Death toll increases; execs call for help

JOEY A. GABIETA

TACLOBAN CITY- The number of fatalities due to the multiple landslide incidents in Baybay City is expected to increase as its death toll has now reached 25 as of Tuesday afternoon.

Heavy rains continue to affect Baybay, a city of more than 111,000 inhabitants, which hampers continuous rescue and retrieval operations in villages hit by landslides.

The bad weather, spawned by tropical depression 'Agaton' has also resulted in the occurrence of landslides, the latest of which occurred in the village of Bidlinan which has 428 residents.

Melani Aboyme, a survivor, said that she could not believe that their village of Kantagnos was hit by a deadly landslide.

The 37-year old mother to three children said that she and some residents of the village went to the village evacuation in the afternoon of April 10 due to strong winds and heavy rains due to Agaton.

"But in the morning of the following day, we decided to return home thinking that the typhoon is over. But around 9 am, we heard a loud bang followed by a whirlpool. Then came a rush of mud with uprooted trees and boulders coming from the mountain. I don't know what exactly happened next as my family went out of our house to seek shelter in a house located on a higher grounds," Aboyme said in a phone interview.

While she and her husband, Quirimón, 46, and their three children ages 15, 12, and 7, survived the onslaught of the landslide,

U.S. and Philippine forces successfully conclude 37th Balikatan

U.S. Marines with 3d Reconnaissance Battalion, 3d Marine Division and Philippine Marines with Force Reconnaissance Group conduct a close quarters battle range exercise at Marine Barracks Gregorio Lim in Cavite during Balikatan 22.

Manila—Members of the Armed Forces of the Philippines (AFP) and the U.S. military gathered April 8 to celebrate the successful completion of Balikatan 2022, the 37th iteration of the annual bilateral exercise.

Over the last two weeks, nearly 9,000 exercise participants from the AFP and U.S. military trained shoulder-to-shoulder from the northern coast of Luzon to Palawan, focusing on maritime security, amphibious operations, live-fire training, urban operations, aviation operations, counterterrorism, and humanitarian assistance and disaster relief.

“After two years of a global pandemic, U.S. and Philippine forces have come together to complete one of the largest Balikatan exercises ever held,” said U.S. Embassy in the Philippines Chargé d’Affaires ad interim Heather Variava. “This is a testament to the strength of the U.S.-Philippine alliance and the shared priorities of our countries.”

“The completion of yet another successful Balikatan is a clear example of our shared commitment to advancing peace and stability in the Indo-Pacific region,” said Brig. Gen. Joseph Clearfield, U.S. Marine Corps Forces Pacific Deputy Commander. “As a result of our mutual efforts, our militaries have grown together in friendship, and we are better prepared to respond as one cohesive team to any crisis or challenge.”

“The experience gained from exercise Balikatan complemented our security cooperation endeavors and helped enhance existing mutual security efforts,” said Maj. Gen. Charlton Sean Gaerlan, AFP exercise director. “Although there were limitations brought about by the pandemic, it is highly commendable that the exercise pushed through and generated a favorable outcome.”

U.S. and Philippine exercise forces employed more than 50 aircraft, four ships, 10 amphibious craft, four HIMARS rocket system launchers, and four Patriot missile systems during Balikatan 22. This year’s exercise also included approximately 40 personnel from the Australian Defense Force.

During Balikatan 22, U.S. Army Patriot missile systems were employed in amphibious operations in the Philippines for the first time. The exercise also saw the inaugural deployment of the U.S. Marine Corps’ 3rd Marine Littoral Regiment (3d MLR), which was established in Hawaii on March 3.

AFP and U.S. forces experimented with sensors and fire support, and used expeditionary advanced bases (EABs) as the framework for an integrated coastal defense. Over the course of eight days, the 3d MLR partnered with the Philippine Marine Corps Coastal Defense Regiment and provided command and control over multiple EABs across northern Luzon. This coastal defense was further enhanced by two Patriot Missile Batteries from the U.S. Army’s 1st Battalion, 1st Air Defense Artillery Regiment and HIMARS rocket system from 3rd Battalion, 12th Marines.

The U.S. Navy and Philippine Navy played key roles providing sealift and off-shore support.

The AFP and U.S. military also conducted multiple humanitarian and civic assistance projects, including the renovation of four elementary schools, multiple community health engagements, and the exchange of advanced emergency rescue and lifesaving techniques. These construction projects, health engagements, and community relations events improved local infrastructure, facilitated the exchange of lifesaving medical skills, and strengthened ties between local communities and Philippine and American military forces.

While Balikatan 22 comes to a close, the AFP and U.S. forces will continue to train and stand together routinely during other exercises and initiatives throughout the year to promote readiness, interoperability, friendship, and security.

Balikatan, Tagalog for “shoulder-to-shoulder,” is a longstanding bilateral exercise highlighting the deep-rooted partnership between the Philippines and the United States. (PR)

Senate bet vows to strengthen country’s justice system to weed out criminalities and corruptions

TACLOBAN CITY—Former Presidential Anti-Corruption Commission chief Greco Belgica emphasized the need to continue the policies of President Rodrigo Duterte, especially on his campaign against crimes, illegal drugs, and corruption.

And for this to be realized is to strengthen the country’s justice system by hiring more judges, prosecutors, and investigators.

“I will strengthen the justice system so that cases can be decided quickly. I will strengthen the very passive anti-corruption law because we will not talk about progress, economic recovery, pandemic recovery if it continues; if there are drugs and crime on the streets” Belgica, who is running for the Senate, said.

FORMER PRESIDENTIAL ANTI-CORRUPTION COMMISSION CHIEF GRECO BELGICA

As for anti-corruption efforts, he said agencies should work together for the campaign to be successful.

Belgica said that if given a chance to be in the Senate, he will sponsor a law that will establish a national anti-corruption council and to be attached before the Office of Ombudsman.

That law will also lead to the appointment of an anti-corruption police in every local government so we are more active in building up cases, entrapment, and arrest, he added

Belgica further added that he will do extra efforts in his campaign because of all the presidentiables no one was vocal on its support to the continuation of the anti-drugs efforts of the president.

CATARMAN, Northern Samar—The Northern Samar Police Acting Provincial Director, PCol. Alfredo Tadeafa assures the safety of individuals considered as ‘very important personalities (VIPs)’ visiting or residents of the province.

Tadeafa made this assurance as 32 uniformed personnel participated a 5-day seminar on how to handle or secure these VIPs that ended last March 31.

The orientation was also in line with the security preparations for the upcoming May 9 elections wherein some local candidates availed of personal security protection before the Commission on Elections.

“This is also part of our election preparations here in Northern Samar as there are candidates who are facing threats to their lives,” Tadeafa said.

OVERWHELMED. Presidential aspirant, former senator Ferdinand 'Bongbong' Marcos, Jr. turned emotional after his grand rally in Tacloban City last April 9 was attended by over 210,000 supporters. (VER NOVENO)

TACLOBAN CITY- Presidential frontrunner, former senator Ferdinand 'Bongbong' Marcos, Jr. vowed to unite the country once he is elected the next president of the country.

This unity theme or 'pagkakaisa' has been the center piece of Marcos campaign which he reiterated when he held a grand rally here in the city last May 9.

Prior to his Tacloban rally, Marcos and his UniTeam held similar crowd-drawing rallies in Baybay and Ormoc with officials and influential political clans from these cities giving their support to the former senator.

In Tacloban, Marcos, widely known as 'BBM', faced around 200,000 people despite the heavy rains spawned by tropical depression Agaton.

"I really felt the loved, thank you so much" said Marcos.

Marcos' running-mate, Davao City Mayor and presidential daughter Sara Duterte Carpio, was not present as she barnstorm Luzon to cover more areas as election draws near.

Present among the Senate lineup of the UniTeam were lawyer Larry Gadon, Senator Miguel Zubiri, former presidential spokesperson Harry Roque, Senator Sherwin Gatchalian, former Public Works Secretary Mark Villar, former senator Jinggoy Estrada, former Quezon City mayor Herbert Bautista, and actor Robin Padilla who all appealed to the huge crowd to rally behind them and vote straight come the May 9 elections.

Also present were Leyte Rep. Ferdinand Martin Romualdez and his wife, Rep. Yedda Marie Romualdez of the Tingog party-list group and Tacloban City Mayor Alfred Romualdez, among others.

Marcos is expected to win by a landslide in Leyte and even in the entire region, banking on the support of the four out of six governors of the region and his mother, former first lady Imelda Marcos who is from Leyte.

Senate bet Villar says name recall, and good implementation of the Build Build Build program pushes his candidacy

TACLOBAN CITY- Former Public Works and Highways Secretary Mark Villar said that his high rating on various surveys among those running for the Senate could be attributed to the good feedback of the Build Build Build program and also name recall.

Villar, who is joining the Uniteam of their today campaign sorties in Eastern Visayas that is end today (Saturday), said that it is but correct for him to push the continuation of the said program.

The Build Build Build

program is the centerpiece infrastructure program of President Rodrigo Duterte of which Villar oversaw for the past five years before he resigned to run for senator in this May 9 elections.

"That is one of the reasons that pushed me to run for the Senate. Kaya isa sa mga dahilan na medyo mataas tayo sa surveys dahil maganda ang program na pinu-push ko and of course, sa family name ko; maganda ang legacy ng mga magulang ko kaya gusto kung ipagpatuloy at makatulong," he said in an interview.

The Senate bet is the son of former Senate president and the country's richest man, Manny Villar, and Cynthia Villar, a sitting senator.

According to Villar, because of the various infrastructure projects implemented under the program, more than 6 million people were able to find jobs and 1.5 million are expected to land jobs with the remaining projects before the end of the term of Duterte administration this June 30.

Meantime, Villar said that he completely supports the unity theme being called by his presidential aspirant, former senator Ferdinand Bongbong' Marcos, Jr.

MARK VILLAR

He insisted that unity is an important key for the country to move forward and achieve further development.

"Kailangan natin ng unity ngayon. Iyon ang pinaka-importante sa lahat. So, para sa akin, isa ang unity as a key area for progress," Villar said

"Nakita ko yan sa Build Build Build. Kailangan natin ng teamwork; kailangan natin ng unity in government," Villar added, citing their Boracay cleanup which was supported by other government agencies like the Department of Environment and Natural Resources and the Department of Interior and Local Government.

Based on the March 17 to 22 survey of the Pulse Asia, Villar ranks 3 to 7 with a rating of 52.4.

Decent proposals

Presidential aspirant Panfilo "Ping" Lacson recently bared that he was approached with an offer to catapult his VP bet, Sen. Tito Sotto to a likely victory in exchange for his withdrawal from the race—an offer which he found to be inappropriate.

It turned out that the same offer to withdraw has reportedly been made to other presidential candidates, with almost the same reaction as Lacson had. As a result, then, no action has been made to heed those offers. Probably, in the coming days, said withdrawals may indeed come, depending on the turnout of surveys, campaign activities, and the ongoing absentee voting of OFWs.

It's a kind of desperate attempt, but this effort to unify the opposition seems to be the last thing to resort to in order to prevent the BBM-Sara tandem from finally emerging as victors. The disqualification cases didn't work; the "magnanakaw" narrative no longer takes effect; the tax evasion issues make no headway. Indeed, whatever the Yellows and the Pinks do, they just cannot block the poignant momentum of BBM's candidacy.

At the moment, no presidential aspirant is agreeable to a coalition or power-sharing scheme that the main opposition offers. They find it selfish and arrogant. They are for fair play, just allowing the electorates to freely vote from their conscience. To them, no tricks, dirty schemes, and deceitful means ought to be employed. They are bent on finishing the race, win or lose as theirs was just to provide the voters with options, not a selfish alternative fielded for no other reason but to prevent a popular candidate from winning.

With just three weeks left prior to the May 9 national elections, more and more efforts are needed to catch up with the leading aspirants through face-to-face and online campaigns. Should there be withdrawals from certain presidential bets, the opposition still doesn't have the guarantee that the left-behind supporters will eventually support them. As of now, in fact, surveys show that even with the combined percentages of voters' share from all the aspirants, the leading candidate is still way ahead.

Outsmarting disasters

Prior to writing this, I was informed by my daughter that her friends from Baybay and Southern Leyte were reporting in their group chat that families and even a whole barangay were covered by landslides as a result of heavy rainfall brought about by the tropical storm, Agaton.

These were unconfirmed reports, perhaps just passed on by word of mouth, but if these were true occurrences, then these are serious concerns, indeed. And if the disaster-response agencies from the government haven't been there, they must rush to the affected areas for survivors, for rescue operations. The rest of the authorities should conduct retrieval efforts, too, knowing that floods could carry cadavers up to long distances.

That's the problem with prolonged rainfall—it softens the soil and could then cause mountainsides to collapse, creating an avalanche. As the wet soil makes a swift motion down, it could bring with it uprooted trees, unearthed rocks, and many other heavy materials whose impact could ruin human infrastructures along the way, or in its landing area.

That's exactly why disaster coordinating agencies in partnership with media companies keep on reminding the people never to live in risky and disaster-prone areas. When heavy rains come, they issue warnings and precautions for people to vacate to safer locations. It's for these people's safety, which they must prioritize above all.

ERC approves VMC to operate 40-W Biomass facility

The Victorias Sugar Milling Co. Inc. (VMC) received approval from the Energy Regulatory Commission (ERC) to operate a 40-megawatt (MW) biomass-generation power plant in Negros Occidental.

The provisional approval was contained in the ERC letter dated March 10, 2022, to operate for one year from March 10, 2022 to March 9, 2023. In the same letter, it specifically grant provisional authority “to operate its biomass-generation power plant with feed-in tariff eligible capacity of 21.450-MW and its 2 x 2-MW black start diesel engine generating units.” Also, VMC informed about an ERC approved authority “to develop and own transmission point to point (IP2P) facilities for its own use, and to link its power plant to the Visayan Grid.”

The VMC transmission facilities include a 50-megavolt ampere sub-station, a 69 (kilovolt-KV) switching station, and a 2.4 kilometer 69-KV single circuit transmission line. Further, the VMC’s power generation business registered a net income of P1.47 million in the first quarter of the 2022 crop year – lower than P2.,128 million registered in 2021.

The VMC is into integrated raw and refined sugar manufacturing as well as food processing and real estate business. The company reported a 54.6percent increase in its net income in the three months of its current crop year to P141.3 million driven by the high demand for ethanol and refined sugar – its Gross profit jumped to P243.4 million.

I am impressed about the VMC performance as a sugar miller and as I veer toward our Ormoc and Kananga, Leyte sugar millers, wonder whether the VMC’s encouraging business statistics could be replicated in the province. So doing would find our marginalized ‘sagadas’ cum sugarcane laborers as beneficiaries. Again, it’s a matter of appreciating what science, specifically R & D can do to the country’s sugar industry.

Living the Easter spirit

THE joyous celebration of Easter Sunday clearly tells us that Christ indeed as risen! That’s why we sing, Alleluia, alleluia. As a psalm would put it: “This is the day that the Lord has made. Let us rejoice and be glad in it.” (118,24)

With his resurrection, he has conquered sin and death, and has given us a new life in him. We are now a new creation, with the power from Christ to conquer sin and death and everything else that is not in keeping with our dignity as children of God.

As St. Paul would put it, “If we died with Christ, we believe that we will also live with Him.” (Rom 6,8) And he continued, “For we know that since Christ was raised from the dead, He cannot die again. Death no longer has dominion over him.” (6,9)

And so, we have every reason that we can live forever in Christ over whom death no longer has dominion. In spite of whatever, we have every reason to be happy and confident, as long as we are faithful to Christ.

With the celebration of Easter, we are told by our Christian faith that we are made new. We are now a new creation. And to make ourselves new again after we have fallen into sin and thus putting ourselves in the system of getting old and dying, we need to be forgiven, to receive God’s mercy.

Christ’s death on the cross and his resurrection actually represent the ultimate of divine mercy and forgiveness. His death represents his bearing and assuming all the sins of men, from that of Adam and Eve to the last sin that still has to be committed, of the last man who still has to be born. His resurrection represents his victory over sin and death. His death and resurrection therefore comprise the ultimate of divine mercy.

There’s just a very interesting passage in the Book of Lamentation in the Old Testament that can give videos to dominate its life, lastly I would say these sector can be the swing votes that would deliver the win for our political intramural now unfolding. To me they are the Unreachable Stars because they may be the needed sector to deliver a victory for the candidates who’s over reliance to the online and social media campaign had left these sectors to chance.

Thus, they the candidates may be in for a surprise, these group of Unreachable Stars can deliver the numbers or the sympathy to create an edge among the many choices that had presented their intentions to the people. They must be the secret weapon that can be unleashed, they may be the factor towards the victory the politicians seek. It would be wise to court and convince them.

ever in Christ over whom death no longer has dominion. In spite of whatever, we have every reason to be happy and confident, as long as we are faithful to Christ.

There’s just a very interesting passage in the Book of Lamentation in the Old Testament that can give more forcefulness to this divine mercy that is responsible for making us a new creation.

It says: “Through the LORD’s mercies we are not consumed, because His compassion fails not. They are new every morning Great is your faithfulness.” (Lam 3,22-23)

Let’s remember that in this Easter season, we are called to become an Easter person. And the way is laid open for us to be so. It’s for us to take it up and go the distance.

To be an Easter person is first of all a gift from God. It’s his divine will for us, since we are his image and likeness, and adopted children of his. For sure, we achieve the fullness of our being Easter persons in heaven. But here on earth, we need to work it out. We have to move toward it.

The grace for this purpose is given to us abundantly. Everything that we need to attain this goal is provided by God’s providence. But we have to correspond. New wine requires new wineskins too. And as St. Augustine once said: “He who created us without us, cannot save us without us.”

To be an Easter person is for us to realize that as persons we need to unify and integrate all the parts and aspects of our life, with God through Christ in the Spirit as the principle, means and end of such unity and integration. What we should try to avoid is to be fragmented in these parts and aspects. In other words, it is for us to live a unity of life in Christ.

they lost her niece, Marie Ashley Balicuatro,15.

According to her, Marie Ashley, was drifted by the raging landslide. Her brother, Aljun,12, survived. The siblings are with them as their parents are separated.

“We are really in shock and in despair. We never thought that this will happen to us. So many were dead in our village. My three young children could not sleep. A loud sound like even coming from a vehicle jolts them and makes them cry. They are now afraid of rain,” Aboyme said.

She said that as far as she knew, about 11 from their village have been confirmed to have died due to the three landslide incidents preceded by a whirlpool reason why the devastation in their village was massive.

At present, they are living in an evacuation center as they have lost their house.

“We have lost everything. We have no home to return to,” she said. She, her husband, and three children suffered bruises.

On Tuesday, soldiers from the 802d Infantry Brigade headed by Col. Noel Vestuir were able to rescue 73 residents of Kantagnos, which is located more than two kms away from the city proper. Based on the Philippine Statistics Authority, the village has 605 residents persons due to the deadly and multiple landslides has now reached to 27- 21 from Barangay Bunga; five from Can-ipa, and one from Guadalupe.

Based on the report from the Baybay Emergency Response Team (Beru), the number of deaths is now at 22 of which 11 were women.

“We do hope that the number of fatalities will not increase but considering of the (big) number of missing persons, there is a possibility that it might increase,” Cano said in a phone interview.

According to her, rescue and retrieval operations are hampered by the continuous rains being experienced in the city and the difficulties in going to the affected villages due to landslides or flooding.

They have also monitored 105 people who were injured due to the rain-induced landslides of which 51 of them were admitted to various hospitals in the city.

The rest were out-patients one of them was a personnel of the city fire who helped in the rescue operations.

The flooding and landslide incidents have resulted in the dislocation of 3,721 families or 12,816 individuals in Baybay City.

Meantime, the deadly incidents resulted in several fund drives and donations coming from both public and private sectors amid calls from the city government and provincial officials headed by Vice Gov.Carlo Loreto who is from Baybay City.

Several local government units like Ormoc City have deployed their rescue groups to Baybay to help in the rescue and retrieval operations.

The Palo Archdiocese, meantime, asked the public not to give donations easily as they reported that some unscrupulous individuals have used the tragedy to ask for money. (WITH ROEL T. AMAZONA)

Not all people are quick to heed warnings, though. They have plenty of reasons to give: the need to guard their houses against thieves; they can't leave their animals behind; they'll just leave when danger is almost there, and many others. There is this tendency of people to also measure a storm's dangers based on its wind speed and gustiness. If it's a rather weak storm, they don't bother to evacuate.

Now, this is a problematic assessment. Some typhoons are weak, indeed, and are not packed with strong winds. But they bring with them accumulated clouds with which they shower the earth endlessly, causing waters to rise, rivers to swell, and mountains to collapse. No strong winds, just flash floods and the like, which in reality could be more disastrous.

It's okay to prepare for upcoming storms, but it is far better to avoid them. Preparing could be just bracing your house for wind gustiness, elevating your valuables inside the house in case of floods, or readying a life-saver such as a lifejacket. But these are yet risky, even suicidal. If you really want to evade tragic incidents, why not leave your negligible valuables behind and look for safer grounds? Surely, this is the best move.

Remember, you only have one life—don't gamble it. Don't run away from destruction when it's already there. Be extra careful, knowing that material things can still be replaced when lost, but the lives that you risk and eventually lose in times of disasters can never be retrieved or replaced. They're gone forever.

We ought to be wise in the face of catastrophes by avoiding them as much as we can prior to their deadly strikes. They're just brainless monsters; we are genius human beings.
