Mayor dares Pres. Duterte: issue deadline to crush NPA

ROEL T. AMAZONA

MATUGUINAO, Samar – The mayor of this town has issued a challenge to President Rodrigo Duterte to issue an ultimatum to all local officials in the fight against insurgency problem.

Mayor Aran Boller said that if the President has issued an ultimatum to mayors and governors on road clearing, why not do the same thing on the fight against members of the New People's Army (NPA).

And those who will fail to end the insurgency problem should be charged or removed from office, the mayor said.

"If only I will be given a chance to talk to the President, I will appeal to him to give us ultimatum until December of this year to end the local TACLOBAN CITY – The dreaded coronavirus disease-2019 (COVID-19) did not stop the devoted Catholics in attending the traditional Ash Wednesday to signal the start of the 40-day Lent season in Eastern Visayas on February 26.

"I am good with the traditional. So long as we don't have confirmed cases (of COVID-19), life as we know it shouldn't be needlessly disrupted," said Liza Baoy, a mother and government worker in Leyte.

The region, with a population of 4.4 million, has remained free from the dreaded virus that already infected 80,423 and killed 2,711 people mostly in mainland China where the disease originated.

No local transmission of the disease was also reported elsewhere in the country.

City, Tonette Lim, DPWH (Eastern Visayas) regional information officer said in an interview.

A total of P24.15-million was allocated for the new police office in Biliran while P25-million for the one in Eastern Samar.

Col. Julius Coyme, Biliran Provincial Police Office (BPPO) director, said construction of the new office building was realized because the assessment of the structure showed it is already unstable for occupancy after the earthquake in April 2018.

“With this upgraded version of a standard police office building, the men and women of BPPO will be housed in a safer, more decent and presentable police office,” Coyme said.

The DPWH targets to complete the construction of the police office buildings in Biliran and Eastern Samar in November and in August this year, respectively.

DPWH Eastern Samar assistant district engineer Domcelio Natividad said this is a convergence project with the Philippine National Police to heighten the quality of services offered to the public.

“The department commits to its core values for the construction of these quality infrastructure projects to be in one with the institution’s vision to create an effective and efficient government agency,” Natividad said.

EDSA PP 34th celebration getting dry and lifeless, Why?

President Ferdinand Edralin Marcos dubbed by the opposition then and now as dictator was "driven out" of the country, February 25, 1986, 34 years ago. He has been in power for a little over 20 years. His ouster now is known as EDSA People Power Revolution of 1986, on charges of abuse of power, graft and corruption, political dynasty, human rights violations, freedom of the press, controlled even curtailed and many more. Every year from then on February 25 was celebrated with grand activities and participated in by Filipinos of Epifanio De los Santos Avenue (EDSA).

Year after year the celebration would appear losing its significance with apparent decrease of participants to a very low level and losing its colorful significance and getting exactly real dry. Why?

Looking back at the reasons why the EDSA People Power Revolution is happening like this now and so frustrating to notice is that almost the same negative issues in government remains alive today after the Cory, Ramos, Erap, GMA, Noynoy Aquino and Duterte administrations. In fact Filipinos who lived through these years and era are even saying that Marcos after all indeed is the best President this country ever had.

So, we observe a very dry and lifeless celebration of EDSA People Power Revolution after 34 solid years.

ABS-CBN franchise still hangs

Based on reports we read/ heard from print and broadcast media this giant information network indeed has a problem why the renewal of their franchise to expire in May 2020 remains unpredictable. The approval of its franchise is within the jurisdiction of the House of Representatives.

Observers at the moment are seeking credible explanation why it takes so long for them to grant this application to their television network.

Well, we learned that this tv network has violated provisions – guidelines in the manner they do their daily broadcasts. It is unfortunate I still have to read or hear these violations. And if, this network indeed committed unquestionable violations, then they simply have to disapprove the franchise. But why up to now the decision hangs and to think that Congress will have their recess in March.

-oOo-

In the 2016 elections then Davao Mayor Rodrigo Roa Duterte ran for President and won convincingly. But during the campaign period he bought presidential campaign airtime with ABS-CBN. He paid them in advance for the airing of his political ads and was accepted by the tv network, amounting to over P2 million. But some were not aired but the President did not get a refund. We learned that a refund was given just recently but Digong did not accept it instead suggested to the network to give it to a group that may need it. Wow!!!

-oOo-

Recently the President says he will not influence Congress of its power to approve or disapprove the ABS-CBN Franchise. They just have to decide on their own. But we are wondering why up to now Congress has not made a move to work on its application.

What you think of why it is happening, is just as good as mine.

What probes are for Politicians supposed to be could be left alone to do their own thing, minding their own business, leaving us undisturbed. But no, they reach out to us, the common people, for support and all. That's the nature of their jobs, especially in democratic states with elections as a means to catapult them to power.

But the people, too, tend to run after them for upward mobility, for jobs, for money, for connections, for power, for influence, and many more. Even if politicians are just staying put in their comfort zones, people keep flocking to their doors for various reasons, hence the building of politician-people relationship that may, if things go right, turn out to be good. But if things turn for the worse, then the outcomes may do harm than good.

Peace

It came pleasant to hear the president declare his acceptance of the apology that ABS-CBN expressed through its Chief Executive Officer Carlo Katigbak. The pronouncement was in response to the meek and humble statement offered by Katigbak during the senate hearing on the renewal of franchise by the media network. The humility of the statement drew positive reactions from the public despite some adverse comments from some sectors. The possibility of good communication between the president and the network came to light with the acceptance of wrong that may have caused the ire of the president.

Indeed, it is difficult to avoid conflict with both parties in animosity. The communication gap grew wider while the parties kept talking in different venues before different audiences. The talks reach each party differently as the message was distorted by various interest from both camps. Drawing near the expira-been exposed. Normally, the most in-depth disclosures are done by those who are driven by the motive to uncover evil practices, in the guise of heroism, albeit designed for political demolition purposes. Here, evil schemes and true colors of people really surface.

As we approach the time when the electorate has to be won to one's side once again, such probes are getting numerous. Genius politicians have mastered this as an effective tool to undermine their opponents and, at the same time, to win the people's support. It may be politics at its dirtiest tactic, of course, but it somehow uncovers anomalous activities that people should be vigilant against.

Fortunately, all this aid the people in choosing their leaders. They may not be able to select the perfect ones, but with the information they get from these ruinous revelations, they are likely to find the lesser evil.

That's what we are for the most part—left with no options but to choose the lesser evil. It may be too simplistic, but it's the practical thing to do. Why, then, should we opt for something that has been repeatedly proven to be unreliable through time? That would be a risky adventurism, gambling our future for something dangerous.

tion of the franchise, dark scenarios hovered many people who are affected by the resultant effect of the network's closure. Fear of the workers losing their gainful employment was a primary concern as their families would suffer the economic consequences.

Another concern was on the aspect of press freedom should the network be closed. The deprivation of information is deemed an attack on the a democratic institution that is protected by the constitution. With the prospect of non-renewal of the franchise, the network is confronted with the risk of operating without the required franchise. So much confusion was lurking in the minds of the people who are at the receiving end of whatever outcome the conflict may end with.

When both parties opened their positions to acceptance of each other's

The EDSA Revolution

We recently marked the 34th Anniversary of the People Power revolt. A Filipino people celebrated the legacy of the country's bloodless revolution that led to the restoration of democracy in our country.

After 34 years, we continue to face challenges because there are attempts to destroy the essence of the revolution. May the EDSA revolt serve as a warning to those who attempt to suppress our freedom with an iron first. The bloodless revolution is proof that Filipinos can stop abuses and corruption in our country.

It is very important to remind all of us to reject abuses and dictatorship. We have proven that Filipinos can work together and oppose abuses and dictatorship. It is important to reminisce about the lessons we have learned from the EDSA people power.

We have to learn from the lessons of people power and acknowledge that in the end, the strongest

Philippine Bamboo as high value crop

In Botanical science, BAMBOO is classified in the Plant Kingdom under Family Boaceae, though in old taxonomic references it was formerly grouped under the Grass Family Gramineae. Philippine bamboos come in different varieties and common names depending on where the plants grow. Thus, such common names like "kawayan", "patong", "tamngan", "bagacay", "kawayan buho", would refer to a specific variety of bamboo plant. Some varieties known among Bisayans as 'patong' and 'tangnan', grow tall that some people mistake these for trees - it is incorrect to say "Bamboo Tree" to the plant!

In the Elementary Grade, I remember one author who likened Filipinos to the bamboo plant "for being pliant", even if the plants grow tall and sway gaily struck by strong winds - a feature shown by the Filipino character of being resilient, do not break easily even with strong, 'typhoon-driven' wind blowing fiercely, intently! A bamboo pole may not easily break, but just bend to its maximum low position than crack. The plant, with its 'suckers' would rather be seen uprooted than fall apart individually!

Bamboos are tropical plants that thrive under varied environmental conditions in the Philippines.

equalizer against abuses and tyranny are the people who act and stand up.

More than 3 decades since the EDSA revolt, our continuing duty is to remember that we protect our country against all forms of human rights violations arising from authoritarian power.

We therefore honor the valiant heroes of EDSA and the countless others whose lives were touched by the bloodless uprising.

EDSA People Power was a catalyst for the restoration of our democratic institutions. The People Power Revolution remains one of the most remarkable events in our nation's history. We have to defend and preserve the freedom we gained during the 1st EDSA People Power.

We pray that the legacy of EDSA will remain relevant in the years ahead.

A matured bamboo pole driven to the ground seen in rural areas, regenerate into a new plant. Owing to their characteristic floral system, bamboo plant populations proliferate in the rural areas, through natural pollination. And depending on the bamboo variety available, would dictate on its use/s, e.g. house building materials, handicrafts make and design, decors, fishing boat-making material, etc.

Recently, the Department of Agriculture Secretary William Dar, following a meeting with officers of the Philippine Bamboo Industry Development Council (PBIDC), announced the categorization of "Bamboo as High-value Crop"! Accordingly, bamboo could be a subject of R and D interventions to include processing and

DPWH-1st SDEO builds water supply system in Tinaplacan, Calbayog City

CALBAYOG CITY-The Department of Public Works and Highways-First Samar District Engineering Office (SDEO) completed the construction of a water supply system in barangay Tinaplacan, this city.

The P10-million project covers the installation of 2-kilometer-long pipes as well as the construction of reinforced concrete dam and reservoir.

This replaces the existing water pipes which are worn out and undersized for the village’s water demand.

The new water system provides better water quality, quantity, and pressure. Unlike the old pipes, the new ones are mostly buried underground which reduces exposure to contaminants and prolongs the life of the pipes. (CHENZI MAY D. UY, PIO Staff)

To ensure that there will be no ghost claims PNP’s Divina orders review on pensioners master list

TACLOBAN CITY- In an effort to avoid over-payment, ghost pensioners and eventually the deletion in the Philippine National Police pensioners master list and save the government from financial loss, the Regional Office 8 through the leadership of police regional director, B/Gen.Ferdinand Divina, conducts a region-wide accounting of all police pensioners.

The monitoring is being done in collaboration with the PNP Retirement and Benefits Unit 8 (PRBU8) headed by Police Lieutenant Marifel Cortes.

PRBU8 is in charge of administering the retirement, separation and death benefits of police pensioner as well as the implementation of plans and programs uplifting the morale and welfare of the pensioners and their beneficiaries.

The PRBU8 started on Feb.26 its ‘massive accounting’ by visiting provincial and city police offices which is to end on March 17.

According to Divina, this move aims to update their personal records and to strengthen its monitoring

mechanism on ghost pensioners.

The police regional director added that they will regularly update and prepare a consolidated list of deceased pensioners to avoid over-payment of pension and their deletion from the master list.

He also said that all pensioners who were able to update their status in 2019 are exempted from said accounting as long as the period covering their birth month does not fall in the months of February and March.

“The said region-wide accounting will help the PNP to eliminate and filter out ghost pensioners and save the government from financial loss,” Divina said. (LIZBETH ANN A. ABELLA)

DENR lauds private sector-led coastal clean-up drive

TACLOBAN CITY- “The fight to beat waste pollution necessitates all to be on board. Everyone should contribute because sustaining a clean and healthy environment is shared responsibility,” says Tirso P. Parian, Jr., Regional Executive Director (RED) of the Department of Environ-

RED Parian made the remark as he shows his appreciation for the clean-up drive spearheaded by the I Love Tacloban Foundation recently.

“With the cooperation of the community itself and by tapping the government, academe and other stakeholders, it is our desire that we will set an example for the people to be conscious of their environment and make it a form of habit to maintain the cleanliness of their surroundings,” says Raymund Romualdez, president of the I Love Tacloban Foundation, a non-profit

Leyte provincial board to ban export of sand and gravel materials outside the province

TACLOBAN CITY—Leyte Vice Governor Carlo Loreto said that the provincial board will pass an ordinance prohibiting the export of sand and gravel outside the province.

Loreto said that having such an ordinance would prevent the fast dwindling of sand and gravel of the province.

According to the vice governor, with Leyte enjoying a boom in the construction sector, lack of supply of construction materials have been noticed, raising the possibility that the province is suffering shortage of these construction materials.

According to Loreto, there is a strong demand of sand and gravel from Leyte as they are of good quality compare from those coming from other provinces of the region.

"If we are not careful, the province may suffer if we continue supplying sand and gravel to Cebu and Bohol who does not have their own source of sand and gravel" the vice governor said.

The proposed measure to ban in the transshipment of sand and gravel outside the province was aired by board member Mesias Arevalo (4th district).

Arevalo revealed that in Ormoc City, for example, one mountain is being flattened to supply the need of reclamation project in Cebu.

And if this will not stop, Arevalo feared for a repeat of a flash flood incident that hit Ormoc in 1991 which killed more than 4,000 people.

He added that DENR-8 Department is happy to see active partners in environmental protection and wildlife preservation among the younger generation.

He stressed that while the younger ones are taking simple steps, the agency is making an ardent appeal to the general public to rescue and turn-over wildlife species to the nearest DENR office to ensure their safety. RED Parian also warned the public against keeping endangered wildlife species as pets since this is a violation of Republic Act 9147, An Act Providing for the Conservation and Protection of Wildlife Resources and their Habitats. EVDA shall serve as a lead agency that would ensure "sound and balanced" industrial, economic and social growth in Eastern Visayas, which is among the country's poorest regions.

The proposed development authority will carry on with the speedy rehabilitation of Yolanda-affected areas, they said.

"EVDA will craft and implement programs and projects that will increase trade, tourism and investments in the region, encourage private enterprise and advance efforts towards progress and development. Once the promise of a resilient economy is fulfilled, the right economic and social conditions will be realized – one that will provide jobs to the people, especially those in rural areas, increase their productivity and their individual and family income, and thereby improve the level and quality of their living conditions," the Romualdez couple said.

They said even though Eastern Visayas rises from the onslaught of super typhoon 'Yolanda', the region "continues to be caught up in the vicious cycle of poverty."

"Even before Typhoon Haiyan (Yolanda) struck, the incidence of poverty has already been worsening. While the nation's overall economic situation has been improving on the average, poverty in the region worsened from 2006 to 2012," the Romualdezes noted.

"In 2014, poverty incidence was at 54.9 percent; more than half of the region's population of 4.10 million is now extremely poor and unable to earn the minimum amount necessary to address their basic needs," they said.

vincial governments in ports of entry and exit points.

"Our central office has classified the region as a dark green zone, which means we are free from the ASF virus," Pepito told the Philippine News Agency on Thursday.

The official issued the statement after the Bohol provincial veterinary office has raised concern over a possible shipment of banned and undocumented livestock from Bato, Leyte, a port town that has a direct roll-on roll-off (Ro-Ro) ferry route to Ubay, Bohol.

"It is very unfair since we are ASF-free and there has been lockdown in five provinces. It is also very impractical for our local hog raisers to bring pork products to Bohol since we have our slaughterhouses here and the local demand is high. No one will ship meat products to Bohol without documentary requirements," Pepito said.

Quarantine officers have been deployed in seaports of San Ricardo and Liloan ports in Southern Leyte; Balwharteco, Dapdap, and Santa Clara ports in Allen, Northern Samar; and San Isidro port, also in Northern Samar.

The ports in Southern Leyte are the entry points from Mindanao while wharves in Northern Samar are the region's gateway from Luzon.

Some areas of Luzon and Mindanao have confirmed ASF cases.

Authorities also set up checkpoints in Allen and San Isidro in Northern Samar; Calbayog City in Samar; San Juanico Bridge both in Leyte and Samar side; Liloan, Sogod, and Maasin City in Southern Leyte; Baybay City in Leyte; Biliran in Biliran; Lawaan and Taft in Eastern Samar.

"Before a live hog and a meat product enter Leyte provinces, it has to go through several checkpoints," Pepito added.

Early this month, the provincial governments of Southern Leyte, Northern Samar, and Samar have issued executive orders temporarily banning the entry of pork and pork-related products in their respective areas to prevent the spread of ASF.

During the meeting of the inter-agency ASF task force, the group came up with two recommendations as possible mitigation against ASF.

The first recommendation is for partner local governments to impose either a temporary total ban for a period of at least three months or a selective ban only.

Second is revisiting the ASF regional action plan by identifying or suggesting specific actions to prevent, manage and control the possible entry of ASF-infected live meat or pork and processed products.

As per available data from the Philippine Statistics Authority, 70 to 80 percent of the region's hog supply comes from Mindanao. Only 20 to 30 percent are locally-produced.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE

1 dead, 3 injured in Leyte road mishap

TACLOBAN CITY--A man was killed and three others were injured after a 10-wheeler truck collided with two motorcycles in Carigara, Leyte Saturday evening, February 22.

The fatality was identified as Ruel Azores, 36, married and resident of Barangay Pinamopoon, Capoocan, also in Leyte.

Injured were driver

Carlito Bacolod, 54, and his back rider Edgar Cabelin, 47, both residents of Carigara town who were on board a motorcycle with a sidecar; and Jonathan Castil, 42, driver of the Isuzu truck, a resident of Sta. Fe, Leyte.

Initial investigation revealed that Bacolod and Castil were headed to Tacloban City from Ormoc City while Azores was traveling in the opposite direction.

Upon reaching sitio Barriis of Brgy. East Visoria in Carigara, Castil suddenly lost control of the truck and hit Bacolod and Azores.

The victims were rushed to nearby hospital, police said.

Carigara police are investigating the incident. (RONALD O. REYES) practice of good hygiene and the halting of big public gathering.

The directive also prompted the Catholic Bishops' Conference of the Philippines (CBCP) to issue an advisory, suggesting its clergymen to sprinkle dry ashes on the head of the mass goers instead of applying wet ashes on their foreheads to prevent the spread of the virus.

"This is not an innovation but in accord with the ancient practice of the Church," said CBCP president Romulo Valles.

The advisory also urged the Catholic faithful to refrain from touching or kissing the cross for veneration during the Lent season.

However, Fr. Chris Arthur Militante, spokesperson of Palo Archdiocese in Leyte, said they "will stick with tradition imposition of ashes in the forehead" amid the virus scare.

"The Archbishop (John Du) specifically instructs that we follow the usual rite of the imposition of ashes, that is, on the forehead, for your guidance," read the statement from the chancellor's office.

"A true faithful in Jesus Christ should never get swayed nor scared by a 'scare,'" said local resident Fidelino Josol.

"Do not be afraid of those who kill the body but cannot kill the soul," added Josol, quoting a biblical passage.

He also reminded that the early Christians never faltered of Nero's threat of being "thrown into the lions, burned at stake, crucified and many more, with no chance of getting away.

"The ashes symbolizing our faith should never scare us. I am in full support of the Archdiocesan position. I am aware that precautions are taken," Josol said.

He said that his children will also follow the traditional Ash Wednesday, saying "our faith will prevail."

Amid the advisory issued by Valles, Fr. Mark Ivo Velasquez of Palo Archdiocese maintained that the CBCP "has left it to the decision of the individual bishops in their respective dioceses, as is proper."

"In their dioceses the bishop has the final say in matters pertaining to such matters, and not the CBCP," Velasquez who will led in the traditional Ash Wednesday to over 12, 000 Catholics in his parish in Alangalang, Leyte.

However, for Leila Diaz, a physician in Tacloban City, she said she will not submit herself to the traditional practice.

"Nowadays, it's unwise to have the finger of another person touch your face, especially if that finger has touched hundreds of other foreheads or faces," the doctor said.

"Actually the sprinkling is also an ancient practice more popular in Europe than in our country. If you look at Pope John Paul II before, he administered it by sprinkling. In this matter it really is no big deal which practice one uses or prefers," said Fr. Roy Cimagala of Cebu City, adding that they in Cebu will do the sprinkling during the Ash Wednesday rites.

After declaring it as a global health emergency, the World Health Organization also warned all government leaders to prepare for a possible coronavirus pandemic.

Japan has earmarked $12 billion for the Olympics and it could balloon to a couple billions more if moved to 2021.

Moreover, the IOC will be forced to let go of its $1 billion emergency fund if the postponement occurs. Add to that the more than $2 billion IOC will lose from the TV rights.

The destiny of the Tokyo Olympics is now out of the hands of IOC. It largely depends of what course COVID-19 will take in the coming days.

Tokyo Olympics in peril?

There's an adage that goes this way, "lightning never strike (at the same place) twice."

This is used to say that a very unusual event is not likely to happen again to the same person or in the same place.

But the biggest sporting spectacle in the history of mankind may suffer this bizarre feat. And it's because of the rapidly spreading Corona Virus Disease or COVID-19.

The 2020 Tokyo Olympiad is now in jeopardy as the deadly virus is spreading like wildfire in other places outside China where it originated. And Japan where Olympic host Tokyo is located, has not been spared. As of the latest info, almost 900 cases and five deaths have been reported in Japan.

Because of this situation, the Olympic organizers are contemplating whether to cancel or move to another date the quadrennial games which is slated in July. And if the decision is cancellation, then the above-mentioned saying will not hold water as this could be the second time that the Olympics in Tokyo will be scrapped.

In the history of modern Olympics which began in 1896, only one Olympic quashing happened and it was in 1940 which Tokyo was supposed to host.

It was cancelled because of World War II in which Japan was heavily involved with. And now the scenario is looming largely that the Tokyo Olympics (again) will be called-off, this time for health reasons.

And who would not entertain the idea of cancelling it. It is a gathering of 11,000 elite athletes from all over the world.

This is aside from the coaches, technical staff, thousands of viewers, Olympic officials and world leaders lending their presence during the competitions.

A great number of people will be put at risk during the Games if the virus will not be contained as soon as possible.

According to International Olympic Committee (IOC) board member Dick Pound, they have only two to three months window left to decide. He said that come May, the fate of the Games should be sealed.

The official stressed that
