hit by almost all forms of natural and man-made calamities like typhoons, earthquakes, floods, volcanic eruptions, landslides. Lingered armed conflict in Mindanao and parts of Visayas continue to disrupt classes and displace families and children.

Lawyer Albert Muyot, Chief Executive Officer of Save the Children Philippines said safety in schools guarantee children's rights to survival and basic education.

Learners spend five to eight hours in schools during weekdays and their safety and security should be ensured while they are away from parents and guardians.

From 2007 to 2012, a total of 11 Million schoolchildren in the Philippines were affected by major disasters jeopardizing their rights to education and survival.

"Children face the harshest impact of disasters and emergencies, as they miss out on school, suffer injury and worse, deaths," said Muyot. "We welcome the Education Safe from Disasters as part of our comprehensive child-rights based response to the needs of learners before, during and after disasters and emergencies."

Save the Children Philippines has been providing emergency response during disasters by establishing Child Friendly Space (CFS) where displaced children can play and learn and Temporary Learning Space (TLS) where school age children can attend alternative classes.

The organization has provided interventions for thousands of displaced children during typhoon Mangkhut (Ompong) that hit Northern Luzon provinces and armed conflict in Marawi. (PR)

E. Visayas peace body picks private sector members

TACLOBAN CITY -- The Eastern Visayas Regional Peace and Order Council (RPOC) is in the process of selecting private sector representatives to take part in the region's coordinating body tasked to deliberate issues and problems affecting the region's peace and order situation.

During its meeting on Jan.22, RPOC members initially agreed to pick representatives from the women and youth sectors from conflict-stricken areas, communications group, and business sector to sit as new council members.

Samar Governor Sharee Ann Tan, RPOC chairperson, said from among the identified sectors, the Philippine National Police (PNP) and Philippine Army (PA) will recommend representatives for profiling.

They will go through a background investigation by the National Bureau of Investigation and National Intelligence Coordinating Agency to ensure that they have no ties with communist rebels.

"The private sector membership in the council is very welcome to us since most members of RPOC are regional directors of government agencies. They will give a perspective of private individuals directly affected by government policies and conflicts," Tan told reporters.

Under Executive Order No. 773 issued in 2009, the RPOC chairman is directed to appoint at least three representatives of the private sector, upon consultation with council members and upon acquiring appropriate security clearances.

The Eastern Visayas council, which has 40 members, is composed of the region's provincial governors, mayors of the highly urbanized cities, the presidents of mayors' leagues, and regional heads of government agencies.

These agencies are the departments of foreign affairs, national defense, justice, agriculture, agrarian reform, public works and highways, social welfare and development, health, trade and industry, transportation, education, and environment and natural resources, Dangerous Drugs Board and the National Commission on Indigenous Peoples.

Also included are the Office of the Presidential Adviser on the Peace Process, Presidential Management Staff, Philippine Information Agency, Presidential Anti-Graft Commission, Armed Forces of the Philippines, PNP, and National Bureau of Investigation. The Department of the Interior and Local Government serves as the council's secretariat.

The RPOC is tasked to provide forum for dialogue and deliberation of issues and problems affecting the peace and order; recommend measures that will improve or enhance peace and order and public safety; recommend measures to converge and orchestrate internal security operational operations efforts of civil authorities; recommend sanctions against local government officials who are giving material and political support to the communist rebels; and monitor the provision of livelihood and infrastructure development projects in rural and indigenous population areas. (SARWELL Q.MENIANO/PNA)

Intelligence gathering would also be intensified, Chief Supt. Carlos said.

Terror attack is something that the region had experienced in the past.

Last December 8,2016, a bomb explosion hit the town of Hilongos, Leyte which resulted to the injury of 32 people who were watching a boxing tournament at its public plaza.

The said incident was said to have been carried out by the Maute Group, a terror group operating in Mindanao.

The government has been waging war in Mindanao against members of the terror groups like the Abu Sayyaf and Maute groups.

On May 23,2017, the Maute Group attacked Marawi City which resulted to a firefight between the said group and government forces for a five-month armed battle.

The raid has also resulted for President Rodrigo Duterte to declare martial law in entire Mindanao Island.

Comelec junks disqualification case filed against a congressional bet in Leyte's 2nd district

TACLOBAN CITY- The first division of the Commission on Elections (Comelec), based in Intramuros, Manila has denied the petition seeking to nullify the certificate of candidacy (COC) of Lolita Javier who is seeking for a congressional seat in Leyte's second district in this year's midterm elections.

The dismissal of the case was disclosed by Javier herself during a press conference on Saturday (Jan. 26).

"I'm overjoyed because the truth has finally come out. I'd rather not make any comment on who are the people behind this disqualification case," Javier said.

Javier is challenging reelectionist Rep. Henry Ong who, in an earlier interview, denied that he had a hand in the filing of a disqualification case against his opponent.

Ong, who is seeking for a possible second term, said that everybody has the right to seek for an elective post so long as the candidate is qualified under the Comelec rules and regulations.

Also contesting the congressional post are outgoing board member Niccolo Villasin and lawyer Alberto Hidalgo.

The petition against Javier, who is seeking for an elective post for the first time, was filed by Benjamin Batan and Adan Cañega on November 8, 2018 questioning her lack of residency.

They alleged that Javier has detached her residence in Jaro, her birthplace, as she is living with her husband in the town of Javier, also in Leyte.

The congressional candidate is the wife of Mayor Leonardo 'Sandy' Javier of Javier town.

Quoting from the decision, Javier said that the Comelec was not 'persuaded' with the allegation of the petitioners.

The petitioners alleged that Javier committed material misrepresentation when she declared in her certificate of candidacy that she is a resident of Barangay 1, municipality of Jaro for 44 years and two (2) months prior to the 2019 elections while the truth is, she is the resident of the municipality of Javier, which is part of Leyte's fifth congressional district, contrary to what she stated in her certificate.

But the poll body said that Javier maintains her residence in the town of Jaro despite her being the wife of the mayor of the town of Javier and involvement in some activities for the same municipality.

The Comelec added that since Javier was found not to have abandoned her domicile of origin, 'it then follows that she had been truthful in her registration when she indicated in her COC that she is a resident of the municipality of Jaro, Leyte for 44 years and two months prior to the elections on 13 May 2019.'

Javier is challenging reelectionist Rep. Henry Ong who, in an earlier interview, denied that he had a hand in the filing of a disqualification case against his opponent.

Ong, who is seeking for a possible second term, said that everybody has the right to seek for an elective post so long as the candidate is qualified under the Comelec rules and regulations. (RESTITUTO A. CAYUBIT/ ROEL T. AMAZONA)

Ormoc City grandstand to be completed by 1st quarter of CY 2019

The repair of the Ormoc City Grandstand is being fast tracked as the city is to host this year’s Eastern Visayas Regional Athletic Association (EVRAA) Meet on March 3-9, 2019.

ORMOC CITY-As the countdown for the Eastern Visayas Athletic Association 2019 (EVRAA) begins, the Department of Public Works and Highways (DPWH) Leyte 4th District Engineering Office (DEO) makes sure to fast track the ongoing reconstruction of the Grandstand at Ormoc City Central School, thence, DPWH Leyte 4th

DEO, led by District Engineer Lino Francisco C. Gonzalez, together with Assistant District Engineer Irwin L. Antonio and DPWH Leyte 4th Engineers, the team conducted an ocular inspection last January 9, 2019. Currently 52.04% completed, the contractor is conducting a round-the-clock work in order to complete the project on February 2019, just in time for the EVRAA (Eastern Visayas Regional Athletic Association) Meet which will be hosted by Ormoc City this coming March 3-9, 2018. After the July 2017 earthquake, the old Ormoc City Grandstand was damaged and unsafe for use, as such, the National Disaster Risk Reduction and Management Council (NDR-RMC) downloaded funds to the DPWH Leyte 4th DEO for reconstruction of the Ormoc City Grandstand. The reconstruction of the Ormoc city Grandstand amounts to P30,976,738.10 million and comes with facilities such as comfort and dressing rooms This new Ormoc City Grandstand can accommodate at a maximum of 600 persons making it suitable not only for sports events but as well for City festival events. BJMP conducts drug dependency exam to persons deprived of liberty MAASIN CITY- A total of 74 persons deprived of liberty (PDLs) or jail inmates were subjected to a drug dependency examination by the Regional Trial Court Branches in Maasin City. The test is one of the requirements for the approval of plea bargaining application for purposes of early release of these inmates with drug-related cases, said Senior Jail Officer II Sergio Maglines of the Bureau of Jail Management and Penology (BJMP) - Maasin City.

The examinations for PDLs were conducted either at Pintuyan District Hospital, Mayor Alfred Social Action (MASA) Health Service Unit in Tacloban City and SALAG Treatment and Rehabilitation Center facility in Dulag, Leyte. According to Maglines, a plea bargain is an agreement between a defendant and a prosecutor, in which the defendant (inmate) agree to plead guilty in exchange of an agreement by the prosecutor to drop one or more charges, reduce a charge to a less serious offense, or recommend to the judge a specific sentence acceptable to the defense. “As criminal courts and jail facilities become even more crowded, prosecutors and judges feel increased pressure to move cases quickly through the system,”Maglines said. He said criminal trials sometimes took months while guilty pleas can often be arranged in minutes. Also, the outcome of any given trial is usually unpredictable, whereas a plea bargain provides both the prosecution and defense with some control over the result, “hopefully, one that both can live with,” Maglines said. In a related report, SJO2 Fedelita Ilustre disclosed that as of this writing, out of the total inmates examined, eight of them have been released based on the said arrangement. NGCP boosts Leyte - Samar power corridor

NGCP delivers on its commitment to improve the transmission of electricity in the Eastern Visayas region before the year 2018 ends with the completion of Line 2 of the Ormoc-Babatngon 138-kiloVolt (kV) transmission line.

Line 2 of Ormoc-Babatngon 138kV line was successfully energized in December, reinforcing power transmission delivery in the Leyte and Samar provinces.

Before the second circuit was energized, the line was originally only a single circuit. Outages along the line, planned or unplanned, result in a loss of power for the all the Samar provinces, which rely heavily on power supply from other islands. “With the energization of the second circuit, transmission services in the area will now become more reliable and prolonged power interruptions will be minimized or avoided altogether,” said NGCP.

Besides the overhead transmission lines added, the Ormoc and Babatngon substations were also upgraded to serve the increased capacity of the line.

The project, with an ERC-approved project cost of P 697.6 million, gives way to a stronger transmission corridor from geothermal plants and other generating capacities in Leyte to Samar Island.

The Ormoc-Babatngon line serves five customers, particularly the Leyte Electric Cooperative Inc. II (LEYECO II), Samar Electric Cooperative Inc. I and II (SAMELCO I and II),

The energization of Line 2 of the Ormoc-Babatngon 138kV transmission line improves power transmission services of NGCP between the provinces of Leyte and Samar in Eastern Visayas. (NGCP)

Eastern Samar Electric Cooperative Inc. (ESAMELCO), and Northern Samar Electric Cooperative Inc. (NORSAMELCO), which cover parts of Leyte and the provinces of Samar, Eastern Samar, and Northern Samar.

“It is part of NGCP’s commitment to continually upgrade and improve the country’s transmission network, especially with the increasing demand for power year on year. The energization of the second circuit of the Ormoc-Ba-batngon 138kV transmission line will greatly benefit our customers in Eastern Visayas. Our customers can be assured that we are working on more projects to improve our network nationwide and deliver quality services to our people,” NGCP stated.

NGCP is a Filipino-led, privately owned company in charge of operating, maintaining, and developing the country’s power grid, led by majority shareholders Henry Sy, Jr. and Robert Coyiuto, Jr. (PR)
