Dengue fever cases in EV continue to balloon

DENGUE FEVER SURGE. The Department of Health in the region asks local government units and communities to conduct cleanup drive as a way to drive away dengue causing mosquitoes as the region continues to increase its dengue fever cases. Among the measures is to conduct fogging operations specially where there are high cases of dengue fever. (PNA)

PNA AND JOEY A. GABIETA

TACLOBAN CITY- Dengue fever cases in the region continue to balloon with the regional office of the Department of Health(DOH) reporting of 23 deaths out of the 5,577 cases as of July 16.

The fatalities were from Tacloban City with five deaths; Guiuan town, Eastern Samar with four deaths; and one each from the following areas: Quinapondan, General MacArthur, and Hernani, all in Eastern Samar; Baybay City, Buraen, Babatngon, Mahaplag, Merida and Ormoc City, all in Leyte; Kawayan in Biliran; Sogod and Macrohon in Southern Leyte; and the cities in Calbayog and Catbalogan, both in Samar province.

“The increase is unusual since this is the second successive year that cases are high. Cases have been above the usual occurrence beyond the epidemic threshold since the start of the year,” said DOH regional information officer John Paul Roca.

He, however, clarified that there is no dengue outbreak in Eastern Visayas, but the region has been included in the national dengue alert as clustering of cases has been reported in 105 villages according to Roca.

“We already asked village officials in areas with clustered cases to conduct assembly and regular clean-up drive to fight

Red tide takes its toll in mussel-rich Samar town

TACLOBAN CITY -The poverty-stricken coastal town of Jiabong, Samar has been losing millions of pesos since last week as red tide infestation compelled authorities to impose a shellfish ban, affecting the livelihood of over a thousand fishermen.

The Bureau of Fisheries and Aquatic Resources (BFAR) said shellfish ban has been enforced in Jiabong town’s Maqueda Bay since July 12 due to the high presence of red tide toxins in both seawater and shellfish meat.

“The livelihood is really affected, but we cannot compromise public safety since paralytic shellfish poisoning has killed people in Samar in the past. I hope this will end soon as we approach the rainy season,” said BFAR Regional Director Juan Albaladejo.

Carlos happy none of the EV cops are positive of drug use

BRIGADIER GENERAL DIONARDO CARLOS

TACLOBAN CITY-None of the close to 2,000 police personnel from Eastern Visayas turned to be negative of using illegal drugs.

This was disclosed by Brigadier General Dionardo Carlos, police regional director, who said that the police personnel underwent a random drug testing which is part of the police organization's cleansing among their ranks of those who are into illegal drug activities.

The drug testing, which was conducted from January up to last month, involved 1,972 police personnel.

Of this number, 1,080 were assigned at the regional Philippine National Police and different police stations; 763 from its drug enforcement units; 79 from national operational support units; and 50 non-uniformed personnel.

"I am happy with the outcome. It only goes to show that our personnel are worthy of public trust as the result turned out to be negative," Carlos said.

There are 8,549 police personnel in the region.

Carlos said that the random drug testing were done unannounced and conducted in separate dates to really ensure that the subject police personnel could not do something to detoxify and prepare.

The police regional director said that despite of some issues and controversies surrounding on the PNP's crackdown on illegal drugs, they still continue to get support from the public.

"The communities knew that our (anti-drug) campaign benefits them and this campaign also help in controlling our other campaigns (against criminality)," Carlos said.

Carlos had earlier said that he is working closely with local government units across the region to ensure that their campaign on peace and order, to include illegal drug activity, would also get support from them.

The police regional director said that for them to be successful on their campaign, they need to get the support of the local leaders and the members of the communities as well.

DILG Eastern Visayas to orient new mayors

TACLOBAN CITY-Newly-elected mayors will undergo an orientation course on good local governance where they are expected to craft their first 100 days plan and executive agenda, the Department of the Interior and Local Government (DILG) regional office here said.

The three-day comprehensive training slated on the last week of July aims to enhance the competencies of the newly-elected officials “in carrying out their new tasks as leaders in community development while promoting peace and resilience towards community development.”

DILG Eastern Visayas Regional Director Artemio Caneja said the orientation will prioritize newly-elected city and municipal mayors. Another orientation is set for re-elected and returning local chief executives in the region.

Caneja said there are separate orientations for provincial governors and mayors of highly urbanized cities to be handled by the DILG’s Local Government Academy.

“The orientation course is part of the Jumpstarting Local Governance component of the program for newly-elected officials, a continuing intervention of the DILG in its commitment to provide a harmonized and holistic capacity development delivery mechanism for local governments,” Caneja said.

Among the topics to be discussed are duties, responsibilities and accountabilities of elected officials; disaster preparedness protocols for LGUs; the role of leaders in building peaceful, secure and developed communities, and in advancing the anti-illegal drugs strategy; retooled community support program; wielding technology for the enhancement of local governance; and strategic management.

The orientation is centered on the rundown of critical steps of the first 100 days in office of a local chief executive.

After their first 100 days in office, the DILG regional chief said their performance is subject to evaluation and they will undergo training. The topic will depend on the areas where local officials need improvement.

“We call it Sharpening the Saw, a market-driven program where local governments match their requirements with the existing capacity development services and training packages of DILG,” Caneja added.

The orientation program is a pioneering initiative of the DILG, which aims to prepare the newly-elected local officials for their duties and responsibilities as leaders and make them development-oriented local officials who can promote local economic development.

Maasin City’s evacuation center nears completion

MAASIN CITY-The city government of Maasin is now on its way to complete the construction of a permanent evacuation center which is expected to mitigate the possible impact of disaster, the place being a storm surge and flood-prone city.

According to Local Disaster Risk Reduction Management Officer (LDRRMO) II Ryan Roque Antonio Cahambing, the city government of Maasin being led by City Disaster Risk Reduction Management Office (CDRRMO) chair, Mayor Nacional Mercado, now builds the first permanent evacuation center as one of the continuity programs on disaster preparedness.

Cahambing noted that the permanent evacuation center being built in Barangay Rizal is sourced from the city’s 20 percent economic development fund.

“It is now at 70 percent completion,” Ca-hambing said during the PIA Kapihan program recently.

“This is one of the continuing programs of Mayor Nacional Mercado on disaster preparedness,” he added.

“The continuous use of schools as evacuation centers where people seek safer refuge in times of disasters has been affecting the operation of classes in Maasin City, thus the need for fixed evacuation centers to lead people to even before a strong typhoon hit the place,” he quoted a message from Mayor Mercado.

He added that Mayor Mercado also requested the engineering office to procure foldable tents/cubicles that will serve as small rooms of families that will be evacuated in the center.

Cahambing further quoted Mayor Mercado saying that, should there be no occupant after a disaster, “the evacuation center can be temporarily used as a regular office for different departments that are related to disaster or storage rooms for disaster equipment.”

DOH-8 reminds public anew to follow 4S strategy as dengue cases rise

PALO, Leyte- With the increasing number of dengue cases in Eastern Visayas, the Department of Health in Region 8 (DOH-8) has reminded again the public to follow the 4S strategy.

Regional Director Minerva Molon of DOH-Region 8 revealed that as of July 11, there are already 4,809 dengue cases in the region with 19 deaths.

4S stands for Search and destroy mosquito breeding sites; employ Self-protection measures such as wearing of long pants and long-sleeved shirts and daily use of mosquito repellent; Seek early consultation; and Support fogging/spraying only in hotspot areas where increase in cases is registered for two consecutive weeks to prevent an impending outbreak.

DOH-8 is providing Dengue Rapid Test Kit to local health units for free to detect cases at an early stage and provide appropriate management and treatment.

Meanwhile, Health Secretary Francisco Duque III in a press statement has appealed to the general public to take the 4S strategy by heart stressing the importance of prevention.

“The rains have come and it only takes about two weeks for mosquitoes to breed and fully mature into dengue-causing mosquitoes,” Duque said.

Listen to the SONA

There is no doubt that President Rodrigo Roa Duterte is the first President the country ever had who displays no pretenses. He is open, and transparent and free to express his thoughts even personal feelings, yes no pretenses.

He fears no one, it appears. He has even openly criticized powerful nations like the USA. He has proven an impressive strong will on issues that he feels unfair about him and the country. He has withdrawn membership at the International Criminal Court.

He blocked the move of UN Human Rights Commission to come to our country to investigate reported human rights violations in the anti-drug campaign. With all of these we still have to await for the next few years about our position in the international communities.

The President will deliver his 4th State of the Nation Address (SONA) on Monday, July 22. There will certainly be surprises contained in that speech which we hope will be acceptable to his constituents. We encourage therefore everyone to listen to this SONA of President Duterte.

Observer

ALVIN GZ. ARPON

Why rallies/ demonstration during SONA?

The State of the Nation Address (SONA) is one of the regular schedules of a President of the President which he does once a year during his incumbency, performing a significant official function as the country's Chief Executive.

He delivers the message before a joint session in Congress and the Senate on the first day of session for the year. It is attended by all top officials of the national government, some LGU officials especially in Metro Manila, foreign dignitaries like ambassadors even religious leaders. The SONA is usually delivered usually after a year from the time the President assumed office. He informs them to provide the legal statute to support what is needed for his plans, programs, projects and ideas for the next year under his leadership.

-oOo-

Filipino citizens are encouraged to listen the President's SONA, through media outlets in their house, or even in public places on television sets covering the event.

-oOo-

It is quite disturbing to our senses when hundreds of people participate in rallies and demonstrations while the SONA is being delivered. Of course they express their sentiments, their complaints about some government policies. Yes, every citizen is entitled to such privilege. But why do it simultaneously with the SONA delivery. Why can they not do it after the SONA. Or why not do it weeks before the scheduled SONA, so the President may include their grievances while still preparing SONA?

What else ails Waray writing?

Since the time I wrote an academic paper titled What Ails Writing in Waray which saw print in a journal of Eastern Visayas State University (EVSU), there have been lots of developments concerning Waray writing. I pointed out in this paper that there is dearth of fiction in Waray literature, which has somehow been remedied now with the publication of additional narratives.

My own works alone had already yielded two books: Kuraramag (2011) and Tabsik hin Kagamhanan (2015), the former being a collection of my Waray short stories, and the latter being an extended fiction, or novel. These were supposed to be my initial contributions to Waray literature, particularly to its meager fictional creations, hoping that I could add some more.

All over Leyte and Samar, among the Waray-speaking areas, new writers are emerging, some of them trying their hands at fiction writing, thus contributing to this fictional dearth. Most of them are products of the Lamiraw Creative Writing Workshops based in Calbayog City. Its founders include prof. Merlie Alunan, whose UP-based creative writing program before called Viswrite had at first produced contemporary writers, myself included. But this was not the only creative writing workshop I had attended. I also made it the 37th UP National Writing Workshop and many others.

What might explain the fictional scarcity in Waray literature is the former preoccupation with poetry of many Waray writers. Most creative writing workshops that produced these writers before had been rather zeroed in on poetry, the panellists being mostly poets. Consequently, the creative outputs were largely poetry as well, obviously for reasons that poems are easier to compose, and do not consume much time.

Writing workshops may have been producing budding writers of late, but these fellows are faced with another obstacle—the very limited publication outlets for their works. The book anthologies that Prof. Alunan is patiently editing are should have appropriate human devices to keep us on the spiritual and supernatural track and not get swallowed up by merely mundane considerations.

For example, we can consider giving some spiritual meaning to objects we usually see in the streets. Like whenever we see a car, we can choose to say “Thank you, God, for this means of convenience,” instead of just looking at its brand, its color and shape, its beauty or its lack of it.

And whenever we see billboards, we either say “Thank, God,” or “Praise, God,” or “Sorry, Lord,” depending on whether the billboard is good or not so good. Same whenever we see buildings and the many people around.

We really should relate everything to God. That should be the first consideration before we start assessing the human and temporal value these things can have. Doing this should be like an instinct in us.

And in our work, we should also be quick to relate things to God, otherwise we can get carried away by merely earthly considerations, concerned only about the technicalities and failing to relate it to our proper ultimate goal.

Manny Pacquiao

Sen. Manny Pacquiao will be fighting this Sunday (July 21) for the WBA World Welterweight title against Keith Thurman of USA.

Manny is not happy on Keith Thurman’s trash talking boasting of crucifying, Pacquiao and sending him into retirement. But he’s not losing focus on Thurman’s braggadocio, he will fight a smart fight and stick with the game plans to win the fight.

Thurman is a dangerous opponent as he is young, tall and strong. But Manny has the speed, power and experience on his side. Thurman at 30 has power in his left hand and overhand right. The undefeated American boasts a record of 29-0 with 22 knockouts but 5 of his last 6 outings want the distance.

A Team Pacquiao insider said the Filipin ring icon is expecting a total of 600 guests that would require 120 rooms at the MGM Grand Hotel and Casino in Las Vegas, Nevada.

Manny, the only boxer to win world titles in 8 weight divisions capped his training in Los Angeles and has indicated his readiness for summer’s biggest boxing event in Las Vegas.

Pacquiao at 40 wants to prove that he can still dominate the spot as much as he did a decade ago. Many people, are doubting his capability at the age of 40 where most boxers already retire.

Manny still has the speed, power and style that he had years ago but for how long? He cannot defeat the law of nature, the law of diminishing return. He cannot change the clock of time. Time will come that he is not the same Manny Pacquiao that he is.

He should retire at this age that he is still on top of the world. As the saying goes, in victory the world smiles with you and in defeat, you cry alone.

My prediction is, Manny will win by knockout in 9th round, but for how long? You have all the wealth, fame and glory in this world, there is nothing more you can ask. Concentrate on your political career, this is now the time to have a paradigm shift.

We need human devices

IN our relationship with God and with others, we need these human devices that would help us keep a lively awareness of our duties towards them and especially of our need to relate everything to God.

Yes, we have to use first the spiritual and supernatural means to keep that relationship going. They have priority always. But for these spiritual and supernatural means, like prayer, sacrifice, sacraments, etc., to be truly effective, we need those practical human devices also.

Without the latter, the former would be floating on air. The spiritual and supernatural means would remain in the world of theories and intentions. But of course, without the former, the human means can only mean nothing. They would be spiritless and vulnerable to be taken advantage of by unwelcome forces. These two means should go together.

The human means can be anything that we can see, touch, hear or feel, to which we attach some special spiritual and supernatural meaning. Of course, we can start with having some crucifixes, images of God, Christ, saints and angels in the places where we usually find ourselves, like our bedroom, office, car, etc. They can easily elicit in us some spiritual and supernatural considerations every time we see, touch or kiss them.

But we have to be more inventive when it comes to all the other places and situations that we can be in. While in the street, for example, as we drive or walk or do some exercise, we

Region 8 have plants against antibiotic-resistant bacteria

Recent reports by University of the Philippines-Baguió (UP-B), researchers confirm the medicinal properties of at least four plant species found in the Cordillera Administrative Region (CAR). These are Nepenthes alata or “pitcher plant”, Bauhinia purpurea or “butterfly plant”, Ficus septica or “bilig” (Ilokano), and Melastoma malabathricum or “bakgi” (Ilokano).

The four plant species, believed indigenous in CAR, were “tested for medicinal properties by introducing them to pathogen Pseudomonas aeruginosa, a type of bacteria that has a rapid ability to develop resistance to multiple classes of antibiotics.” The UP-B researchers, in a scientific paper submitted to the Indian Journal of Traditional Knowledge published early this year, mentioned “their bioactive compounds can be used as an alternative to the commercially available antibiotics since they can significantly control the growth of the multi-resistant P. aeruginosa.” The researchers’ laboratory findings are good for per-

The technicalities of our work should not be a problem or an obstacle in our relationship with God and with others. In fact, they can and should be converted into means and occasions to relate us to God, either praising God or thanking him or expiating for sins in general or asking for some favor from him.

It would truly be helpful if we are clear about what spiritual and supernatural considerations we can give to each technicality involved in our work. Our work, whatever it is, should somehow be a form of prayer since we use it to relate ourselves to God.

We really would have to pause and study things before we can make an appropriate plan or strategy to actualize this ideal of using human devices in our work. Whether our work is easy or hard, is completed or not, is something routine or involves something new and unfamiliar, we should know how to relate it to God or we should somehow see God in it.

In this way, the stress and tiredness that our work usually causes would not take us away from God but would rather strengthen our union with him, since it is in him that we can find our true rest. (cfr. Mt 11,28)

Amidst increasing of HIV-AIDS cases

Leyte province establishes P19 million HIV center

PALO, Leyte – The province of Leyte is now in the process of establishing a center for human immunodeficiency virus (HIV) in response to the growing number of HIV patients in the province, a report from the Leyte Provincial Health Office, based here, said.

Dr. Edgardo Daya, provincial health officer I, told Leyte Samar Daily Express in an interview that the center which is a project of Governor Leopoldo Dominico Petilla has a budget of P19 million.

Daya said that in the series of meetings with Gov. Petilla and the health officials of the province, one of the priorities agreed upon was the establishment of HIV center which is both preventive/promotive and curative.

“2019 marks the year for the province to respond to the HIV alarming status, thus with Gov. Petilla, we had a series of meetings and one of the programs, projects and activities is the establishment of HIV center – both preventive/promotive and curative,” Dr. Daya said.

Daya added that with this project, the province of Leyte will answer to the medical needs of the HIV patients and in curing their illness.

The health official reported that with the increasing incidence of HIV/AIDS (Acquired immunodeficiency syndrome (AIDS) cases in the region, the Epidemiology Bureau of the Department of Health regional office 8, based in this town has recorded 844 cases in Eastern Visayas as of March 2019.

The HIV/AIDS data for Eastern Visayas indicate that the province of Leyte (to including Ormoc City with 37 cases and Tacloban City – 138 cases) has 451 cases or 53.4% of the total 844 patients or cases of the region.

On the other hand, Southern Leyte has 91 cases or 10.7% of the total patients in the region.

Eastern Samar has 64 cases or 7.6%; Northern Samar has 72 cases or 8.5%; (Western) Samar has 127 cases recorded or 15% while Biliran has 39 cases or 4.6%

It was learned from Google that the “acquired immunodeficiency syndrome (AIDS) is a chronic, potentially life-threatening condition caused by the human immunodeficiency virus (HIV). By damaging your immune system, HIV interferes with your body’s ability to fight the organisms that cause disease. HIV is a sexually transmitted infection.”

“This project will also ease the transport of agricultural products from the locality to the public markets and boost the economic activities in the region,” he added.

A total P133.6 million will be spent for the reconstruction of pavement, drainage structures and asphalt overlay.

Another P137.1 million will also be allocated for the off-carriageway improvement which includes paving of shoulders and drainage structures.

Ayala interns pitch innovations to help improve Filipino lives

Taguig, Philippines – July 12, 2019 Four interns were proclaimed the Grand Champions at the first ever Ayala Group Interns’ Innovation League (AGI2LE), the culminating event at the 11th Ayala Group Summer Internship Program (AGSIP).

The awarding ceremony, which took place at the Globe Auditorium, Maybank Performing Arts Theater in Bonifacio Global City, was attended by 120 Ayala interns and Ayala executives.

The winning team named “Osená” was comprised of Maria Betina Ramos (ADMU), Alexander Go Tian (UP), Joe Diether Cabelin (UP), and Jose Karlo Pascual (UA&P). They pitched “Paglago”, a B2B platform that aims to deliver fresh produce efficiently and sustainably from Luzon farmers to Manila kitchens. Team Osená won P50,000, an immersion trip to the headquarters of an Ayala technology partner company, and job offers from the Ayala group.

In his opening address to the interns, Ayala’s Chief Human Resource Officer and Group Head of Corporate Resources John Philip S. Orbeta said, “We at the Ayala group promised to give you an internship experience unlike any other—immersive, engaging, and challenging. After all, this is the Ayala way. For 185 years, our company has aspired to be a partner in nation building. Today, we continue to align our business objectives towards these aspirations. I believe this is what makes our internship program unique. We had no doubt that as the best in your class, you would not only be able to handle the difficulties of performing real work during your internship, but that you would also be able to explore innovative ideas that could make a difference to society. We are certainly proud that all of you have stepped up and delivered.”

At the first ever Ayala Group Interns’ Innovation League last July 12, 2019, winners (in photo L-R) Jose Karlo Pascual (University of Asia and the Pacific), Maria Betina Ramos (Ateneo de Manila University), Alexander Go Tian (University of the Philippines), and Joe Diether Cabelin (University of the Philippines) from Team Osená pitched “Paglago”, a B2B farm-to-kitchen platform that promotes sustainable practices. The team won P50,000, an immersion trip to the headquarters of an Ayala technology partner company, and job offers from the Ayala group. Ayala’s Chief Human Resource Officer and Group Head of Corporate Resources John Philip S. Orbeta noted there was no doubt that the program’s 120 interns would “be able to explore innovative ideas that could make a difference to society.” On looking to the emerging workforce to help keep a 185-year-old company relevant, Ayala Chairman & CEO Jaime Augusto Zobel de Ayala said, “The Ayala of today is very different from the one that existed a decade or two ago... Who better to look for reinvention than from people your age?”

Over the course of their six-week AGSIP engagement, the interns, representing the top 15% of the academic achievers in some of the country’s best universities, developed and pitched ideas to answer the brief of providing a sustainable solution that would improve the quality of life of an underserved market. Six out of 27 teams moved on to the final judging by a panel of Ayala executives, namely Toti Bengzon (Ayala Land Chief Financial Officer), Gabby Blaza (AC Industrials Strategy and Business Development Group Head), Jose Rene D. Almendras (Ayala Group Head of Public Affairs and AC Infrastructure President & CEO), Rodell Garcia (Manila Water Chief Technology Adviser), Vince Tobias (Ayala Head of Innovation), and the aforementioned John Philip S. Orbeta.

“The Ayala of today is very different from the one that existed a decade or two ago,” said Ayala Chairman and CEO Jaime Augusto Zobel de Ayala, who dropped by to congratulate the interns. “We need to reinvent ourselves to stay relevant among our customers and the communities we serve.

And who better to look for reinvention than from people your age?”

upland/mountain barangays of Burauen, Leyte (M. malabathricum and N. alata) or even planted in ornamental gardens or landscaping purposes (B. purpurea and F. septica). Indeed, like in the terrestrial plants mentioned in a previous column as source of coloring compounds for food and textile, the four plants mentioned above discovered and reported for their anti-bacterial properties could have been easily studied as science undergraduate thesis problem/topic mainly because the raw materials are readily available.

This is actually a challenge to our science teachers to look around and consider/suggest as undergraduate-thesis problems/topics, specifically knowing the region’s rich undocumented terrestrial vegetation.

World Population Day in EV

NAVAL, Biliran- The Philippines marked World Population Day on July 11: Half of the journey made since the 1994 Cairo Population and Development Meeting.

However, for Eastern Visayas, the celebration was marked on July 16, 2019, this town.

The World Population Day Program in Eastern Visayas gathered members of the Naval Provincial Implementation Team (PIT) of the Responsible Parenthood and Reproductive Health Law, local officials, academe, public safety sector, media and family planning acceptors.

Held at Lothesa Farm, this town, the World Population Day celebration also had Popcom Executive Director, Usec. Juan Antonio Perez III as the keynote speaker.

In his address, Perez provided the highlights of the Philippine Report of the 25 years of the ICPD implementation, emphasizing that there remains many challenges to be overcome in order to achieve an ideal demography where all sectors of the society can most benefit from the government and all its resources.

He also highlighted that though the government, through its population program is pushing for an ideal number of children per woman of reproductive age, “informed choice and volunteerism” among family planning acceptors is still strongly enforced.

World Population Day celebration, for one, pays great attention towards the reproductive health problems of the community people as it is the leading cause of the ill health as well as the death of the pregnant women worldwide.

The campaign of the World Population Day every year increases the knowledge and skills of the people worldwide towards their reproductive health and family planning.

Through this awareness celebration, people are encouraged to take part in the event to know about population issues like importance of family planning towards the increasing population, gender equality, maternal and baby health, poverty, human rights, right to health, sexuality education, use of contraceptives and safety measures like condoms, reproductive health, adolescent pregnancy, girl child education, child marriage, sexually transmitted infections, etc.

Following the World Population Day celebration, the Popcom regional office likewise provided family planning caravan of services to identified women of reproductive age who have unmet need.

The women came from different municipalities of Biliran province and villages of Naval town who went through a Responsible Parenthood and Family Planning (RFPF) class before they were provided with their desired family planning methods.

Available FP methods on hand include pills, injectables, sub-dermal implants and IUD, as well as condoms for the males.

This year’s World Population Day celebration carried the theme, “25 Years of the ICPD,” which looks back at the country’s gains and challenges since the 1994 International Conference on Population and Development (ICPD) in Cairo, Egypt.

Data from the Philippine Statistics Authority (PSA) indicate that the country’s population continues to increase in numbers, with approximately three babies being born per minute.

The total population of the country is now projected at 108 million by the end of 2019 with an annual growth rate of 1.7%. Of the total population, around 4.4 million comprise the Eastern Visayas region.

Popcom vows to continue on its journey to reproductive health, including voluntary family planning and safe pregnancy; women empowerment and gender equality, in order to achieve the goals set in the international agreement in the ICPD.

Eastern Visayas RDC launches search for private sector reps

TACLOBAN CITY- The Regional Development Council (RDC) is now in the process of selecting 15 private sector representatives (PSRs) that will take part in the region’s highest policy-making body’s activities until 2022.

National Economic Development Authority (NEDA) Regional Director Meylene Rosales, RDC vice-chairperson, has invited private sector organizations (PSOs) in the region to participate in the selection process.

For the term 2019 to 2022, the council needs representatives from labor; agriculture and fishery; tourism; business, agribusiness, manufacturing, and processing; environment; women; youth and children.

Other sectors are persons with special concerns; finance; mass media; infrastructure and utilities; culture, arts and faith; academe, and science and technology, micro small and medium enterprises and services; and poor.

Rosales said on Wednesday that PSOs qualified to participate in the selection of RDC PSRs must be Filipino-owned, duly recognized by the Securities and Exchange Commission or any government agency that registers organizations and associations for bestowing legal personality, and must have conducted socio-economic activities for at least three years from the date of registration in the region.

“PSR nominees must be Filipinos, of legal age, not otherwise disqualified by law, with a proven track record in socio-economic development in the region, and must be willing and be able to participate in all RDC activities,” Rosales said in a phone interview.

A nominee must not hold any government position, whether appointive or elective and must not receive any remuneration from the government while serving in RDC.

Aside from attending RDC meetings, PSRs are tasked to join field monitoring visits, problem-solving sessions, propose their positions for regional development, review and endorse matters pertaining to their respective sectors, participate in decision-making and economic plans formulation, establish ties with their local counterparts, promote government-private development initiatives, and submit annual accomplishment report.

The selection guidelines, together with the forms, may be downloaded at nro8.neda.gov.ph. For inquiries, the public is encouraged to get in touch with the NEDA regional office in Palo, Leyte at (053) 323-2975 local 116 or email at nro8@neda.gov.ph.

Section 14 of Executive Order 325 fixes the term of office of the RDC Chairman, Co-Chairman and PSRs at three years, to coincide with the regular term of elected officials. Only the PSRs undergo a selection process.

The composition of RDC includes 23 heads of national government agencies, 21 local chief executives, and 15 from the private sector.

From the local government units, RDC members are provincial governors, city mayors, mayors of towns designated as provincial capitals, provincial presidents of mayor’s league, and the mayor of a designated regional center.

The President appoints an RDC chairman and co-chairman from local government units and private sector every after three years, coinciding with the term of local elective officials.

their nectar.

The bee sanctuary, which started its operation three years ago and is located beside Tunga River, the town’s major tributary, has been providing livelihood to housewives living near the farm as well as a venue for environmental conservation.

Ayuste said that it was not a walk in the park when he started the bee farm because of people’s negative notion on bees.

To solve this problem, he educated the residents living near the farm of the importance of bees to the environment and to our eco-system and encouraged them to keep bees not only for honey, but for pollination of plants.

“Bees are very good in fighting global warming because 80 percent of the trees and plants because of bees. Our tree planting activities are nothing without bees that our pollinators,” Ayuste said.

The farm is using stingless bees that are endemic to the region like the ‘Ki-wot’ and Ligwan.’

Stingless bees are about the size of an ant yet have all the features of honeybees except that they do not have a sting.

Typically, these stingless bees make their colonies in old bamboos and are frequently found around bamboos or wooden structures.

“Because of their size, they are very small. They can go to any part of the flower to get nectar unlike the regular honeybees that are big,” Ayuste said.

Ayuste added that as part of his advocacy is to improve the living condition of his neighbors, readengue,” he told the Philippine News Agency.

The health department asked city and town mayors to organize clean-up campaigns focusing on the destruction of mosquito breeding places in their areas, and conduct community assembly in areas with dengue cases.

Here in Tacloban City, since the start of the year until July 13, its city health office reported of 407 cases with five deaths, the latest was a six-year old girl who died on July 12.

son why at least 22 housewives are provided with livelihood by the bee farm.

The farm gets the supply of native chickens and vegetables while others are employed in the farm.

Ayuste said that since they open in October 2017, aside from local and foreign tourists that flock to the farm to relax, eat and learn about beekeeping, some are also visiting them to use the farm as venue for review like those who are taking board exams.

The calmness and serenity of the farm is a perfect place for students who don’t want to be bothered by loud noises while studying before taking exams, according to Ayuste.

Ayuste added that aside from serving local foods to tourists, they also encourage them to talk with each other while they are inside the farm and even only during their stay, forget to use gadgets like cellular phones.

Beengo Farm has been tapped by the Agricultural Training Institute (ATI) in Eastern Visayas as a learning site which provides trainings on basic beekeeping.

They also adopted schools, wherein they donate colonies for beekeeping to educate the students.

Ayuste shared that Beengo Farm is currently developing a nature-themed library for the farmers’ children to have access to quality books which mostly are donated by his friends.

He added that to ensure the sustainability of income of the family working in the farm and other residents in the community, they are doing a tree-planting program wherein fruit bearing trees are planted along the road leading to the community.

For those who wanted to visit Beengo Farm and be served with local foods, Ayuste said that visitors should make a prior reservation for them to have enough time to prepare their foods.

current cases of dengue fever is more than double compared to last year of the same period.

Last year, there were only about 200 cases with two deaths.

Thus, he said, they have intensified their campaign to clean breeding areas of mosquitoes that causes dengue and daily fogging operations, especially in the villages where there are clustering of cases or there are two dengue fever cases within 200 radius.

Opinion said that they are planning to procure three more fogging machines to add its current two machines to ensure that all of the city’s 128 villages could be cleared of the dengue fever causing mosquitoes.

He advised the parents to have immediate consultation if their children are experiencing fever to avoid getting the ailment.

“Don’t self-medicate. Seek immediate consultation even only on first day of fever, any fever, for dengue examination,” Opinion said.

He also encouraged the community to practice the “4S”: search and destroy mosquito breeding places; seek early consultation; self-protection and support fogging or spraying in hot spot areas.

Nutrition Month highlights value of physical activity for better health

BORONGAN CITY- As the nation celebrates the National Nutrition Month this July, the Provincial Nutrition Action Office (PNAO) in Eastern Samar urged adults to add more physical exercise to their usual house chores to be fit.

Sallie Jabinal, provincial nutrition action officer, urged the media to help them spread the word about eating the right food, with the right amount and being active.

“The emphasis is on physical activity,” she said during the Kapihan at PIA on Thursday, July 4.

This year’s theme is “Kumain ng wasto at maging aktibo...push natin ‘to!” (Eat healthy and do physical activity...let’s push this!)

Jabinal said the 2019 Nutrition Month theme aims to promote consumption of healthy food, increase physical activity and reduce sedentary lifestyle.

Health and nutrition advocates advise the public to have at least a one-hour or more physical activity daily, reduce screen time to two hours or less each day and eat the three food groups.

Jabinal added that physical activity reduces see Nutrition /page 18 ...

The fifth class town is known as the region’s top producer of green mussel producing about 200 sacks of green mussels daily with each sack traded at P1,500.

The town has been losing P300,000 daily or over P2 million since July 12.

Jiabong serves as a central trading center from where mussels are shipped to Metro Manila, Davao City, Bicol, Cebu City and other parts of the country.

If an area is red tide positive, the fisheries bureau prohibits the public from eating, harvesting, marketing, and buying bivalve marine products and Acetes sp. (small crustaceans) from it until such time that the toxicity level has gone down below the regulatory level.

For green mussel farmer Jaime Godin, 60, the red tide bloom in Jiabong town means hunger.

In an earlier interview, Godin, a father of six, said life is hard every time their town is hit by the toxic red tide with his family losing up to P30,000 every harvest season. The worst algal bloom was in August 2017 that lasted for six months, according to him.

He shared that if there is a shellfish ban, people don’t buy any type of seafood. “Nobody wants to extend a loan to us because they are aware that we have no money to pay them back.”

Godin is just one of the 1,130 fishermen in this town dependent on green mussel, locally known as “tahong”.

The first red tide phenomenon in the country was recorded in Samar on June 21, 1983, that killed 21 people and hospitalized nearly 300 people.

Since then, red tide recurrence has been episodic, resulting in sudden economic losses, and sometimes leading to unexpected loss of lives.

Red tide is a term used to describe a phenomenon where the water is discolored by high algal biomass or the concentration of algae. The discoloration may not necessarily be red in color, but it may also appear yellow, brown, green, blue or milky, depending on the organisms involved.

Aside from Maqueda Bay, also tagged as red tide positive are San Pedro Bay in Basey and Marabut towns, Silanga Bay in Catbalogan City, Irong-Irong Bay in Catbalogan City, and Cambatutay Bay in Taranngnan town.

too limited they cannot accommodate all the literary outputs these new and eager writers produce. There are no magazines and journals in Waray that might cater to these literary productions either. We keep on encouraging writers to produce more and more works, yet come harvest time, their works have nowhere to see print. Local publishers, being profit-oriented, won’t publish their works without sure market.

Personally, I’ve been encouraging writers to self-publish. This, however, entails much capital in that printing costs are rather high. Moreover, the writer will have to man the marketing and circulation aspects. But as regards other concerns, like the critical notion on the inferiority of self-published books, these can be dismissed as nothing but envy and arrogance so long as the writer can claim expertise of what he wrote. I know these because the National Library itself and the National Book Development Board (NBDB) are both encouraging self-publishing as an antidote for our snail-paced book productions in the Philippines.

To beat this culprit, Waray writers might as well start publishing their own works now. I have done it already, and it works. If the absence of publication outlets further ails Waray writing, then this is its answer now.
