Tacloban-based farm makes dragon fruit planting as its main attraction

TACLOBAN CITY – A farm here in the city is opening its doors to local tourists in preparation for its plan to promote it as an agri-tourism destination.

Jose Castillejos Jr., owner and school administrator of Pitahaya Farm located in Barangay Salvacion, said that as part of their mission, they have sought for accreditation with the Technical Education School Development Authority (TESDA), and the Agricultural Training Institute (ATI) of the Department of Agriculture (DA).

He added that as part of their plan to develop their farm into an agri-tourism destination in the city, they will be constructing some amenities in their property that will cater to the needs of tourists.

Currently, the 1.2 hectare farm, which is mostly devoted to dragon fruits, is open to tourists during weekends to allow the management focus on teaching their students during their face-to-face class on weekdays.

During harvest season from May to November, tourists who visit the farm can do pick and pay for P250 per kilo of dragon fruits.

Tourists may also taste value-added dragon fruit products like dragon fruit shake, cheesecake, and pandesal (salt bread).

During peak season, they can harvest to as much as 40 kilos.

The farm has also vegetable produce including some chickens and producing vermicasts which is used as fertilizers.

Castillejos said that they started planting dragon fruits before November 8, 2013 but these were destroyed when super typhoon 'Yolanda' pummeled the city.

Although, the farm was flattened, Castillejos said that he was surprised when he visited that the dragon fruits survived the onslaught.

This inspired him to reopen his farm and plant more dragon fruits using the concept of reduce, reuse, and recycle, using scaffoldings from a collapsed covered court of a private school.

Since 2017, Pitahaya had become a farm school and has produced 15 batches with about 20 students from every batch coming from different places in the region.

When the pandemic hits the city, Castillejos disclosed that he shared his knowledge of planting dragon fruit to his neighbors who are also growing the plants. (ROEL T. AMAZONA)

Eyed as a prime tourist attraction in Matag-ob town Development of Bondari Park now underway

MATAG-OB, Leyte-Tourists and visitors who will be going to Bondari Peak, this town, will soon have more things to do and enjoy as development and improvement has started to make it a prime tourist destination.

Located around 10 kilometers from the town proper of Matag-ob, Bondari sits in a rolling terrain overlooking to the geothermal plant in Kananga town, and Kalanggaman Island in Palompon.

Its highest peak offers a picturesque view to watch sunrise and sunset for campers who wants to stay overnight in said property owned by a local businessman.

Bernardino 'Bernie' Tacoy, owner of the 60-hectare property, started the development of Bondari by inviting residents from 21 villages of the municipality to participate in the creation of a Bondari Peak Unity Garden.

Each garden will be located one kilometer apart from each other and to be planted of trees found on the villages.

The Bondari Park in Matag-ob, Leyte is poised to become one of the town's premier destination with its development now underway. One of its main attraction is the construction of a 'unity garden' wherein trees found in each of the 21 villages of the town are to be planted. (ROEL T. AMAZONA)

Some tree seedlings were also planted like the lapnisan, more known as Agar woods, inside the property to provide additional beauty to tourists who will visit the place.

Tacoy added that part of the development of Bondari is to construct two resorts, one that will cater to the masses, and the other high-end one.

While development of gardens in Bondari is still on-going, Tacoy said that tourists are free to visit the place to do picnic or even do overnight stay by camping.

He added that visitors should also be conscious by not leaving their garbage in Bondari when they leave.

Aside from picnic and camping, the breathtaking scenery of Bondari is also ideal for downhill bike trail and motocross. (ROEL T. AMAZONA)

With increasing COVID-19 cases, Naval diocese cancels Sunday masses in villages

TACLOBAN CITY-Due to the rising cases of coronavirus disease(COVID-19) in Biliran province, particularly in Naval, the provincial capital, Sunday masses in the villages have been cancelled by the Naval Diocese beginning last Sunday (Sept.19).

This was announced by the diocese on its post on its Facebook account which, however, said that Masses at the cathedral, located in Naval town, will still continue.

The diocese, which is under Bishop Rex Ramirez, also asked the faithful to pray for the intercession of their patron, Our Lady of the Most Holy Rosary for health and safety in the communities.

As of this writing, it appears that the advantage really of vaccination is just for one's personal protection from COVID-19; so that when it infects the vaccinated person, the latter will not suffer serious symptoms that could lead to death.

Even the freedom to be able to travel around without any bother from health authorities is not guaranteed to fully vaccinated persons. There are places where they are still made to go through screening procedures just like what the unvaccinated ones go through. Just because one has had this vaccine does not entitle him to disregard health restrictions.

The prior expectation of many that once vaccinated, one could not be infected by the virus anymore failed, for it turned out that, though vaccinated, one could still contract the virus when exposed to infected individuals. This explains why many vaccinated people still tested positive to COVID-19 on several occasions, in various places.

Not only that, but vaccinated people can still spread the virus to others through close contact, and this means spreading it to people through coughing, sneezing, talking, or simply exhaling the air off their nostrils. If this is the case, then it would mean that the virus could still get in and out of their bodies.

But then again, the only difference is that, if one is vaccinated, these viruses could no longer paralyze him with serious illness; whereas if one is unvaccinated, the disease could turn serious and possibly claim one's life. Somehow, there is still wisdom in vaccination despite these limitations.

For those who say that Martial Law years were the best of times, the challenging question is, are you willing for the same scenario to be here again? Would you like Martial Law to be declared again today?

By declaring martial law, Marcos suspended the writ of habeas corpus and also the 1935 Constitution, dissolved Congress and padlocked the doors to the Batasang Pambansa, and assuming both legislative and executive powers. Proclamation No. 1081 was dated September 21, 1972 but it was actually signed on September 17.

Martial law involves the temporary substitution of military authority for civilian rule and is usually invoked in time of war, rebellion, or natural disaster. When martial law is in effect, the military commander of an area or country has unlimited authority to make and enforce laws. Typically, the imposition of martial law accompanies curfews, the suspension of civil law, civil rights, habeas corpus, and the application or extension of military law or military justice to civilians. However, during Marcos time Martial law, only writ of habeas corpus was suspended. Civilian and military courts

Veggies supply finds solution in edible landscaping

Filipinos top among the Asian vegetable eating people. They owe it to its location in the tropics where varieties of plant species grow (and, for that matter animal species are found), for their varied uses to humans and non-humans alike. Their (Filipinos) lives and economy are agriculture-based thanks to the plants and animals growing/roaming in its 7,100+ islands, both edible and non-edible species.

For being voracious vegetables-eating people, the American GIs were heard commenting by saying “God damn it, Filipinos are eating grasses.” In some rural areas, vegetables (in various ethnic preparations) are eaten in tandem with rice or corn. This explains for the sturdiness of Filipino farmers, as strong as their grass-fed farm work animals, e.g. carabaos, cows, horses.

One interesting news item appearing in a national broad-sheet entitled “Edible landscaping a food security solution”, is nothing new, to me at least! The issue came out as an off-shot of my fellow Mom-busho (Japanese scholarship student) Dr. Fernando Sanchez, Jr., a professor and project leader of the UP-LB-College of Agriculture and Food Science (CAFS). Some protocols suggested by the professor-researchers are site selection of Landscaping areas, coupled with design, implementation and maintenance of the landscape.

Critical is the choice of veggie species for both “softscapes” and “hardscapes”. Planters are advised to follow the 70 – 30 ratio of species for planting: 70% edible (nutritious) and 30% ornamental plants. Also, important protocol is identifying its biophysical and microclimatic conditions. Thus, “normally, we have pinakbet vegetables in warm areas and chop suey veggies in cold areas.” Other suggested protocols include design of area – wherein forms, colors, lines and texture, balance, contrast, proportions, emphasis and harmony, should be observed.

Sanchez said “edible landscaping aims to achieve the four goals of aesthetics, see Veggies /page 15 ...

Why we exalt the cross

THE Feast of the Exaltation of the Holy Cross of Christ (September 14) gives us the occasion to consider once again the importance of the cross in our life. Let’s savor some words of the readings used on that feast’s Mass. (cfr Jn 3,13-17)

“Just as Moses lifted up the serpent in the desert, so must the Son of Man be lifted up, so that everyone who believes in him may have eternal life...For God did not send his Son into the world to condemn the world, but that the world might be saved through him.”

These words certainly tell us how the Cross of Christ embodies God’s love and mercy for us in spite of our undeniable wretchedness. It’s where we can deal properly with our wounded, sinful condition here on earth.

Yes, Christ preached. He performed miracles. But in the end, he had to offer his life on the cross because no matter what he did, our sins are such that they simply cannot be undone and forgiven through the preaching of the truths of our faith and the tremendous effects of the miracles. Christ has to offer his life on the cross!

We might ask, if Christ is God, why did he have to go through all that suffering and death? Why not just say, “Everything is now all right, guys.” As God, nothing is impossible with him. With the movement of his will, with a flick of his hand, everything would be as it should be.

Be that as it may, the fact is that Christ chose the way the Father wanted it. “Not my will, but yours be done,” Christ said. (Lk 22,42) And I imagine the reason behind this is because God respects our human nature as it is, as it has been created by him, capable of loving and hating, and also capable of being faithful and unfaithful and faithful again after some conversion.

The return to fidelity, given our nature, will unavoidably involve suffering and death which Christ took to himself. It shows us the way of how to go about these consequences of our sins.

That is why, it’s always recommendable to meditate often on the passion, death and resurrection of Christ, so we would learn to have some healthy abhorrence against sin and temptations, as well as to develop the capacity to suffer calmly with Christ to make up for our unavoidable sins.

This is the purpose of the cross in our life. It is to instil in us the proper attitude and virtues with respect to our sin, before it is committed and also after it is committed. It’s in the Cross of Christ where we can find divine mercy and the fullness of our redemption.

It might be useful to repeat in our mind, heart and lips that reassuring psalm of God’s mercy and the fullness of our redemption (Ps 130,7), so that we would always be motivated by God’s love in all our earthly affairs, especially when we encounter difficulties, setbacks, failures, and even temptations and sin.

That would surely enliven our faith and keep us united with God in all the events of our day. We should have no doubt whatsoever that on the part of God, everything is already given to us so we can be what we ought to be—children of God, sharers of God’s life. Any doubt in this regard can only come from the devil.

The P100,000,000.00 Cyber Libel Case

Wow, talagang “Big Time” na ang former poor boy from Sarangani Province of Mindanao, now boxing champ, Senator Emmanuel “Manny” Pacquiao.

He just filed a P 100,000,000.00 Pesos-esos Cyber Libel case against Pastor Apollo C. Quiboloy of the Kingdom of Jesus Christ denomination, based in Barangay Tamayong in Davao City.

At 6% Filing Fee paid by the filing complainant (Pacquiao), an amount not refundable whether complainant wins or loses the case, is P 6,000,000.00 (at P 100 Million Pesos at 6%).

My gosh, this Columnist has never written a column with so many zeros! Heheh ...

The lawyers of Pastor Quiboloy asked on live television, why a Cyber Libel case was filed against his client, when the Pastor, as an ordinary citizen of the country, only asked about the “latest development, in connection with the P 3.5 Billion Philippine Sports Training Center which Senator Pacquiao sponsored, which became a law!”

Pastor Quiboloy just wanted to know if the proposed P 3.5 Billion Philippine Sports Center would be built in the Municipality of Anabel, somewhere in Mindanao or in Bataan in Central Luzon. -- a non-libelous

Region 8 MSMEs back to face-to-face trade fair

TACLOBAN CITY – Some 41 micro, small, and medium enterprises (MSMEs) in Eastern Visayas have joined the first face-to-face annual regional trade fair held since the pandemic broke out last year.

The four-day trade fair that kicked off on Thursday, is eyeing to generate at least PHP1.5 million sales, by linking producers with institutional buyers, said Department of Trade and Industry (DTI) regional director Celerina Bato.

Dubbed Bahandi Food and Fashion Fair, the sales event has opened at the Robinsons Place Tacloban, participated by 41 MSMEs from Leyte, Biliran, Samar, Eastern Samar, and Northern Samar provinces.

“Our MSMEs have been looking forward to this face-to-face trade fair since the virtual trade fair last year was not that effective due to unstable internet connection,” Bato said in an interview Friday.

The DTI will hold the Bahandi trade fair every month until December, giving all government-assisted MSMEs the chance to showcase their products inside a mall.

Holding four trade fairs will help ensure compliance with minimum public health standards, according to Bato.

“We are amazed that despite pandemic, we have new products in the region and their packaging has improved. Our challenge to producer-exhibitors is to hit or exceed the target sales of P1.5 million,” she added.

Bahandi, the local term for wealth, is a regular trade fair organized by the Department of Trade and Industry in malls based in the National Capital Region and Tacloban City.

The last face-to-face Bahandi trade fair was held in 2019 at SM Megamall in Mandaluyong City.

Among their responsibilities, the four were tasked to provide food items. They also claimed to organize and mobilize farmers against the government by using issues they could relate like low prices of abaca and copra and the rising cost of basic commodities.

Brig. Gen. Zosimo Oliveros, the commanding officer of the 802nd Infantry Brigade based in Ormoc City, lauded the effort of village chairman Aguillon in facilitating for the surrender of the former rebels.

“I’m expressing my sincere appreciation to the barangay task force end ELCAC (local communist armed conflict) of San Francisco Mabuhay and profound thanks to the four former couriers of CPP-NPA-NDF terrorists for returning back to the folds of the law,” he said.

Oliveros also called on active rebels to give up on their armed struggle against the government and avail all the benefits being provided to them like livelihood and financial assistance.

“You must realize that the people are no longer supporting your lost and senseless cause. It is about time to return to the folds of the law and to rejoin with the mainstream of the society. Your time is up actually,” he said.

Veterinary office to observe World Rabies Day with series of activities

TACLOBAN CITY- The City Veterinary Office (CVO) here will conduct free anti-rabies vaccination, deworming, vitamins, spay or ligate and neuter to animals.

According to Dr. Eunice Alcantara, CVO head, the activity will be held at the astrodome from 8 am to 2 pm on September 28, coinciding the World Rabies Day on that day.

Alcantara said that the services will be on a first come first serve basis. Thus clients are advised to register their pets at their official Facebook account.

She said that about 50 male dogs for neuter and five female dogs for spay will be accommodated.

Alcantara said that since the engagement is limited, she encourages pet owners to avail of the services.

She also asked the pet owners not to give food or water to their animals eight hours before the schedule of surgery.

to strengthen the bridge takes the top priority," the statement added.

The replacement of the bolts in the arch portion of the bridge will be completed by the DPWH in December 2021.

Amigo will also be able to complete the remaining five percent of its deliveries by that time.

"The opening of the light and sound of the San Juanico Bridge has been highly anticipated by everyone. At the same time, we call on everyone's understanding that it is better to err on the side of caution for the safety of our commuters and the public that traverses the bridge," the statement said.

"Rest assured that all of the concerned parties are working together for the benefit of everyone and for the completion of the necessary activities to showcase the significance and the beauty of the San Juanico Bridge," it added.

The Tourism Infrastructure Enterprise Zone Authority (TIEZA) in 2017 granted the request of the provincial government of Samar and the DOT-8 to fund the San Juanico Bridge Aesthetic amounting to P80 million.

The project was awarded to Amigo Entertainment Technologies Incorporated in March 2019.

As of August 2021, Amigo was able to implement 95 percent of its commitment.

As counterpart to the project the provincial government, contributed a project equity amounting to P15 million awarded to Samelco II and Asiaphil, Incorporated for the installation of a separate high voltage power supply facility that will be used for the operation of the lights and sound show.

Various dry-run testing were also conducted to make sure that expected technical issues will be addressed and resolved.

The project was earlier targeted to be completed earlier this year but with series of problems encountered notably the restrictions caused by the coronavirus disease pandemic, its completion was affected.

functionality, health and wellness, and self-sufficiency." Further, he (Sanchez), observed that "for nearly 30 years the Philippines has been suffering from under-nutrition in our country." However, "based on a 2019 Expanded National Nutritional Survey of the DOST and Food and Nutrition Research Institute (FNRI), there was a substantial increase in the vegetable intake of Filipino adults regardless of household income."

Edible landscaping reminds me about my late father's comment while mother was tending to her garden with ornamental plants, jokingly saying "its better if veggies are planted, instead for our meals!" Of course, in an adjoining lot father and myself had our veggie plot planted to pitsay, tomato, eggplant, native garlic (Ahos – Waraynon), peanut, etc. – when you look at nanay's ornamental garden and our plotted veggies, would simulate an edible landscape as espoused by UPLB.

are effectively the same. Civilians defying martial law may be subjected to military tribunals (court-martial). This 14-year period in Philippine history is remembered for the administration's record of human rights abuses particularly targeting political opponents, student activists, journalists, religious workers, farmers, and others who fought against the Marcos dictatorship. Based on the documentation of Amnesty International, Task Force Detainees of the Philippines, and similar human rights monitoring entities, historians believe that the Marcos dictatorship was marked by 3,257 known extrajudicial killings, 35,000 documented tortures, 77 'disappeared', and 70,000 incarcerations. (Wikipedia).

We have known several people , real people whose loved ones were purposely disappeared and killed , we have heard accounts of personal experiences of tortures and incarceration and ultimately near death experiences from the real persons (not fake news) who continually live today

If those were the best of times and as the revisionists swear the era was the golden years of our nation , we must be ready to go back to the era . We must be ready to have weak institutions, public officials subordinated by military authorities, curfew , searches weaponized and patronage politics the main menu . We will go back to the times when arbitrary arrests due to suspicion are deemed enough to deprive a person of liberty . We must be ready to go back when we close our windows and doors at nightfall.

While we cringed and grew fearful of the descend to those dark times , the youth who had never experience a single day of that fourteen year era , all shout to the heavens that it was the best of times ? Can you post a mocking, scathing criticism in your facebook wall if this is Martial Law ? Can you make meme of authorities as to their looks and actions ?

The said era in our history was painful and perhaps this is the reason why we chose to forget . But for those who profess that those were the best of times , think again , you will be lying if there is not a single cell in your body that puke because your mouth speaks that way !

Deadline for filing COCs is until 5 pm only of October 8, says Comelec

MAASIN CITY- Those in the running for various elective positions at the local level in the province, city, and municipalities, better be informed that the last hour on the last day of filing for certificates of candidacy is until 5 pm.

It is no longer midnight on the last filing day, unlike before, according to the Commission on Elections (Comelec).

"Comelec has passed Resolution 10717, the guidelines for filing certificates of candidacy, from October 1 to 8, from eight in the morning to five in the afternoon. It is no longer like before when COC filing can still be done by 12 midnight, no more," Atty. Antonio Gulay, provincial election supervisor clarified.

Regarding substitution of candidates, this can only be possible on situations when the filer died, withdraws his/her candidacy, or be disqualified, and the deadline on this is on November 15, Gulay said during a Kapihan sa PIA forum.

There will be no substitution for independent candidates, he added.

Meanwhile, for new voters in the city, Atty. Joshua Margate, city election officer, appealed that they should not wait for the last day of registration on September 30, as has been the culture, but make use of the remaining days of the month.

The City Comelec Office is open from 8 a.m. 7 p.m., Monday to Friday, and 8 a.m. 5 p.m. for Saturdays and holidays in order to cater new registrants, which include those who will turn 18 years old on May 9, 2022, transferees from other places into the city, and change of names, especially for newly-married ladies, Margate explained.

There were 57,000 registered voters in the city during the 2019 elections, but this number was reduced to 50,000 after cleansing of lists for those who never voted twice and those who died.

New registrants, however, numbered about 5,000 at the last count, so it could be possible there will be the same number of voters, more or less, in the city for next year's pandemic-themed voting, Margate shared.

to get maximum protection against the severe form of COVID-19."

The direct deliveries of vaccines from the Tacloban airport to several local government units in the region is expected to step up the government's COVID-19 vaccination rollout, protecting more individuals from catching severe infections and deaths from the coronavirus.

The health department reminds everyone, including those vaccinated, to continue to adhere to public health measures, such as physical distancing, wearing of face masks and face shields, hand and respiratory hygiene, and ensuring good ventilation by opening windows and doors where possible, as vaccines do not replace the important preventive measures that are being practiced.

On Monday (September 20), the DOH reported of 124 new COVID-19 cases, pushing the region's total cases to 46,031 cases.

It also reported of 43,239 recoveries with active cases at 2,307 and total deaths to 485.
