Leyte town residents visit departed loved ones ahead of 'Undas'

TANAUAN, Leyte – Residents here have started paying respects to their departed loved ones ahead of All Saints' Day and All Souls' Day observance, shunning family gathering traditions in compliance with restrictions due to the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) crisis.

For Nenita Saballa, 59, of Pago village, the celebration is strange with her being alone visiting the grave of her husband and son, who both died in 2011.

"It has become a family tradition during All Saints' Day and All Souls' Day (Undas) that we share food together here as a way of spending time with our relatives who passed away. But this won't happen this time. I have to come here earlier, without other family members due to some restrictions," Saballa said in an interview Wednesday.

The lone cemetery would be closed from Oct. 29 to Nov. 4 in compliance with Resolution No. 72 issued by the Inter-Agency Task Force for the Management of Emerging Infectious Diseases (IATF-EID), regulating all activities related to 'Undas' amid the threat of Covid-19.

However, the local government has allowed a 30-percent visitor capacity in the cemetery from Oct. 24 to 28 and from Nov. 5 to companies are still doing their security operations.

Meantime, the regional office of the Department of Health (DOH) reported that Eastern Visayas has now 6,586 COVID-19 cases of which 46 new cases were added on Monday.

The new cases were from Leyte with 32 cases; Samar, with eight cases; Northern Samar, three; Eastern Samar, two; and one from Southern Leyte.

EARLY VISIT. Residents of Tanauan in Leyte visit their departed family members and relatives at the town's public cemetery in San Miguel village on Wednesday (Oct. 28, 2020). Cemeteries, memorial parks and columbariums in the country would be closed from Oct. 29 to Nov. 4 in compliance with Resolution No. 72 issued by the Inter-Agency Task Force for the Management of Emerging Infectious Diseases, regulating all 'Undas'-related activities amid the coronavirus disease pandemic. 15 and prohibited the consumption and sale of food, installation of tents, tables, chairs, and entertainment equipment, which are common sights inside the cemetery during this period.

Thelma Cinco, 47, also visited the grave of her mother who died a year ago.

She said despite limitations, it is important to fulfill this tradition, where candles are lit up and prayers are offered as respect for the departed.

"We just have to follow the health protocols, wear a face mask, and observe physical distancing for everyone's safety. Hopefully, next year, when times are better, we could observe Undas according to our usual practices" Cinco said.

As directed, gatherings in individual graves or markers at the public cemetery must be limited to only five persons at a given time.

Janine Maceda, 23, said although they can visit the graves of her grandparents anytime of the year, 'Undas' is one of the few opportunities to get reunited with relatives from other places.

"Just like most families, it would only be the time for us to pray for the departed souls of our relatives together. Since the cemetery would be closed during Undas, we will commemorate our departed loved ones at the comfort and safety of our homes through prayers," she said.

To date, the town has 12 active cases of Covid-19, based on the monitoring report of the local government.

NPA leader faces rape charge by a former teener recruit TACLOBAN CITY-An alleged leader of the New People's Army (NPA) has been charged of rape by a 17-year old girl who reportedly recruited her to their armed group.

The teener, who was said to be only 15-year old when she was raped by Paterno Opo, leader of the sub-regional committee 'Levox' which operates in Leyte and Biliran provinces, filed the complaint on Thursday (Oct.29) at the Provincial Prosecutor's Office in Calubian town, Leyte.

According to the complainant, she was raped sometimes on July,2018 just months after she was recruited to the NPA by Opong in one of their stays at the hinterland barangays in Calubian town.

During her involvement at the armed group, she served as a 'medical officer' with her elder sister acting as a finance officer.

A former member of the New People's Army filed a complaint of rape against a top rebel leader who accused him of sexually molesting her when she was just 15 years old. The victim, who is now 17, faces members of the local media on Thursday (Oct.29) detailing her tragic ordeal. (Photo Courtesy 802nd IB)

Being a minor, it was her 20-year old elder sister who filed the rape case against Opong, who is said to be on his 50s.

Once the prosecutor's office sees a probable cause, it will issue a warrant against the alleged NPA leader.

The two sisters were rescued by the members of the 14th Infantry Battalion last July 12 of this year in Barangay Pinamunuan of Mahaplag town also in Leyte while they were on their way to escape from their group.

It was during an 'interview' by the military that she disclosed that she was raped by Opong whom she said told her not to surrender to the soldiers for she would be tortured and raped.

The two are now under the custody of the 802nd Infantry Brigade, based in Ormoc City.

"I admire her courage in confessing her horrible experience though it may degrade her reputation and dignity as a woman. With her revelation, she exposes the evils of joining the CPP-NPA-NDF. This confirms the blatant and persistent recruitment of minors within the communist terrorist organization," B/Gen. Zosimo Oliveros, the commanding officer of the 802nd IB.

A mega task-force vs. corruption

The President recently ordered the Department of Justice to conduct a nationwide investigation of corruption in the country. DOJ Secretary Menardo Guevarra immediately organized a mega task force to implement the Presidential order.

We know for a fact that the total eradication of corruption in government was one of the main targets to be wiped out in government when Digong, a former Davao City mayor won the presidency. He promised that corruption will be eradicated the first year of his Presidency. The President will soon bow out of office after 6 years in the Presidency in 2022.

He created the Presidential Anti-Corruption Commission (PACC) but it appears that it could not perform effectively in its role to stop corruption.

DOJ Secretary Menardo Guevara accepted the challenge and created the Mega Task Force to implement the order.

Stop corruption nationwide? We doubt if he can succeed to investigate corruption nationwide. It's a tall order, we see it that way. Did not the President emphasize this objective the first days of his presidency? What happened?

make out stories involving that tree. Like hearing some musical instruments from it, hearing some voices, or seeing a white-robed lady hanging from its branches. All these accordingly reveal themselves in the evenings or late in the afternoons, but just to selected persons.

Superstitions have it that, while human eyes could only figure this out as a mere tree, it actually is home to spirit beings, otherwise known as demons. At times, based on the accounts of old village folks, it may not be an abode itself, but just a gateway to a spirit world. This is the case in the story, Lila, a folktale that was retrieved from Basey by my friend, Dr. Analyn C. Espano of EVSU. Carlo, a disguised demon, pretends to be a handsome suitor of the girl. Easily fooled by his superior looks, the girl and his father quickly took interest in him out of the many other suitors. Who does not "Okra" or Lady Finger Veggie?

Yet another vegetable grown all over the country has been included among the country's export commodities. Thanks to the truly agriculture-founded person at the helm of the Department of Agriculture, Secretary William Dar. He recently announced the start of the exportation of Okra to neighboring Japan. Also, known by its English name "lady finger" vegetable, is an accepted part of the Japanese diet.

Okra is rich in magnesium and other antioxidants that maintain heart health, control blood sugar, including its anti-stress properties. While it strengthens human immune system this is due to the "good bacteria that is in our intestines" - indeed, a healthy and versatile, easy to plant and maintain vegetable. These attributes have goaded Sec. Dar another source of livelihood for our lowly farmers, beset by low and unstable price of palay. At peak season, the Philippines will be able to export an average of 13-15 tons, mainly to Japan.

Matured seeds are planted directly, preferably semi-dry soil or even along "pilapil" of rice paddies. The short variety of 0.5-1 meter tall is ready to produce flowers and shoots out the lady-finger like fruits. Freshly harvested Okra easily becomes part of a Filipino meal after washing and few minutes boiling and eaten by deeping it in home-made "sawsawan" of bagoong (to Ilokanos) or vinegar-patis combine(-to Bisayans). It is always a main veggie in the Ilokanos "pakbet" or Bisayan "pinakbet" preparation.

In one visit to Singapore (where our son's family works and lives), I devoted my free time planting few seeds of the tall variety Okra, that produced fruits from waist height upwardly of its almost 8-10 feet tall slender plant body. The few stands of okra left with them continued to provide my son's family with fresh healthy vegetable.

At this pandemic time when food is expensive and some items are rare, vegetables included, we should turn our unproductive back and front yards, (even in urban areas), by planting fast growing Okra seeds for food security reason.

A tale on demon possession

Of all the demonic abodes introduced by superstition in Philippine lower mythology, the balete tree locally known as dalakit is perhaps the most popular. These unseen beings are said to inhabit woodlands (for kahoyons), grasslands (for banwaanons), etc., but most often, they accordingly dwell in this tree, which makes it the most feared and revered tree in the farmlands. No one dares to touch it. People leave it alone to grow in the wild, avoiding it as much as they can. Because of the "dangers" attached to it, this tree generates a lot of fear especially if it stands beside a path that people have to take in going somewhere. Not much problem during daytime, but at nights, it could cause one's hair to stand on end, and run as fast as one could.

In reality, it's just an ordinary tree. But its growth or nature is rather mysterious. It starts out as a vine that attaches itself to a grown-up tree. It cannot stand by itself at this stage; it's just a parasite like orchids that grow on the bark of trees. But as it grows bigger, it sends its roots down to the ground and overpowers the original tree, killing it in the long run. From being a parasite, it becomes a killer with its roots too exposed to onlookers. The more roots it sends to the ground, the bigger it gets. That's when people start to

Modulated teaching (Second of a series)

The gargantuan task imposed upon classroom teachers in preparing modules had been an easy excuse for the errors found in the teaching materials. So much effort had been poured by the teachers as they have to reproduce the materials for all pupils and students in all subjects. Verily, the task is not easy as teachers need to search for learning materials that are available from previous years. With limited time to prepare the modules before the start of classes, the learning materials had to be reproduced immediately. The need to gather enough supplies of paper and ink became a real obstacle that teachers must address. There were calls for assistance for kindhearted individuals who are willing to provide needed supply was resorted to considering that teachers could not personally defray the cost of supplies that are lacking.

When classes opened as mandated, the prepared modules were distributed to pupils and students for them to study at home. The modules were distributed to parents and guardians as pupils and students are supposed to stay at home. It is a weekly routine that every Monday teachers press statement released by the provincial information office.

He said that the provincial government has extended P50,000 financial assistance to the family of Bolok.

For his part, B/Gen. Ronaldo De Jesus, police regional director, also honored the fallen police officer as he vowed that no similar incident would happen again.

“I will make sure that the gallantry of PLt. Bolok shall not be put in vain. Apprehended violators shall be made responsible under the law. I have ordered my men to further intensify its operations against illegal gambling and other law-related offenses no matter how small scale they are,” he said in a statement.

“I will see to it that no similar unfortunate incident shall ever happen again. Justice will be served,” De Jesus added.

Northern Samar police director Col. Arnel Apud said that the entire police organization in the province grieves on the ‘untimely’ death of Bolok.

“I have a heavy heart as we have lost a brother who sacrificed his own life in the name of service,” Apud, in a statement, said.

“I already instructed the personnel and record section to immediately facilitate the needed documents to release the benefits for the bereaved family of Lt. Bolok,” Apud added.

For his part, Mayor Clarence Dato said that the local government has also provided financial assistance to the family of Bolok.

“We mourn the loss of our chief of police, Christian Bolok, who died in the performance of his duties. A dedicated law enforcer, he is a big loss not only to the PNP but to our community,” Dato said.

Bolok just served as the town police chief for just two weeks. He was succeeded by Lt. Eleazar Arancillo as town police chief.

Meantime, Gov. Ongchuan reiterated his warning against those who are engaging in cockfight of ‘tupada’ and other forms of illegal gambling activities during this time of pandemic.

Ongchuan had earlier banned tupada in the entire province after some men who were arrested later turned positive of COVID-19.

Bolok, 38, led an operation in Barangay Manduyang, nine kms away from the town proper of San Jose, of an illegal cockfight on Oct. 26.

But when he tried to collect one of the cockfights, he was accidentally hit on his left thigh by a metal spur or tari, which is usually laced with poison.

He died due to loss of blood while being transported to the Northern Samar Provincial Hospital in Catarman town.

His body was transported to his native town of Laoang on Wednesday (Oct.28) where he will be buried.

Palo town shows how it contain spread of COVID-19

PALO, Leyte- This municipality, despite having a high number of people infected of the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) never lockdown an 'infected area' in contrast to the common practice of almost all local government units in the region and other parts of the country.

Instead, they just 'secure' the house of the confirmed COVID-19 patients and right away identify their close contacts for contact tracing purposes.

And in a matter of hours after one is confirmed to have been infected of the virus, the person is immediately brought to their isolation facility with their close contacts are quarantined.

The municipal government of Palo set its own protocol in addressing the menace of coronavirus disease (COVID-19). Photo shows the quarantine facility of the municipal government. (ROEL T. AMAZONA)

At present, the town has 214 confirmed COVID-19 cases since March of this year and with three deaths.

Former Leyte governor Jericho 'Icot' Petilla who also serves as consultant of the Leyte mayors league on the management of COVID-19, stressed that unlike in other areas, a repeat swabbing is being conducted to a person earlier confirmed to have been infected by COVID-19 but has completed the mandatory 14-day isolation period.

This way, Petilla who is the husband of town Mayor Frances Ann Petilla, they are guaranteed that indeed the patient or 'client' as they call them, is totally free of the virus and really safe and ready for his reintegration to his or her community.

Last October 22, Petilla

On October 23, last week, the Sandiganbayan convicted Surigao del Sur Congressman Prospero Pichay, Jr. and two of his fellow Local Water Utilities Administration (LWUA) officials, because of LWUA's illegal grant of P 1.5 Million in government funds to the National Chess Federation of the Philippines (NCFP), of which Pichay was the President of said Chess Federation at that time.

The Sandiganbayan sentenced Pichay & two others from six (6) to eight (8) years in prison and perpetually disqualified the Surigao del Sur Congressman from holding public office, for allocating P 1.5 million of LWUA's budget to the NCFP, in Pichay's capacity as Acting Chairman of the LWUA board of Trustees (BOT) in December 2010.

The isolation facility of the town is located in Barangay Guindapunan, incidentally one of the areas which posted a high number of COVID-19 cases. It has 52 cases of which around three have yet to be declared as free from the virus.

Meanwhile, the quarantine facility is located at the former base located in Barangay Candahug used promising son-in-law. But instead of going to the next barrio as Carlo claimed he came from, Lila found herself facing this huge balet tree in the wild.

This, Carlo explained, was their house—a grand palace at that. This tree and its surrounding vicinity quickly changed from Lila's viewpoint. Her vision was altered by demonic powers such that, looking around, she immediately found herself standing on tiles of gold, in a spacious hall with a long table laden with abundant foodstuffs and drinks. Together with them were special guests and, most important of all, the parents of Carlo whom she observed to have elongated and pointed ears. Then she was made, or rather compelled, to eat black foods and drinks. These she ignorantly took not knowing that, based on common knowledge, these are the foods that must be avoided by whoever is brought into this "world."

It appears, from how the ceremony looks, that it was not an ordinary dinner. It must have been some kind of a wedding night, with Carlo for the groom, and Lila for the bride. The setting had been set up before-

Gov. Petilla administers oath of new Capoocan councilor

Leyte Governor Leopoldo Dominico "Mic" L. Petilla administered the oath-taking of Luz Raagas as new SB member of Capoocan, Leyte on Oct. 26. She replaced her husband, Samuel, due to health problem. With her was Capoocan Mayor Fe Claire Paragatos (not in photo). The oath-taking was held at the Governor's Office at Government Center, Candahug, Palo, Leyte. (GINA P. GEREZ)

TACLOBAN CITY – A new councilor in Capoocan, Leyte has taken her oath and assumed office, a report from the Leyte Governor's Office said.

Governor Leopoldo Dominico Petilla told reporters in an interview that hand; the long, food-laden table and numerous chairs for the guests had been waiting for their arrival. And when they entered through the balet tree, the ceremony proceeded, followed by an elegant reception. And though Carlo still brought Lila home, to the physical realm, it was obvious from Lila's actuations that he had already claimed ownership of her, or possessed her. True enough, he came back soon to claim what he owns. This is not Lila's world anymore as far as he was concerned; she now belonged to another world—his world.

With the help of a quack doctor, her parents finally found her, but it was just her body that was glued to the tree in tight embrace; her soul, hear real being, was already with the demons in their spirit world. The parents succeeded in getting her body back, but it had become nothing but an emaciated, ugly creature, vomiting all kinds of insects. Her lover turned out to be her body's destroyer, making it an abode—another setting or locale—for hideous and demonic creatures to dwell in, just as the Spirit of God comes to indwell the bodies of those who believe and turn to Christ for salvation according to the Holy Scriptures.

he administered the oath taking of Luz. Raagas as the new councilor of the municipality of Capoocan.

Gov. Petilla said that Luz as a new Sangguniang Bayan (SB) member, will replace her husband, Samuel Raagas, due to health problems.

collect previous modules and distributes new ones as tasks for the week to be submitted the following week. Where modules are delivered by teachers to the homes of their pupils and students, it is now the parents and guardians that are collecting and submitting the modules. This approach is to lighten the burden of teachers who used to do the rounds to the homes of their students. Truly, the task is taxing as the teachers are also performing other works.

The initial problems encountered by the parents include the burden of collecting materials and submitting previous modules, assisting their children answer the modules, and providing for the daily needs of the family. The problem is greater for parents who are not capable of helping their children answer the modules, either for lack of time or lack of knowledge on the subject matter. On the part of the pupils and students, the difficulty is rooted on the lack of capability to understand the subject matter, either for lack of capability at reading or comprehension. With modules on all subjects simultaneously distributed and answers collected on a weekly basis, students and pupils are under pressure to answer and accomplish the modules.

There too are tales of pupils and students, and parents and guardians, finding some errors in the learning materials. Some errors are purportedly in the printed materials which range from typographical, spelling, miscalculations in math and substantive errors where the answers could not even be found. These may have resulted from the haphazard preparation of the materials that were copied from textbooks containing errors. The problem that had been constantly raised to the attention of education officials regarding erroneous textbooks has escaped the attention of those concerned authorities. The errors had been reprinted in some textbooks and are now found to have been reproduced under this pandemic times.

NGCP continues restoration works in Typhoon Quinta-affected areas

NGCP continues with the restoration activities of all areas affected by Typhoon Quinta, given the large areas of land devastated by the typhoon. Mobilization of line personnel and equipment continue, and simultaneous restoration activities are being conducted on the areas already accessible.

A total of 33 line gangs, or 264 personnel, working 24/7 when weather and safety conditions permit, have been deployed to the affected areas to expedite restoration works. Additional 12 line gangs were activated from North Luzon, NCR, and Visayas to augment the 20 line gangs originally deployed from South Luzon.

As of 5PM today, 27 October, two 500kV lines, one 230kV line, and five 69kV lines are still de-energized.

Assessment and restoration efforts began as soon as weather permitted, even while the typhoon was still within the Philippine area of responsibility. NGCP has so far fully restored transmission services to the affected provinces of Pampanga, Laguna, Quezon, Albay, and Sorsogon.

NGCP commits to restore the remaining areas of Batangas and Camarines Sur at the soonest possible time, barring unforeseen circumstances. NGCP restoration targets are as follows:

- BATANGAS:
 - BATELEC I and II - October 28
 - CAMARINES SUR:
 - CASURECO 1 - October 31
 - CASURECO 2 - October 31

- CASURECO 3 - October 29
- CASURECO 4 - October 31

Please note that this schedule refers only to transmission services, and not to distribution services or generating capacity. For complete restoration of power, all distribution and transmission facilities and sufficient generating capacity must be available. We defer to the Department of Energy and/or the National Electrification Authority for information on distribution and generation restoration. (PR) by the South Korean contingent when they came to Leyte as part of their humanitarian mission in the aftermath of Super typhoon 'Yolanda' back in 2013.

Among the more than 30 clients confined at the town's isolation facility was 16-year old Ishie whose been in the facility for almost two months now.

She arrived in the facility with her parents who were already sent home after confirmatory tests on their second swab turned negative.

Ishie is the longest staying client inside the facility.

"I miss eating foods that I want, and cold drinks of course, because here, we're not allowed to drink anything with ice," the teenager said when asked what she misses the most aside from her family since she was isolated in the facility.

"I also miss my friends and hanging out with them," she added.

To make her stay productive, Ishie shares that she devout her time in answering the modules and activity sheets.

Her parents gets the modules for her at the Leyte National High School in Tacloban City where she is a Grade 10 student and deliver them to her every Monday.

Since classes started last October 5, she has finished three modules already which she will submit to her adviser once she is discharged from the isolation facility.

Ishie has a smartphone with her but studying inside the isolation center including doing research is not a problem for her because the local government unit provided her with a desktop computer and free internet connection.

In fact, in the building where Ishie is staying some foldable tents has computer that can be used of students like her for their studies.

Longing to be outside and be with her family, Ishie said that she always hope and pray every time a swab specimen is taken from her would have a negative result.

But because of her condition, where the re-swab always turn positive, she said that she is willing to wait until such time she will have a negative result to tell people that she survive and already free from the virus.

Petilla, who once served as Energy Secretary, said that although they can allow clients like Ishie to go home, they are not doing it to avoid stigma from the community.

Petilla shares that families of those who continues to be positive on re-swab are supporting this policy.

Re-swab is no longer encourage by the Department of Health as recommended by the World Health Organization due to limited laboratory supply but the province with its partner private hospital and under the Leyte Integrated Health protocol continue to do re-swabbing to confirmed patients until they are tested negative.

He added that most of those who are inside the facility has one common factor when asked if where they think they get or got infected by the disease.

"Most of them answer that they think they got it from Tacloban," Petilla said during the tour inside the COVID-19 isolation facility.

In the case of Ishie, she said that before she found out that she was positive with COVID-19, her family attended a family gathering in her grandmother's house in Tacloban.

Another client, Josephine, 27, said that she suspected that it's in her work in Tacloban where she got the virus.

Josephine who works in a bakery in Tacloban said that a village close to her workplace was placed under lockdown due to cases of Covid-19. Some residents of the village would buy bread in them.

Another positive patient, a uniformed personnel who is with his son, who is a college student in a well-known university in Manila said that before testing positive with Covid-19, he went to Tacloban and visited some offices to process documents along with his son.

But despite these problem where most of the cases are local, Petilla said that they are able to contain the spread of the virus because of the guidelines and policy in place created by the local government.

"We cannot control it if the infection comes from outside the town, but can you imagine what will happened if we don't have protocol. This problem may get worst," he said.

"It's not the perfect facility and protocol but it resolves the problem. It maybe unorthodox, it may not following a certain standards that everybody is used to but at the end of the day, if this virus spread, we the residents of Palo are the one to be affected and I think we have the very right to make sure that this will not spread in our own way," he said.
