2nd PUI in EV to be declared as negative of the nCov

DOH discharges woman after tests turn negative

JOEY A. GABIETA, LIZBETH ANN A. ABELLA

TACLOBAN CITY- A 30-year old woman who was earlier suspected to have the 2019 novel coronavirus (2019nCov) was released from her confinement at the hospital on Wednesday(Feb.5).

This was disclosed by John Paul Roca, regional health information officer, who said that the woman, who is from Leyte province, was discharged from a referral hospital at around 5 pm.

"She was found to be negative of the 2019nCov. She was cleared (from the virus) and was released at 5 pm on Wednesday," Roca said.

This made her the second nCov suspect from the region to have been tested negative of the virus. The first was the 36-year old American national who was released on Feb.1.

The now virus-free woman had a history of travel to Macau and Hong Kong, where there are confirmed nCov cases with one fatality already, and returned to Leyte on Jan.21.

She was only confined at the referral hospital just for five days.

With the discharged of the two, the region has now only five persons under investigation (PUIs) involving a 26-year old mother with his seven-months old baby boy and her sister-in-law. The three travelled to Macau, a Chinese territory which has also confirmed nCov cases, on December 23,

DOH: Be careful in buying face masks from street vendors

TACLOBAN CITY - The regional office of the Department of Health (DOH) is not recommending for the public to buy or patronize surgical face masks that are sold in the streets amid the raging scare of 2019 novel corona virus (2019 nCov).

Regional Director Minerva Molon said that these face masks may be contaminated if they are sold without proper packaging, thus, safety is not guaranteed.

"Face masks that are sold on the streets may be prone to contaminants making them unsafe for using," she said.

"In the absence of surgical masks, they may use face masks made from cloth but they have to put a tissue paper on it. Make sure to replace the tissue paper when it get wet and dispose it properly," Molon added.

Leyte Gov. Petilla named as RDC chairman by Pres. Duterte

TACLOBAN CITY - President Rodrigo Duterte named Leyte Governor Leopoldo Dominico Petilla as the chairman of the Regional Development Council (RDC).

The President also named veteran broadcast journalist Luisita 'Louie' Quebec as Petilla's vice chairman.

This will be the second time that the outgoing Leyte governor to chair the RDC, which serves as the regional body which sets the programs and projects of the region.

Petilla first served as RDC-8 chairman in 2013 until 2016, his first term as governor of the province.

During his message after he was nominated for the chairmanship along with Tacloban City Mayor Alfred Romualdez, Gov. Petilla vowed to push for more development initiatives for the region, particularly on Samar

As the scare on the coronavirus rages, people scamper to buy face masks as a defense against the deadly virus. However, the Department of Health is dissuading the public not to buy face masks peddle on the streets as they could have contaminants that could only comprise one's health condition. Mayor Romualdez gives mandate to village officials on obstruction clearing TACLOBAN CITY-The city government under Mayor Alfred S. Romualdez is set to turn over the responsibility to continue the maintenance and sustainability of cleared roads to the 138 barangays after last year's deadline of the presidential directive to clear roads from illegal structures and obstructions.

In a meeting held Wednesday, February 5, with the City Task Force, City DILG Director Atty. Darwin Bibar said that this is in compliance with the advisory issued by DILG Secretary Eduardo Año dated January 8, 2020 that task barangays to continue and take the lead in the implementation of the road clearing efforts in their respective jurisdictions.

As to the inventory report presented by the City Engineer's Office, about 75 percent of the roads in Tacloban City are cleared.

Meantime, the City DILG is set to conduct a meeting on February 12 to the barangay chairpersons at the Rizal Park to further discuss the said matter.

DENR R8 to strengthen enforcement of environmental laws

TACLOBAN CITY-The Department of Environment and Natural Resources (DENR) in Region 8 vows to intensify enforcement of environmental laws in 2020.

"An indicator of effective enforcement of environmental laws should lead to the conviction of their violators." Regional Executive Director Tirso P. Parian stressed.

DENR 8 Enforcement Division Chief Forester Allen Cebuano, adds, "This year, we want to go beyond administrative adjudication. We want to further deter these violators by letting them know that we are serious in getting them penalized by the courts if they do not stop from committing threats against the environment."

Cebuano further said that there is a need to support an aggressive enforcement of forest laws by well-equipped and competent forest officers, who are assisted by communities, stakeholders, and a police force.

"Significant figures would prove that joint operations with the police force often result to the offender's detention, criminal prose-

Due to reported continued operation of illegal drug trade PDEA sets to review drug-free status of EV's 3 cities and 64 towns

TACLOBAN CITY- Not really drug-free after all.

No less than the regional director of the Philippine Drug Enforcement Agency (PDEA) has declared that areas that have earlier been declared as drug-free are not actually totally free from existence of the illegal drug activities.

PDEA Regional Director Emerson Rosales made this disclosure on Wednesday (Feb.5) during the 'Panginsayod,' a weekly media conference spearheaded by the Philippine Information Agency (PIA-8).

Rosales admitted that illegal drug activities and the emerging of what he called 'illegal drug personalities' continue to operate and proliferate on areas earlier declared as drug-free.

Thus, defeating the declaration, he said.

"We can measure the success of the drug war if the area is declared as (really) drug-free," Rosales stressed.

Among these areas earlier declared as drug-free were three cities and 64 towns here in the region.

Among the municipalities which are in danger of losing their drug-free status are the 23 towns in Leyte; 11 in Northern Samar; 10 in Samar; eight in Biliran; seven in Southern Leyte; and five in Samar.

Rosales said that a regional oversight committee with the PDEA acting as the chair would be formed which will conduct a review on the status of these areas.

And if the body would found sufficient evidence that illegal drug trade continue to flourish on these areas, their status as drug-free would be taken away from them, Rosales said.

Aside from PDEA, the other government agencies that are included on the regional oversight committee are the Philippine National Police (PNP), Department of Interior and Local Government (DILG), Department of Health (DOH), and the local government unit concerned.

The major factor for these local government units to potentially lose their drug-free status is the entry or presence of drug personalities who are actively doing their illegal drug trade.

cution, and conviction. We made it possible in 2019 to bring to court these violators through our linkage with other enforcement units such as the PNP and Philippine Army. We hope to intensify the enforcement of environmental laws this year," added Cebuano.

Looking back at the major accomplishments of DENR 8 in environmental law enforcement in 2019, reports revealed that on January 9, 2019, the Regional Office Enforcement Division Team, through a joint operation with the Philippine Army and PNP Mobile Force stationed at San Isidro Northern Samar, apprehended 17 pieces boat keels and 1,736 pieces of lumber with equivalent volume of 28,930 board feet.

A follow-up operation in the same area on March 3-5, 2019 resulted to another apprehension of lumber with an equivalent volume of 37,470 board feet. The total estimated value of the lumbers apprehended was pegged at P3,320,00 at P50 per board foot.

Another joint operation with the 805th Philippine National Police (PNP) Regional Mobile Force on July 10 resulted to the apprehension of 17 persons in the act of gathering agarwood in the forestland of New Taligue, Abuyog Leyte.

Also found and apprehended in their possession were 2 units chainsaw, 10 axes, 8 long-bladed weapons, and a .38 caliber revolver with 5 live ammunition. A criminal complaint was filed against these persons with the assistance of CENRO Baybay for violation of Section 77 of Presidential Decree (PD) 705.

"We want to really be successful in the implementation of our environmental protection programs. This could only be attained when incidents of environmental violation will be lessened if not totally controlled," RED Parian says. (PR)

As 2019 nCov continue to ravage, DOT-8 remain confident tourism sector in EV could survive

TACLOBAN CITY – The impact of the 2019 novel corona virus (2019 nCov) to the regional tourism industry would only be minimal.

This was disclosed by Karena Rosa Tiopes, regional director of the Department of Tourism (DOT), when asked what could be the impact of the dreaded virus to the industry.

The Chinese tourists coming to the region, based on the 2018 records of the DOT-8, just constituted six percent out of the total tourist arrivals of over 1.8 million for that year.

And out of the P19.6 billion tourism receipts covering the same year, the Chinese tourists only contributed P23 million, the DOT-8 added.

Tiopes said that historically, the coming of tourists in the region during the first quarter of the year is low and with the current issue involving the nCov, its arrivals may just decline.

However, the tourism regional director remain confident that by second quarter of the year, the region's tourism industry would recover from the projected slump.

Meantime, Tiopes said that part of the contingency plan that their department is implementing amidst the nCov scare include a close coordination with the Department of Health and other concerned government agencies and assist them in disseminating to tourism stakeholders the official protocols and advisories issued in relation to dreaded virus that originated in Wuhan City, China.

DOT-8 has also coordinated with local government tourism officers, tourism associations, and enterprises providing them with the protocols and guidelines to ensure that the precautionary measures are being instituted to ensure the safety of Eastern Visayas and travelers from other countries who come to the region.

“We call on our stakeholders to be vigilant in monitoring their arriving guests. We also ask them to make sure that their personnel and guests are aware of the measures to prevent the spread of the virus. And most importantly, we ask them to be fully aware of the protocols on reporting guests or personnel who will show symptoms of being infected by the virus. We enjoin everyone to give their full cooperation,” Tiopes said.

As part of the mitigation measures of the DOT to prevent the spread of nCov is to encourage tourism enterprises such as accommodation establishments to take immediate protective measures to avoid or remove imminent danger in areas where tourists are evidently at risk of infection.

These includes asking guests guided questions on 2019-nCov formulated by the DOH and following hygienic practices recommended.

Mother, baby among latest under nCov watch in EV

TACLOBAN CITY-A mother and her seven-month's old baby boy are the latest reported cases of possible carriers of the 2019 novel coronavirus (2019nCov) here in the region reported by the Department of Health (DOH-8).

Thus, the region has now seven 'patients under investigation (PUIs)' for nCov as monitored by DOH. Two of them were already discharged from the referral hospital, one of them was a 36-year old American national.

The seven PUIs record of the DOH-8, however, excluded a report from the provincial health office of Eastern Samar which said that a woman who travelled to Hong Kong developed a fever after she arrived in the province and was consulted on Monday (Feb.3).

It was learned that the 26-year old mother, her baby and her sister-in-law, also 26, went to Macau on December 23,2019 to visit a relative there.

They arrived in Manila on Jan.28 and travelled to Tacloban City the following day.

The seven-month old baby experienced fever and mild cough for two days beginning on Jan.23.

The mother developed mild cough and sore throat on Jan.27 while her sister-in-law had a mild cough on Jan.28.

On Tuesday (Feb.4), the three were confined at a referral hospital, this city.

Swab samples were immediately taken from the three suspected nCov carriers with the second sample to be taken this Wednesday evening and will be sent to the Research Institute for Tropical Medicine for results.

Failure of leadership? ...of whom?

Finger-pointing or accusing others relative to faults, failures or defeats of certain program or activities being handled by legal authorities or personalities has been an ugly behavior of similar personalities who are also part and parcel of such establishments.

This has been demonstrated lately- relative to the controversial issue -the killer novel coronavirus disease that originated in Wuhan City,China that has already killed over four hundred people and majority of these number come from China.

In the Philippines as of this writing only one so far has died – and a Chinese national at that.

It is quite frustrating that the Senate has openly accused the Department of Health to have committed "failure of leadership" when this happened. All Filipinos who follow and monitor national government activities believe that DOH Secretary Francisco Duque has been doing his job quite well. Why some senators, (just few of them only, though) accused DOH of failure of leadership is openly unfair.

This coronavirus killer disease at the moment cease to be not purely a health issue. It is more than that. It is already an issue that involves security agencies, immigration officials' responsibilities and of course yes, national leadership. It is a sad observation that when China is involved about serious the government does not immediately look into it for solution. We know why.

Yes failure of leadership, but not purely DOH but primarily national leadership.

To release stress?...
Cry!!

Stress that invades our emotions is normal to human beings. It happens to all of us who live normal lives. Normal living, definitely is NOT perfect living. Of course life is beautiful when we realize our dreams. We feel it is beautiful when our daily needs and those who depend on us in their daily living specially our children and those who depend on us over their day to day needs.

Facing some problems, difficulties and failures form part of life. Not all and everything we desire can be realized. There are reasons why they don't come true.

Primarily is because we do not have all the personal capacity and talent to realize them.

We are not perfect, so to many of us we feel this stress invading our minds and emotions. This creates unhealthy feelings and serious frustrations that at times breaks our natural set up. To some few they become crazy and even commits suicide. Grrrrr!

There is one simple solution to respond to stress. Cry, cry and cry in private of course. Crying according to experts releases painful stress that rules our minds and emotions. So, Cry!!!

DOMS PAGLIAWAN

Battling with ailments

Really. You can never tell when a disease strikes. Its causative agents just abound—bacteria, germs, fungus, viruses, name it. They just linger around and when chances warrant, they strike in full force. Usually, the unsuspecting populace are just suddenly caught unaware they are already exposed to some kind of deadly diseases that spare no one, even the healthiest man alive. I can never forget my Chinese friend who owned a carwash shop. So healthy, still young, very athletic, of robust build. I frequented his shop for having plenty of reading materials to read. And friendly as he was, we became friends. He had plenty of physical activities like biking, tennis, and many more. But when dengue struck him, he died, at a young age at that, perhaps in his late thirties or early forties.

I've had plenty of acquaintances, friends, and relatives who succumbed to early deaths due to ailments. They died before their time, so to speak. In fact, I myself had been frequently struggling with health issues since my childhood, all of which I never expected to afflict me. Some of those were so serious they almost claimed my life. Just to name a few, I suffered, while in elementary, from a kind of diarrhea that, I found out later, was caused by amoeba. So I got amoebiasis at an early age. Short of money for hospitalization, I was just given herbal medication by our late mother. I've grown so weak after days, frequenting the CR for a very painful defecation process. Blood was coming out every time I did it, particularly during the later part. I suppose I got dehydrated then. I barely survived from that plague. In my second year high school, I again encountered another deadly disease called in vernacular as tip-das nga itum. It is called as such because instead of having red rashes appearing on the skin, the victim showcases black rashes. And this, according to older folks around, is the killer one as survival over this type of chicken fox is so slim. Cracking headache, severe muscle and joint pains, extremely high fever, cough and colds, were the things that I experienced, not to mention the weakened body that I came to have after a few days. As usual, I was just bedridden at home, not in the hospital which we could not afford due to poverty. Many other illnesses came my way, the rest of which I just have a blurred memory. Just three days ago, I developed a certain kind of skin allergy that creates

A Whiff of Corruption

The battlecry of the Duterte administration is war on drugs and corruption. President Duterte always stress that just a "whisper" of corruption of his men in government, the guy is out. In fairness, he has proved this several times. He had removed some of his trusted Cabinet members since he assumed the Presidency for the last 3 years. Now comes Undersecretary Eliseo Rio Jr. of the Department of Information and Communications Technology (DICT) who resigned his position by reason of corruption in his agency. He is questioning the utilization of P300 Million funds of DICT as "confidential funds". Rio is an electrical engineer and a retired one-star general in the Army who served as acting Secretary of the DICT until former Senator Gregorio Honasan was named to the post. Honasan's appointment was controversial as he does not possess the qualifications as head of DICT and he was still a Senator when the law creating the DICT was enacted. Law-makers are not supposed to become beneficiaries of their own legislation. Undersecretary Rio is saying that the DICT ran out of its regular operating funds last year with about P300 Million ending up as confidential funds. As Under-secretary for Operations, he has been put in the dark particularly in intelligence and surveillance activities that are not part of the DICT mandate. Rio reported that Honasan obtained approval for P300 Million in Confidential Funds in 2019 plus P803 Million in "confidential and intelligence expenses" for the 2020 budget. Rio said, DICT does not need such funds. The Presidential Anti-Corruption Commission (PACC) must look into this corruption issue. Also, the Commission on Audit (COA) must conduct a post-audit examination on these allegations of Undersecretary Rio. President Duterte has said he would not tolerate even a "whiff" of corruption in his administration. Undersecretary Rio is ready to talk and prove his point. This is the time for President Duterte to put words into action.

Now a ranking official of the DICT has come out in the open that something fishy is going on in the DICT.

deniable reality is that workers in the public sector are poor, in the literal sense. Government workers are not justly compensated for the services they render. Even the standardized salary of government workers did not bring about just wages to the public servant. Civil servants suffer in comparison to their counterparts in the private sector who are paid well for similar tasks. The disparity is glaring in many respects and public servants are always at the low end of the comparison. Aside from

FAO: 2020 designated as year plant health

Plants, the green mantle of our human-populated Planet, are referred to as the "core basis for life on Earth". Indeed, take away these chlorophyll bearing organisms, the billions of human beings, millions species of animals and microorganisms in the aquatic and terrestrial ecosystems, including airborne species, would be nowhere to be found. Life on Planet Earth has long been endangered by human abusive activities leading to pollution that destroys the ecosystem, the environment, and the hardly hit organisms are the plants. Poor service?

Workers in the public sector had been unfairly branded as poor in terms of performance output. The general image of the civil servant is way below the ideal as perceived by the people. No matter the efforts to change the ugly public perception, civil servants could hardly take off the label. Innovations had been infused into the critical aspects of public service with the end of improving the public perception. Strategies had been adopted to motivate government workers to perform well but not much had been attained along that line. Many workers in the public sector still bear wittingly and willingly the unpleasant tag.

While there is basis to the observation that civil servants are poor in terms of performance, such observation appears as half-truth for just being based on one side of the coin. The other un-

DepEd directed schools to avoid ‘crowding’ of students amid nCov threat

TACLOBAN CITY- Amid the scare of the deadly 2019 novel coronavirus (2019nCov), measures against possible spread and infection are being enforced.

The Department of Education (DepEd) here in the region has directed that ‘crowding’ of students should be avoided.

For one, the holding of the flag raising ceremonies should now be held inside classrooms instead on the regular venue which is held at the school grounds, said the directive of DepEd Regional Director Ramir Uytico.

All big gatherings scheduled within this month are temporarily cancelled, Uytico added.

New school building helped solve classroom congestion in Malaga NHS – Peña I Annex CALBAYOG CITY – The new two-storey, four-classroom building in Malaga National High School – Peña I Annex has helped the school with its perennial problem on classroom congestion, said Officer-in-Charge Dr. Lilia Adel.

The building was turned over by the Department of Public Works and Highways (DPWH), on behalf of the Department of Education, last December 2019.

Three Grade 8 sections and one Grade 9 class, or around 140 students, moved in since the resumption of classes in January 6, 2020.

Kent Feb Owen Olasiman, a Grade 8 student, said space was really tight in their previous rooms. He recounted that they used to have a hard time cleaning their rooms, which get flooded whenever it rained.

On congestion, Adel says it has been a problem since 2011. “We would fuse two classes in one makeshift room because we don’t have another option. After typhoon Yolanda, we had up to three sections occupying one room at a time,” she recalls.

Now, all classes have their own rooms except for Grade 12 students. The two Grade 12 sections are still sharing one room because the school utilizes one of the rooms as a computer laboratory. Nevertheless, the students will transfer to another DPWH-implemented school building project in the same campus as soon as it is turned over.

“We are grateful to DepEd and DPWH for these new learning facilities. They are a big help to our school especially since we have a year-to-year increase in enrolment.” (CHENZI MAE UY/PIO Staff)

E. Visayas hospitals urged to set up nCov isolation rooms

PALO, Leyte- The Department of Health (DOH) regional office here urged hospitals in Eastern Visayas to set up isolation rooms to accommodate suspected cases of the 2019 novel coronavirus (2019-nCov).

DOH Eastern Visayas Regional Director Minerva Molon in an interview Thursday (Feb.6) said their central office is directing all levels 2 and 3 government and private hospitals to put up isolation units.

A level 2 hospital cater to patients who need minor care and supervision with intensive care units for critically ill patients and specialist doctors for gynecology and pediatric services.

In addition to the elements contained in a level 2 hospital, a level 3 facility provides a high-level specialty intervention such as physical rehabilitation or dialysis treatment.

“In case we have new possible cases in other provinces and localities, transporting both patient and health workers to the regional hospital would be tedious and impractical,” Molon told reporters.

Currently, only the Eastern Visayas Regional Medical Center (EVRMC) in Tacloban City is the lone referral hospital for suspected 2019-nCov carriers.

The regional office will send its regional epidemiology and surveillance unit personnel to the identified hospitals for technical assistance.

“As of now, our expertise is the only help we could provide. We cannot assure them of the logistics yet. These hospitals also have the capacity and they should not be rejecting patients,” Molon said.

The official will meet the chiefs of hospitals to help address their issues and concerns.

As of Wednesday afternoon, the region has already seven PUIs since the global outbreak of the 2019 nCoV with two already discharged. All of them have a recent travel history to China.

There are also seven persons under monitoring for their travel history to China and having close contacts with the PUIs.

The health department also reported that there are seven persons under monitoring in the region

EV’s LGUs put up measures against possible entry of ASF

TACLOBAN CITY- After the reported outbreak of African Swine Fever (ASF) in Mindanao region, local government units here in the region have intensified their campaign to ban entry of pork meat and pork meat products from Mindanao.

Southern Leyte Governor Damian Mercado issued Executive Order No. 3 extending ban for pork and other pork products in the province after the 100 days ban, which was issued last year, expired.

Southern Leyte, with its two ports located in the towns of San Ricardo and Liloan, is the main exit point for travelers from Luzon going to Mindanao and entry point for travelers from Mindanao going to Luzon.

“Pork and pork-related products are sourced from other areas within the Philippines are hereby regulated in its entry to the Province of Southern Leyte unless these are accompanied by the following applicable requirements from the point of origin,” part of the executive order states.

These requirements includes meat inspection certificate from the National Meat Inspection Service (NMIS) and Veterinary Shipping Permit (VSP) for locally produced pork, certificate of inspection (COMI) from the NMIS and VSP for imported pork, and License to Operate (LTO) and certificate of products registration issued by the Food and Drugs Administration for processed pork and pork products.

While the entry of pork from Luzon and Mindanao to Southern Leyte is declared unlawful, the entry of lived hogs from other areas in the region is regulated subject to compliance to documentary veterinary quarantine requirements.

These includes veterinary health certificate (VHC) and veterinary shipping permit (VSP) from the point of origin following the one VHC one destination one shipment policy; livestock handlers permit from the Department of Agriculture (DA), livestock and poultry transport/carrier registration from the DA; disinfection clearance from DA-BAI, and farm registration from the DA-BAI or the local provincial veterinary office.

Aside from Southern Leyte, Borongan City also banned the entry of pork and any pork-related products to the city, the capital of Eastern Samar province.

Under Executive Order Num.001-0220 2020 signed by Vice Mayor Emmanuel Tiu Sonco, who is the acting city mayor, on Thursday (February 6), the city government again imposed temporary ban of entry of all swine and other swine products from Mindanao.

The temporary ban will last for 100 days as security measure to prevent the entry of ASF to the city which may affect their local hog industry.

DA regional information officer Francis Rosaroso said that the response of LGUs in the region like Southern Leyte province, which has the close proximity and has access areas to Mindanao region, is very important to control the possible entry of the deadly disease that affects swines.

Rosaroso said that based on reports from meat inspectors and local veterinarians, the region remains ASF-free.

“The region has a regional animal council that creates policy which is then forwarded to our policy makers. In their meeting, Wednesday, (February 5) they made a resolution urging local government units to make precautionary measures to prevent ASF incident in the region,” Rosaroso said.

Popcom chief: Curbing teenage pregnancy, a top priority in ‘20

PALO, Leyte-Commission on Population and Development (Popcom) Executive Director, Usec.Juan Antonio Perez III calls for faster measure to curb the rise of teenage pregnancy.

The Popcom chief, who visited the region for close coordination meetings with local government units last week, said that the decline in teenage pregnancy over the past year cannot yet be classified as “significant.”

Thus, added measures are needed to be stepped up to at least reduce by half the number of teenage pregnancy cases in the country, he said.

Perez likewise sounded the alarm over repeat pregnancies among adolescents. Repeat pregnancies among adolescents are those occurring less than 24 months after a live birth those adolescents who have started giving birth.

The problem of high teenage pregnancy rates is compounded with rapid repeat pregnancy being that teen moms tend to have another pregnancy soon after the index pregnancy.

Earlier, Perez called on Congress to pass a law that allows pregnant adolescents, as well as those who suffered a miscarriage, to access modern family planning services without requiring parental consent.

According to the Philippine Statistics Authority, some 200,000 Filipino women between the age of 10 and 19 gave birth in 2017.

This means that adolescent mothers in the country give birth to 24 babies every hour, or one newborn every 2.5 minutes, Perez said.

According to the Popcom chief, teenage mothers have a higher prevalence of health risks, which include premature delivery, low birth weight among infants, complications at birth and inborn anatomical defects.

In a 2006 study, lost income from early childbearing was estimated to amount to some P27 billion yearly, which is equivalent to 1 percent of the country’s gross domestic product, the population official said.

He added that children of young mothers are also likely to be born prematurely and with low birth weight, making them prone to infant death and other health issues like deafness and blindness.

Popcom vowed to reduce cases of teenage pregnancy as a top priority this year. Among the measures that government has proposed is the conduct of a comprehensive sexuality education program meant to raise awareness on how to prevent adolescent pregnancies.

The governor is the third member of the Petilla political clan to sit as RDC Chair.
His mother, Remedios Petilla, who served as governor, congresswoman, and town mayor, served as RDC chair from 2001 to 2004.
His brother, Carlos Jericho, headed the RDC from 2011 to 2013 but this was cut short after he was appointed as energy secretary in 2012.
Meanwhile, Quebec, private sector representative and representing the media sector in Eastern Visayas, was appointed as the vice chair of the policy-making body.

Quebec said that she is humbled and thankful for another opportunity to serve not only the council and the sector she is representing but for the entire region.
Under Executive Order 325, those who are qualified to head the RDC as chair and co-chair are the provincial governors, mayors of capital towns and cities, presidents of the league of municipalities in six provinces, and private sector representatives.
The rule also states that if a local chief executive is chosen as chair, the co-chair will be from the private sector and if an official of the non-government group is selected as chair, the co-chair will be a local chief executive.

better pay, workers in the private sector are granted with better benefits for their housing, transportation and healthcare.
The inequity is institutionalized and government workers had to be contented with what they get. All that government workers can do is to just wait until their employer will take steps alleviate their socio-economic condition. They have to accept the reality that having chosen to be civil servants, their wages as well as the terms of employment are legislated. Congress can only increase their salaries if Vendors are selling surgical face masks at P10 to P15 while N95 face masks are sold at P130, higher by P20 compare to the suggested retail price (SRP) imposed by the Department of Trade and Industry (DTI) of just P110.

Molon said that instead of buying and wearing mask, proper hygiene practice, maintaining safe distance and taking vitamins to ensure a healthy immune system should be practice and observe.
Only those with colds, pregnant women, senior citizens and with chronic disease are required to wear face mask, she said.

Molon added that as part of their mandate, they will be visiting schools in the region to educate students and school administration about nCov.

there are enough funds in the public coffers. If government remains in dire financial crisis, civil servants could only gaze at a bleak prospect of a future. The work conditions seem not encouraging for the worker who is bothered with basic problems about his daily survival.
Workers in government are chained in the bondage of poverty, and debts. This reality is caused by the low pay that cannot meet the high cost of daily living. Many civil servants are pushed to look for other means to earn income to augment their meager salaries. It is true that public service is so demanding and civil servants have no choice but to live by the work they have chosen. But unless equity is served upon the poor civil servants in the bureaucracy, we can hardly attain the desired positive changes in the delivery of public service.

“Since LGU has police powers, they have the power to issue policies and ordinance if they will enforce total ban of entry to the region of swine coming from affected regions,” he added.
As advice to hog raisers, Rosaroso said that they should stop feeding pigs with left overs, practice proper hygiene, and do daily monitoring.
At least 1,000 dead pigs in Don Marcelino town, Davao Occidental tested positive for ASF prompting the local government to order the activation of a Regional Animal Disease Task Force to focus on ASF cases in the province.

Transporting hogs in and out of the municipality, as well as selling pig meat will be prohibited, and authorities had also establish animal quarantine checkpoints in entry points around the municipality.

weakness was exposed by the veteran Donaire, and the camp of Casimero hopes to cash on in these glaring faults on the part of Inoue.

The 29-yearl old Ormoc native tots an impressive 29 wins out of 33 fights, 20 of which by the short route. He once held the IBF’s flyweight and junior-flyweight titles several years ago.

His latest conquest happened last November when he scored a monumental upset by defeating former WBO bantam ruler Zolane Tete in the United Kingdom by way of a devastating 4th round knockout.

His victory over Tete boosted his stock, setting the mouth-watering encounter versus Inoue. At first Inoue’s handlers set their sights on other possible foes, but eventually settled for the Filipino champ.

Casimero started boxing at the age of 12 in Ormoc and became a national amateur champion. He is currently staying in Talisay, Cebu but regularly goes to Ormoc to spend time with his family and relatives after every fight.

“But most important, aside from development this will certainly bring peace not only in the locality but to the whole province as well,” said Briones. (nbq/ADiaz/PIA-northern Samar)

Casimero vows to destroy the "Monster"

KEVIN SIOSANA

TACLOBAN CITY-World Boxing Organization (WBO) bantamweight king Johnriel Casimero of Ormoc City vowed to crush Naoya "Monster" Inoue when they square-off for a unification bout on April 25 in Las Vegas.

Casimero made this assertion a couple of days ago after their much-hyped fight was formally sealed by their respective camps. The Ormocanon will try to snatch the World Boxing Association and International Boxing Federation crowns held by Inoue.

Dubbed as "Cuadro de Alas," Casimero stressed that he is unfazed by the reputation of his rival as a knockout dynamo and even boasted that he would be the "Monster Buster."

This could be the biggest stage in the boxing life of Casimero as the duel will be held in Las Vegas, Nevada, the boxing and gambling mecca in the world, aside from facing Inoue, who is widely considered as one if not the planet's best pound for pound boxer.

The Japanese champ is a very tough costumer for Casimero because of his outstanding knockout power resulting in 16 stoppages out of his 19 opponents.

However, Inoue showed vulnerability as he was nearly kayoed by former champion Nonito Donaire in their own unification bout three months ago in Japan.

Inoue managed to salvage a very close unanimous decision over Donaire. During the fight, the Japanese slugger suffered a minor eye injury and a broken nose. His see Casimero /page 13 ...

Masano eyes double gold in UAAP athletics

After a silver medal finish in the 2019 South East Asian Games last December, Leyteño middle distance runner Mar Masano is going for not just one but two gold medals in the Universities Athletic Association of the Philippines (UAAP) Track and Field Season 82 games slated later this month at the ULTRA in Pasig City.

Masano, who hails from Mayorga, Leyte promised to give his best for the University of the Philippines where he is pursuing a degree in Physical Education. In last year's edition of the tourney, he settled for silver medals in the 800 and 1500 meter-run.

This time, however, the former Leyte Sports Academy standout will go for the top plum as he will race again in the two events. He is armed with vast experience earned during his runner-up finish in the Vietnam Track and Field Open last August as well as in the SEA Games.

Masano also pocketed two silvers during the 2019 Iloilo University games last November in the 1500M and 4X400M-Relay.
