Region's COVID-19 cases now over 4,000 cases

EV's death toll now at 40

ROEL A. AMAZONA / LIZBETH ANN A. ABELLA

TACLOBAN CITY- The number of deaths due to coronavirus in the region is now at 40 as seven new fatalities were reported by the Department of Health (DOH).

The seven COVID-19 patients were suffering from lingering medical conditions, the DOH said.

As this developed, the region's COVID-19 cases have now breached the 4,000 mark.

Dr. Minerva Molon, DOH-8 regional director, said that the seven patients of the dreaded virus died from the period of September 10 to September 15.

The death rate of the region represents around one percent of its current COVID-19 cases, Molon said.

The oldest among them was a 93-year old woman from Tacloban City who died last Sept.11 while the youngest to have succumbed due to COVID-19 were two 51-years old women from Catbalogan City, Samar, and Babatngon town in Leyte. Both died on September 10.

Tacloban City, for the same period, posted five deaths alone, bringing its total fatalities due to COVID-19 to 10.

Aside from the 93-year old woman, the other fa-

TACLOBAN CITY- Brigadier Gen. Ronaldo De Jesus is the new police director of the region, replacing B/Gen. Bernabe Balba.

De Jesus, prior to his new assignment, was assigned in Eastern Mindanao of the Philippine National Police (PNP)'s directorate for integrated police operations.

He formally assumed to his new post last Sept 14 in a simple turn-over ceremony.

Balba, who headed the police office in the region beginning on March 19 of this year, was appointed as the new head of the elite Philippine National Police-Special Action Force.

De Jesus, a member of the PNP Academy Tagapagbuklod Class of 1989, was previously assigned to the Directorate for Integrated Police Operations in Eastern Mindanao.

Meanwhile, Balba expressed his gratitude to the police force and the public for their support since he assumed his post for just over seven months, one of the shortest terms of a PNP police director of the region.

"Before I came, there were a lot of questions that I myself answered it and conquered it with flying colors. It is because of your relentless hard work, support, dedication and resiliency that we were able to move forward and continually facing and fighting the havoc of this pandemic," said Balba in his farewell speech.

"It has been 174 fruitful days of my life with the people whom I consider as the epitome of real warriors. I came

Perusing through the educational nexus of 'New Normal'

BY: REYNALDO O. ROBEL

One of the most adverse public health crises of international concern is the COVID-19 pandemic, which began in China and almost infected every nation in the whole world.

This disease is caused by a novel coronavirus (SARS-CoV-2, formerly called as 2019-nCoV) and has negatively affected educational systems worldwide.

For several months, most countries around the world have temporarily shut down educational institutions to curb the spread of the COVID-19 infection.

According to UNICEF, 134 countries have implemented nationwide closures and 38 effected local closures, impacting about 98.5 percent of the world's student population.

Measures such as community lockdown and community quarantine obliged the students and teachers to study and work from home which led to the reinforcement of online learning platforms.

However, the implementation of online learning posed various problems and challenges to both the teachers and students, especially in far-flung areas where stable connection is costly and difficult to achieve.

As we propel towards the new normal, the current situation shows us a unique challenge to every educator's decision-making process.

As a licensed professional teacher for more than two decades and accustomed to pre-pandemic teaching strategies, I have developed a particular interest in revolutionizing trends in the new normal education.

We as educators must keenly examine how successful is the combination of blended and distance learning in providing quality education and outcomes-based education.

Moreover, health education should be further integrated into courses and subjects in both basic and higher education. Most importantly, no student should be left behind.

And as part of the protocols, all those who succumbed due to COVID-19 related deaths are buried hours after they dies.

Meantime, the region's COVID-19 cases now stand at 4,025 as of Friday monitoring of the DOH.

On Friday alone, the DOH announced of 68 additional cases which both mainly came from Leyte and Samar provinces.

DPWH S. Leyte prepares for ISO audit

TACLOBAN CITY- The Department of Public Works and Highways-Southern Leyte District Engineering Office (DPWH-SLDEO), based in Maasin City, is preparing the requirements for internal quality audit in compliance to the International Organization for Standardization (ISO).

This was disclosed by DPWH-SLDEO district engineer Ma. Margarita Junia who said that their office is scheduled to be audited on October 5-6, 2020 by the team from the quality management system of the central office.

"We are now preparing for this audit. It will be a different audit since it will be conducted via video conference as face-to-face interaction is still prohibited considering the COVID-19 pandemic," Junia said.

The official added that they will revisit the findings raised in the previous audit and they will ensure that those findings had already been satisfactorily addressed.

Junia said that the preparations include calibration of equipment and instrument, document tracking system, and other document-related works.

"Regular internal audit is also conducted to evaluate proper implementation of the 5S technique to clean and organize the workspace. These 5S are sort, systematize, sanitize, standardize, and self-discipline," she said.

It was learned that the internal audit of the central office is conducted annually to validate the management system, services, or documentation procedure of the district engineering offices if it conforms to internationally accepted standards. (RESTITUTO A. CAYUBIT)

Online learning centers await Southern Leyte residents

TACLOBAN CITY – The provincial government of Southern Leyte will provide new computer sets and other gadgets for the online training courses of residents displaced by the coronavirus disease 2019 (Covid-19) pandemic.

In a statement on Wednesday, provincial systems administrator Vitto Tomol said this will be distributed in 18 towns and one city to equip their respective training centers.

These facilities will soon offer modular and online training courses of the Department of Science and Technology and the Technical Education and Skills Development Authority.

"Priority for enrollment are those displaced by the pandemic for them to acquire new skills for business or employment but local government units (LGUs) may also welcome other interested individuals," he said.

The project implemented under its Covid-19 recovery program, dubbed "Pagan-dam sa Bag-ong Panahon" (Preparation for a New Normal), has an allocation of PHP1.9 million.

Since its launching two months ago, Tomol said procurement of essential gadgets was not carried out on schedule due to high demand for laptop computers.

He added they are also closely working with the Department of Information and Communications Technology (DICT) to address concerns on internet connectivity.

However, four towns that have maintained a functional training center, including Tomas Oppus, Sogod, Liloan, and St. Bernard, may proceed with the short-term training courses.

"DICT has also plans of providing free Wi-Fi services in more public places here, such as schools and offices," Tomol said.

The provincial government assured that needed gadgets, including computers, printers, routers, and modems, among others, will be delivered immediately to LGUs once already available. As of Tuesday, the province confirmed a total of 262 Covid-19 cases, based on the monitoring report of the Department of Health.

Gov. Tan pushes plan to use lawn tennis court as a COVID-19 facility despite opposition from some groups TACLOBAN CITY-Samar Governor Reynolds Michael Tan said that he would push of his plan to convert a lawn tennis court into isolation facility for patients of coronavirus disease (COVID-19). The governor made this declaration among opposition of some sectors in Catbalogan City where the lawn tennis court is located.

Tan said that during this time of health crisis, he would rather consider saving lives as a prime consideration by using the tennis court as temporary COVID-19 facility.

The conversion of the said lawn tennis court, which is located at the back of the provincial capitol building, met with opposition from certain groups citing that its proximity to residential houses and its historical importance to the city.

“After consultations with concerned agencies, exhausting all possibilities looking out for other spaces nearest to the hospital, it is with a heavy heart that we need to proceed in using the lawn tennis court as the only remaining option,” Gov. Tan said in a statement.

“As the governor, it hurts me so much to argue over an issue which is clearly for the best interest of saving lives. We cannot afford to let the fate of those who urgently need shelter especially when they are in danger, rely on the dictates of sentimental reasons. Not during this time of pandemic when all our efforts are dedicated to control and contain from affecting us deeply,” he added

Cases of COVID-19 in Samar appears to be increasing.

As of Thursday, the province has 1,364 COVID-19 cases of which majority of these are from Catbalogan City with 556 cases, with 14 deaths. (ROEL T. AMAZONA)

Tacloban environment office guides public on disposal of infectious wastes

TACLOBAN CITY-The Tacloban City Environment Office has reminded the public to dispose infectious wastes properly, to avoid the spread of diseases.

City Environment Officer Jonathan Hijada in his Facebook message, said that this type of wastes which are also known as special wastes such as masks, gloves and other equipment, were used to prevent the transmission of diseases.

These then must be disposed separately as these may possibly be the source of contagion and could be harmful to the public.

“We have to be mindful in segregating our garbage. These kinds of infectious wastes must be separated from the ordinary wastes. They must be properly enclosed and labeled, as these may pose risk of transmitting the disease, particularly the Covid-19 which is highly contagious,” Hijada said.

He added, “There is a special management for this type of garbage especially those coming from the Covid isolation facilities. They are being separated and are not allowed for collection by ordinary garbage collectors.”

The city official also said that the office has placed three big garbage bins in the designated isolation centers, and these were labeled with tarpaulin so as to guide the collectors as to where these must be temporarily deposited.

This practice, according to Hijada, is also applicable to hotels and lodging houses that are being rented and used as isolation centers, where they were oriented on how to properly manage infectious wastes.

The environment officer likewise enjoins the general public to observe the same practice in their respective households, particularly the disposal of their used masks.

He also advised to wait for the separate scheduled collection of these particular wastes, as this manner of infectious waste disposal is among the health protocols mandated, in efforts to mitigate the spread of Covid-19 and other diseases. (ldl/gtt/PIA-Leyte)

Man hangs self reportedly after live-in partner abandoned him

TACLOBAN CITY-A 23-year old man allegedly committed suicide by hanging himself at his home in Palo, Leyte last September 13, 2020.

The victim, a single and driver by profession, was a resident of Sitio Caloogan, Barangay San Jose of said town.

His body was found at 7:45 am, Sept.13 but the incident was only reported to the authorities the following day.

The victim’s mother discovered her son’s lifeless body already hanging inside his room with a rope tied around his neck, police said in a report.

Initial investigation disclosed that the victim had also attempted to commit suicide last year because of a personal problem.

According to his family, they kept on counseling the victim because he was always depressed.

On September 8, another 22-year-old male also hanged himself inside his residence in Villa Sophia Village, Barangay 108-Tagpuro in Tacloban City.

According to the authorities, the victim was depressed after his live-in partner left him.

However, police found no foul play in the incident.

In August, three persons, including a four-month pregnant woman, were also found dead after committing suicide in the towns of Anahawan, Calbiga, and Jiabong in Eastern Visayas. (RONALD O. REYES)

“Worst is yet to come” – Social Weather Station Survey (SWS)

Nearly six out of ten Filipinos or 57% believe that the Corona Virus Disease 19 (COVID 19) is getting worse and the “worst is yet to come”, This is the result of the survey SWS conducted recently.

IT is an indication that our people feel hopeless for a convincing approach to stop this pandemic that has already killed thousands of people in the world to include our country, and still increasing everyday – those infected, still in hospitals, those who died. Of course there is an impressive figure of those cured.

There is however very inspiring news in broadcast and television news programs that there are on-going researches and studies that a vaccine will be available. How soon, we still have to know.

It is therefore necessary that we maintain health protocols that government has instructed our people on social distancing, cleanliness avoid getting our – public of it is not necessary. Stay home and may GOD protect us always.

Don't Dilly – Dally PHILHEALTH Investigation

So many names have already been released of those allegedly involved – in the MAFIA-style of corruption in PHILHEALTH. Observers are now pleased that at last Department of Health top honcho Secretary Francisco Duque III shall already be one of those to be charged.

It took months after the PHILHEALTH anomalies was exposed before Duque was included in the charges. It could probably because President Rodrigo Roa Duterte expressed his trust and confidence in the health secretary saying he did not believe that Duque could be involved in corruption in the agency. But Senators got so disappointed at such presidential declaration because based on their hearings conducted they believe that Duque would have knowledge about those anomalies.

oOo
If Duque had no share in -the loot committed by irresponsible officials of PHILHEALTH he definitely has to answer for the corrupt behavior of these officials who are under his official jurisdiction.

oOo
The Duterte observation has but 2 years in government. It is therefore necessary that the investigation of these anomalies be done credibly and fast. The amount that was corrupted has reached a billion.(?)mark. It is the money from government officials and employees to employ when one gets sick.

The Witty President

NOPE, THIS COLUMN IS NOT ABOUT OUR PRESIDENT RODRIGO ROA DUTERTE; THIS IS ABOUT THE LATE ZIMBABWE FORMER-PRESIDENT ROBERT MUGABE, WHO IS REMEMBERED FOR HIS GREAT WIT & HIS COLORFUL LANGUAGE.

And nope, this Columnist did not compose this. My niece Ms. Florie Sta. Teresa posted this on face book months ago; and I believe this article should be published, read and shared, because many people would appreciate this, especially during this stressful period of our lives.

Now, out of the many witty statements of former Zimbabwe President Mugabe, this Columnist has taken the liberty of selecting the Ten (10) best, which he feels would be good reading matter in these trying times, especially since several statements he made are somehow connected with current events.

Please read on, then smile or even laugh a bit ...

1) A person can love you and still cheat, just like we love God and we still commit sins.

2) Being kissed does not mean that you are loved, just ask Jesus about Judas.

3) If Adam & Eve were Chinese, our place in paradise & heaven would really be reserved for all of us, because they would have ignored the apple and eaten the snake.

4) A Cigarette is a pinch of tobacco rolled in a piece of paper, with fire on one end and a fool at the other end.

5) It is much better to sit in a bar thinking about God, than to sit in Church thinking about beer.

6) Now, how do you convince the upcoming generations that education is the key to success, when we are surrounded by poor graduates and rich criminals?

7) If I am given a chance to travel through time, I will go back to 1946; find the father of Donald Trump and give him a condom.

8) If President Barack Obama wants me to allow marriage for same-sex couples in my (Zimbabwe) country, he must come here so that I can marry him first.

9) Treat every part of your towel nicely, because the part that wipes your buttocks today, will wipe your face tomorrow.

10) Racism will never end, as long as white cars are still using black tires;

> if people still use black color for bad luck and white for peace;

> if people still wear white clothes to weddings and black clothes to funerals; and > as long as those who don't pay their bills are blacklisted and not 'white-listed.'

Then as a last statement, former Zimbabwe President Robert Mugabe said "But at this stage I don't really care as long as I still use the white tissue paper to wipe my ass! With that, only, I'll always feel fine!"

Things To Mind

DOMS PAGLIAWAN

Torn between two lovers

Of all government agencies, the Commission on Human Rights (CHR) is probably the most misunderstood, the highly-criticized, the grossly-controversial, and perhaps the most hated as far as the country's citizens are concerned. As such, this agency must have a hard time positioning itself between the government and its perceived enemies.

As mandated, this commission is supposed to safeguard the rights of citizens, and to run after violators of these rights. But based on its interpretation, these violations could vary in meaning, depending on who the violators are. If the offenders are non-government entities or individuals, said violations are considered crimes that must be pursued by government authorities. But if the perpetrators come from government authorities, offenses against civilians are categorized as human rights violations that the commission has to run after.

It is this role of the CHR that makes it a perfect instrument and ally of government enemies such as the criminal syndicates, the CPP/NPA/NDF, the terrorist groups, and other adversaries of the state. At the same time, it is this role that somewhat makes the commission a government foe for siding with its enemies instead of taking sides with the state forces. It doesn't even play the referee; or if it does, it is a biased one, hence the hatred that people develop against it in times of disputes.

Surely, this is not an easy role for the CHR to play. Because while its loyalty and support must be to the government, its programs, activities, and advocacies say otherwise, tending instead to protect government enemies that oftentimes hide behind the identity of ordinary citizens. CHR, then, resembles someone who is torn between two lovers, or warring factions, not as a fair referee, but almost as a "treacherous" government entity.

The ordinary citizens, the lowly taxpayers, the lovers of peace and order, see it that way. They cannot understand this role; it's too technical for them. They generally look at people as endowed with human rights that should never be violated by anyone. Since they are humans, and they have rights, any attack against the latter are human rights violations, regardless of who the offenders are. That's why when somebody is attacked by rebels, for instance, they normally demand that the CHR will do something about it, just as it defends militants who are eventually harmed by authorities during violent clashes. What they hear from CHR, however, is a despicable silence when the perpetrators belong to government foes, hence their outrage over this "bias".

Ultimately, the seeming beneficiaries of the CHR's programs are nothing but the rebels, the terrorist groups, the organized syndicates, not even the ordinary citizens. It is to these groups that the CHR is seemingly catering services, as public knowledge has it. Thus, we can sometimes hear public demands like the abolition of this agency, the non-allocation of its budget, and the like.

For CHR to better get Stubborn?

The threat of illness is real in people's daily life. Various factors cause illness and people are admonished to exercise in their physical activities and the choice of food. The choice is personal no matter the information and admonition one gets. Taking the wrong choice may lead one to perdition as the probability of getting sick is believed to be the resultant effect of physical exercise and food that are not nutritious or in some cases, the cause of disease or ailments. But the freedom of choice appears a mere idea as people are often placed in situations or circumstances where there is no choice.

There are those who are preoccupied with gainful economic activities that could no longer find time to exercise or cook a healthy meal. A lot of busy people rise too early and sleep too late that they have less time to rest. These people are focused on earning money more than they need that even regular meals are missed. The option is to source-out instant food from grocery stores or fast-food chains that offer delicious food but are not as nutritious as those cooked from fresh meat, fish and vegetables. All that is considered is to satiate the hunger and be up all day for all the work to be done.

But there are people in the bottom of the economic strata that are working all day from dawn to dusk just to earn for their basic needs. The aim to put food on the table for the family to eat three times a day is too simple but could not even be attained by the poor marginalized sector of society. Missing to do the admonition to exercise daily may not be too negligible since the poor is often exposed manual labor and extraneous physical activities. These are people who could hardly earn income that could provide the basic needs of the family.

Amid restrictions by government for people to stay at home, people who need to earn to buy food for their family have no choice but be out of the house. The wealthy and powerful belonging to the upper segment of the socio-economic strata could afford to live without the need of going out of their houses. Afterall, it is the poor who would be working for them in their businesses at the risk of transgressing the so-called protocols. Many of the low-income workers could not even earn the standard minimum wage. They earn much less than their basic needs and have to spend for required masks and shields, else they would be fined if caught by law enforces.

In the long months since the lockdown were enforced, people had been waiting for the assistance, especially food for the family. The ration distributed by local governments were made once or in some areas, a few times. Such food provisions had long been consumed but people are being restricted to stay in their home. It is the push of hunger and not the pull of leisure outside homes that bring people to work for a living. Such act is not a sign of hardheadedness as many people rant at those who keep on going out. Those without mask and plastic shield ought to be given by government instead of nabbing them for violating protocols. In the continuing rise of covid19 positive cases, we have yet to obtain any report that those who got infected were violators. Those infected are surely, not stubborn.

Target beneficiaries are 33,000 households

Over 13,000 households in East Samar receives P2,000 cash aid from the provincial gov't

TACLOBAN CITY- More than 13,000 households in Eastern Samar have so far received a financial grant extended by the provincial government to help them cope up during this time of pandemic caused by the coronavirus disease (COVID-19).

Each of the targeted household-beneficiaries of the cash aid program, dubbed as provincial emergency assistance program (PEAP), receives P2,000.

The provincial government under Governor Ben Evardone has allocated P65 million for this localized cash grants targeting 33,000 beneficiaries from its 22 towns and the city of Borongan.

The cash distribution started last July of this year and is projected to be completed by October.

And since the program started, 13,002 beneficiaries have so far received the P2,000 coming from the towns of Mercedes, Oras, Hernani, Gigolos, Quinapondan, Sulat and Borongan City.

Those who are entitled to receive the cash assistance are those who failed or were not listed under the special amelioration program (SAP) of the national government.

SAP beneficiaries in the region received P5,000 cash assistance.

Aside from SAP beneficiaries, those who are not eligible to receive the P2,000 cash assistance by the provincial government are the members of 4Ps (Pantawid Pamilyang Pilipino Program) and TUPAD or Tulong Panghanapbuhay sa Ating Disadvantaged/ Displaced Workers of the Department of Labor and Employment.

Gov. Evardone, meantime, appealed for understanding over the delay in the distribution of the financial aid saying they have to ensure that only the targeted beneficiaries would receive the P2,000 cash assistance.

He, however, made an assurance that he already made an instruction to concerned offices in the provincial government involved in the implementation of PEAP to expedite the validation process of qualified household-beneficiaries in order to facilitate the distribution in the remaining municipalities. Education continuity amidst this COVID-19 global pandemic

BY: LIEZEL D. DE CADIZ

The entire world has been globally affected by this COVID -9 pandemic affecting everyone's life.

The world economy has been affected as well as businesses were closed due to the spread of the virus as well as with the various locked downs implemented as measure to mitigate and control its spread.

In the Philippines, the Department of Education (DepEd) makes sure that the learning of the children will continue amidst this pandemic.

Learning of the pupils will push through taking into consideration their health and safety as DepEd's priority during this trying time while ensuring the continuity of learning.

The DepEd has come up with Basic Education Learning Continuity Plan (BE LCP) where it entails how education will continue despite this pandemic.

The curriculum has been adjusted as well as the school calendar for this school year.

Most Essential Learning Competencies (MELC's) were taken from the curriculum to ensure that only the essential competencies will be taught to the learners using the learning modality which is practical and applicable to the learners.

In DepEd Region VIII, Modular Distance Learning Modality will be utilized considering the internet connectivity in the region as well the resources of the parents of the learners.

Teachers had been working hard in order to address the challenge in the New Normal in DepEd. They had made the Budget of Lessons, Learning Activity Sheets / Worksheets, Weekly Home Learning Plans etc. across all the subject areas while waiting for the Self Learning Modules for the pupils which will be contextualized by the teachers too considering the school and the community situation.

Teachers undergo series of Webinars conducted by DepEd as way of capacitating them how to deliver quality of learning during this pandemic.

Schools and school heads were directed to allocate all resources anchored on the school's learning continuity plan. Protective equipment and facilities shall be given priority.

Schools were also directed to conduct Parents' Orientation and Dry Run for the Modular Distance Learning Modality prior to the opening of classes with strict adherence to the health protocols of the Interagency Task Force on COVID 19.

Schools monitoring on its readiness were conducted by division and district personnel in order to assess and ensure the smooth opening of classes comes October 5, 2020 making sure that each learner has his / her own learning pack provided by the teacher adviser.

With all the preparations and health measures being undertaken, indeed DepEd is ready to deliver quality of learning instruction to the pupils. Together, we work as one.xxx

Kanangamayor condemns NPA for using children on their armed struggle

TACLOBAN CITY - Kananga Mayor Manuel Vicente Torres condemned the New People's Army, the armed wing of the communist group, for reportedly recruiting children to their folds.

Torres' condemnation against the rebel group came in the wake after government forces under the 93rd Infantry Battalion rescued a 14-year old girl after an encounter in Barangay Rizal of the said town last Sept.13 which also resulted to the death of one soldier.

Two regular members of the armed group were also arrested by the government forces whose headquarter is in Kananga town.

The girl was said to be a new recruit of Anakpawis, considered by the military as one of the legal fronts of the Communist Party of the Philippines (CPP) as identification cards bearing the name of the said group were among the items recovered by the government troops.

"We strongly condemn all terroristic activities of the communist NPA group in Kananga. Our youth should at all times, be protected from any abuses," Torres said.

"The recruitment by this terrorist group of our youth should never be tolerated and must be put to a stop," he added.

Torres said that his administration will make sure that all residents of Kananga, particularly the youth, will not fall prey to the terroristic acts of the NPA.

The town mayor also said that no similar incident will happen again in their municipality as government forces are to intensify their operations against the rebels and left-leaning organizations would be barred from entering their area.

Meantime, the 802nd Brigade, which is based in Ormoc City, met with local officials of Kananga to discuss the legal protocols and procedure for the proper custody of the 14-year old girl.

Torres extended his condolences to the family of Corporal Nixon Tomenio who was killed in the exchange of gunfire in the encounter.

"Rest peacefully and we assured that the legacy you have left behind will live on through your family and friends. Thank you for your service. Thank you for your heroism. Thank you for sacrificing your life for the peace and order in Kananga," he said. (ROEL T. AMAZONA) along with its critics, perhaps it should implement reforms, such as redefining some technical roles, a more pro-government stance, lesser association with state enemies, and at least words of condemnation on criminal offenses against civilians. Somehow, these will change public perception when the commission is finally seen as a government's sword, not the rebels' shield.

Red tide alert up in 8 Eastern Visayas bays

TACLOBAN CITY – The Bureau of Fisheries and Aquatic Resources (BFAR) has warned against the consumption of shellfish as experts found red tide toxins in eight bays in Eastern Visayas.

In an advisory issued late Thursday, the fisheries bureau has added Maqueda Bay in the towns of Jiabong, Motiong, Paranas, San Sebastian, Calbiga, Pinabacdao, and Hinabangan in Samar and coastal waters of Daram, Samar on the list of red tide-infested areas in the region.

Earlier, BFAR identified red tide contamination in Cancabato Bay in Tacloban City; Matarinao Bay stretching across the towns of General MacArthur, Hernani, Quinapondan, and Salcedo in Eastern Samar; Carigara Bay -- Babatngon, San Miguel, Barugo, Carigara, and Capocan in Leyte; coastal waters of Guiuan, Eastern Samar; Irong-irong Bay in Catbalogan City, Samar, and San Pedro Bay in Basey, Samar.

Red tide has been infesting in some of these bays since mid-July this year. Red tide toxins present in both seawater and shellfish meat in these bays are beyond the regulatory limit, according to BFAR.

The maximum regulatory limit of toxins is 60 micrograms for every 100 grams of shellfish meat. Above that, the government strictly prohibits shellfish harvesting in affected areas.

“To protect the public, we issue this warning as precautionary advice to the public to refrain from gathering, selling, and eating all types of shellfishes,” BFAR said.

The fisheries bureau also banned the trading and consumption of Acetes sp. locally known as “alamang” harvested from said bays to avoid possible shellfish poisoning.

Local government units are advised to regulate the gathering, marketing, and transporting of shellfish in infested areas.

“Fish, squid, shrimp, and crab are safe to eat “provided that they are fresh and washed thoroughly and internal organs such as gills and intestines are removed before cooking,” the advisory added.

On Tuesday, at least two children died and four of their family members were hospitalized after eating red tide infected green mussels in Bagacay village, Daram, Samar.

Killed by paralytic shellfish poisoning were an eight-year-old boy and his three-year-old brother while four other family members are still admitted at a hospital in Catbalogan City, Samar.

Red tide is a term used to describe a phenomenon where the water is discolored by high algal biomass or the concentration of algae. PSP occurs from ingesting bivalve shellfish (such as mussels, oysters, and clams) that contain toxins.

Project intervention on Modular Distance Learning Modality

BY: JERVIN D. MALACOS

Embracing the new normal in education, the Department of Education (DepEd) will provide modules in facilitating the learnings of the students, especially those who have low internet connectivity.

Crafted Modules are aligned with the Most Essential Learning Competencies (MELCs). These competencies were taken from the Curriculum Guide (CG). If modules are not yet available, the schools should provide Learning Activity Sheets (LAS).

One of the problems that arose in the conducted simulation in Buracan National High School, La Paz, Leyte is the burden in the delivery and retrieval of the huge number of printed Learning Materials (LMs) since there is no vehicle owned by the school whereas the vehicle of LGU is used for the transportation of LSIs or locally stranded individuals.

Thus, the school proposed and implementing the project TRI-

CYCLE (Transporting learning kits to Remote areas by Integrating the importance of Collaboration that Yields to a Challenging new normal Learning Environment) to solve this problem.

During the parents' orientation, parent-driver representatives who owned tricycle/single motorcycle registered to willingly offer their services during the opening of classes. With this, the school will shoulder the gasoline expense chargeable to Local School Board Fund (SEF).

The tricycle/single motorcycle will be utilized in transporting the Learning Package Kit (LPK) to the barangay and retrieving it back to school.

The vehicles will start its service on October 5, 2020 as first delivery. Meanwhile, on every Friday of the month within the school year is the delivery and retrieval of the LPK.xxx
