Comelec in EV prepares for the village polls

JOEY A. GABIETA

TACLOBAN CITY- The Commission on Elections (Comelec) here in the region continues its preparations for the barangay and Sangguniang Kabataan (SK) polls amid moves to cancel the elections until next year by several lawmakers and even local officials.

In fact, they are now in the midst of preparing the list of registered voters for the said balloting, Jenette Fariola Ruedas, the information officer of the Comelec-8, said.

She said that the posting of the final list of registered voters will be on September 6.

"The Commission on Elections continues its preparations for the barangay and SK elections while there is no law yet on the postponement. We hope that the decision will be out the soonest," Ruedas said.

It was learned from her that during the registration conducted by the Comelec last July, more than 253,000 prospective voters from various parts of the region have enlisted themselves.

The barangay and SK polls will be conducted manually and not electronically compared to the national balloting like the May 9, 2022 presidential elections.

Several lawmakers and even local officials are calling for the cancellation of the barangay and SK polls originally slated this December 5.

CATARMAN, Northern Samar- A regional trial court here has dismissed the election protest against Mayor Aurelio Rosales III filed by his losing opponent which questioned the validity of his proclamation as the duly-elected mayor of this town during the May 9, 2022 elections.

In the eleven-page decision, Judge Armando Rosadiño, the presiding officer of RTC-branch 20, dismissed the petition of Lope Dorado to declare as invalid the proclamation of Rosales as the duly elected mayor of the provincial capital of the province.

"The court hereby renders judgment, dismissing the election protest and declaring as valid the proclamation of Rosales as the duly elected municipal mayor of Catarman," the court said.

Dorado, who gained 22,863 total votes, lost to Rosales who garnered 24,811 votes during the recently-held balloting.

But in his protest, Dorado alleged "several irregularities and massive substitution" in the clustered precincts in five barangays - Polangi, Cag-abaca, Macagtas, General Malvar, and Imelda - citing that the voters counting machines (VCMs) did not count some of the votes for him and were counted instead to Rosales.

Dorado then requested the court to review the ballots in the said clustered precincts and

U.S. partners with DepEd to design learning spaces for the future

Manila-The United States government, through the U.S. Agency for International Development (USAID), trained over 50 officials from the Department of Education's (DepEd) central, regional, and division offices in designing and developing prototype learning spaces to address future challenges in the education sector during a workshop held from August 15 to 19.

"As our teachers and learners continue to face barriers to equitable and inclusive education, we must continuously explore ways to ensure that all have access to quality teaching and learning resources by sustaining gains in education technology and by supporting and enhancing teachers' leadership roles," USAID Philippines Education Director Dr. Thomas LeBlanc said.

The five-day workshop, organized in partnership with DepEd, was designed to help education personnel develop solutions for learning spaces that are contextualized and adaptable to address future challenges in education. Participants learned to carefully define issues to be addressed, empathize with teachers and learners, and conceptualize, design, and test a prototype learning space that addresses education-related needs.

To illustrate the outcomes of the workshop, the Schools Division Office of Tanauan, Batangas sought to address the issue of crowded classrooms by designing an interactive gazebo that enables students to explore nature while developing important technological and social skills.

DepEd Region 7 Assistant Regional Director Cristito Eco challenged participants to focus on innovative solutions. "When faced with problems or issues, do not think immediately of the cost. Think of possible solutions and your stakeholders," he said. "This futures thinking workshop helped us appreciate our partners in creating solutions together."

The United States government has been a key development champion in the Philippines for over 60 years, working with individuals, communities, and the government to improve everyday lives. Through its All Children Reading Philippines project, USAID aims to support DepEd in improving early grade reading skills for 100 million children. (PR)

Leyte provincial gov't partners with one of PH's biggest pharmaceutical companies to give vitamins to elementary pupils

PALO, Leyte – The provincial government of Leyte partners with pharmaceutical company Unilab in providing vitamins to all elementary students enrolled in public and private schools.

Under its project, dubbed as "Pangakong Proteksyon, Immunity for All Kids," Unilab will be giving vitamins to all students in more than 1,500 public and private elementary schools across the province.

The project was first launched in the province as part of their national campaign and of the 50th year celebration of Unilab Pediatrica, Nutriplex brand manager Chester Ivan Cruz said.

About 200 students from Palo 1 Central School in Palo; Tanauan 1 Central School in Tanauan; Daniel Z. Romualdez Memorial Elementary School in Tolosa; Alangalang 1 Central School in Alangalang; Babatngon Central School in Babatngon received the vitamins.

Nationwide, Unilab is targeting 10,000 schools to receive vitamins from the company.

"We want to expand the assistance that we provide to schools by providing and giving vitamins to children especially now that face-to-face class had started," Cruz said.

Through the vitamins that they are providing to the children, the company hopes that every student will be ready, protected, and will have strong immunity as they attend their day-to-day classes.

Leyte schools division superintendent Manuel Albaño hopes that with the vitamins provided by the company will help in recovering the learning losses of children during the two-year period wherein students learned their lessons through the modules learning system.

"We are very happy because we have this program that seek to address the health concern of our children," he said.

"We are grateful to the province of Leyte for its continuous support to the Department of Education and to Unilab. I hope that this is not the only partnership that we have. We hope to continue a partnership with you for the sake of our learners," Albaño added.

Governor Carlos Jericho 'Ico' Petilla said that aside from providing the children food to eat every day, they also need supplements like vitamins for their nutrition needs.

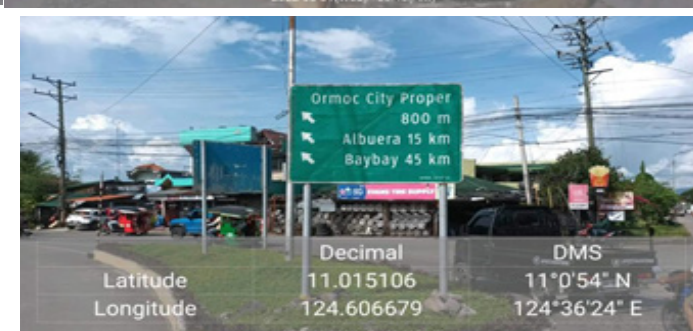

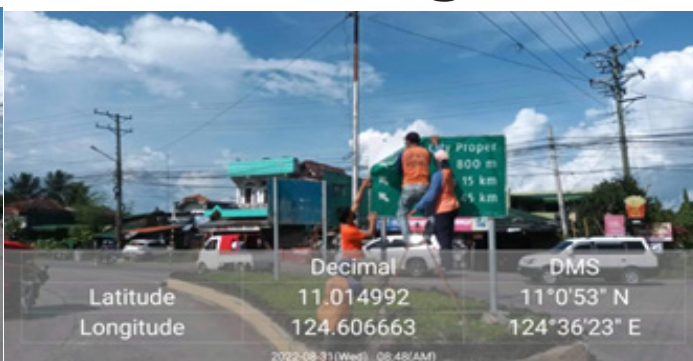

The governor called on the parents to ensure that their children will take vitamins regularly and at the same ensure that they are taking the correct nourishment required at their age.

Maasin city gov't puts ceiling prices on pork and other meat products

TACLOBAN CITY – The city mayor of Maasin has signed and issued an executive order an order re-adjusting the selling price ceiling for pork and other meat products and buying price ceiling for live hogs.

The order, as contained under Executive Order 34, took effect last Thursday (September 1).

The price adjustment of pork and meat products was issued after supply in the city improved after they were hit by the African Swine Fever (ASF) early this year.

“It has reached to the attention and observation that there is now (an) improvement in the supply of hogs compared to past months, due to the entry of other traders or hog raisers from Hinunangan, Tacloban, and Cebu City resulting to the reduction in the buying price of live hogs,” Mayor Nacional Mercado said in his order.

The new selling price of pork meat products in Maasin City cost P330 for regular meat from the previous P350; boneless pork is now at P340 from P360; meat roll, P350 from P370; pork leg, P230 from P250; pork liver, P230 from P250; and pork mascara, P220 from P240; while pork intestine, empelya, and bogs will remain P110 per kilo, and live pigs will cost P200 to P215 per kilo from P215 to P225.

For a live sow (‘anay’) buying price will be P100 per kilo while its regular meat price is P220; boneless is P240; meat roll, P250; feet P100; liver, P150; and mascara P200.

The price ceiling approved by the city government apply to all stores, meat shops, and establishment selling pork and other meat products in the city.

Meat vendors whose stalls are located outside the public markets and barangay public markets may ask for an exemption to price regulation by applying at the City Price Coordinating Council, provided that they follow the National Meat Inspection Service standards and that they have unusual high operational expenses due to procurement of air conditioning units, freezers, chiller, and other incidental expenses.

The order also states the hogs that are for public consumption shall be slaughtered at the slaughterhouse and that meat dealers and vendors shall only use a weighing scale approved by the City Treasurer’s Services Office.

Tacloban City causeway to be constructed before year ends

GOVERNMENT CENTER, PALO, Leyte- The Tacloban City causeway, tagged as one of the priority infrastructure projects here in Eastern Visayas, will soon be implemented by the Department of Public Works and Highways (DPWH) Region 8 before the year ends.

First of its kind here in Region 8, the Tacloban City Causeway has a total project cost of P3.4692 billion and will be constructed over the Cancabato Bay connecting Tacloban City Hall area to Kataisan Point of the Daniel Z. Romualdez Airport area in Barangay San Jose, Tacloban City.

This will serve as an alternate route for motorists from the city proper going to the airport, offering reduced travel distance, travel time, vehicle operation costs, and road accidents.

“Our Planning and Design Division (PDD) figures that the travel time using the original route usually takes up to 45 minutes, but traversing through this causeway, travel time will approximately take up to 10 minutes only,” Regional Director Allan S. Borromeo said.

This causeway which is a 4-lane road embankment spans approximately up to 2.557-kilometer in length with a bridge that stretches to 180 meters.

This project also has separate bike lanes, concrete canals, sidewalks, as well as wave deflectors on both sides.

RD Borromeo relayed that per project design, the alignment starts at Magsaysay Boulevard with elevation gradually increasing towards the bridge at the middle part of the causeway, as required for navigational clearance, and eventually slopes down towards the end of the alignment.

“This project is expected to offer an improved path user experience that attracts the local community and tourists, and will soon cater as an infrastructure that can be used by motorists seeking for a scenic drive, and by locals who prefer walking, running, and biking,” RD Borromeo said.

The official also added that the causeway project is designed to be sturdy

Already accustomed

At this time, classes are supposedly in full swing from elementary to college levels and, so far, things are going fine as regards the observance of health protocols imposed by the authorities—students and teachers come to school with their face masks on, some with health kits, and are compliant with what the school administrations prescribe.

To some students, reminders to observe health protocols are no longer necessary since they have already gotten used to them. They don't need to be told since they themselves are protective of their bodies against illnesses, particularly the COVID-19 virus. Moreover, their parents do not fail to urge them to follow the necessary, safety guidelines.

It seems that, though this pandemic may already be gone, the wearing of face masks would likely continue. It is because some people no longer trust the air in public places. The suspicion is there, especially since one does not know the whereabouts of people nearby. They may have been to other countries with high cases of virus infection, and are come to spread the same unknowingly.

In Cebu, the wearing of face masks is no longer mandatory starting September 1 of this year. But despite the lifting of this mandate of facemask wearing, many are still putting on masks, not to defy the easing up order obviously, but to protect themselves from the fact that the pandemic is still going on. And there is no prohibition on wearing facemasks if people so desire.

Surely, it is to people's advantage if they keep on wearing facemasks in public places knowing that viruses nowadays have become unpredictable. We don't know where and when they strike. And so, on school campuses now, the order to observe health protocols remains in place, for the safety and security of our campus figures.

As simple as that

I've been wondering if I'm doing it right or not, but when it comes to my treatment of ideas, and in getting these across to my students, or simply sharing these with others, I tend to be simplistic. In short, I simplify ideas for them.

Some say it's wrong based on some theoretical assumptions. But I'm not fully convinced because theories are nothing but claims—there is no finality with them; they have yet to be proven. Accordingly, learning is not effective when it's just readily and freely provided. Learners have to discover things themselves for learning to last and work best.

Well, let's put it this way. Let's imagine that learning is eating. And one is supposed to eat a banana in two ways: getting it from me readily, or trying to find a banana stalk to plant and wait for the fruit to come. Now, after eating those bananas—one taken with ease, and the other necessitating hard work and discovery—how would the person feel? Satisfied with his craving for bananas, right?

Now, why make that banana acquisition hard when it could be had simply, and easily, without wasting one's precious time? The satisfaction is the same, and the digestion time would likewise last similarly.

Call it spoon-feeding, but I never buy the idea of making simple things difficult and complicated for learners. I'm not that sadistic to do that. In fact, when it comes to in-depth ideas, I really strive hard to simplify them for learners. I feel that it's my duty to do so. I'm a teacher, an educator, and as such, that's exactly what I should do.

I don't call it spoon-feeding; I call it knowledge transfer. This knowledge transmission is not just limited to telling; I employ certain strategies to get ideas across to learners. It could be through

Commentary

FR. ROY CIMAGALA

The Christian detachment

TO be consistent to our Christian identity and vocation, we need to live a certain type of detachment that involves a certain self-emptying that would fill us completely with the spirit of Christ. That's because in the end what truly matters in our life is that we be so identified with Christ that we can rightly be called "another Christ."

Christ said this clearly. "If anyone comes to me without hating his father and mother, wife and children, brothers and sisters, and even his own life, he cannot be my disciple." (Lk 14,25)

Yes, it's a detachment that goes all the way to even be willing to lose our life. Such detachment can only show how much we believe, love and follow Christ. Indeed, it's a tremendous, hard, if not impossible requirement to fulfill, but, for sure, if Christ could do it himself, we too could also do it as long as we believe, love and follow him fully.

Obviously, to abide by that standard we need to go through a long, if not life-long process of developing that spirit of detachment. It's not going to be easy, but let's be convinced beyond doubt that this is what is needed by us and that Christ will always be there to help us.

And we should never be afraid or hesitant to live such detachment, because as Christ himself assured us in another occasion, we should be seeking first the Kingdom of God and his righteousness, and all the other concerns and necessities we have will be taken care of. (cfr. Mt 6,33)

As we can see, what is needed here first is a strong and working faith, which is actually a gift God gives us but to which we have to correspond as fully as possible. With that faith, we know that what is impossible with us is always possible with God.

Such faith would enable us to echo Christ's words: "Father, if it is possible, let this cup pass from me, but not as I will, but as you will." (Mt 26,39) And while hanging on the cross, he at first complained, "My God, my God, what have you forsaken me." (Mt 27,46) But later on, he rectified by saying, "Father, into your hands I commit my spirit." (Lk 23,46)

To be sure, such detachment does not in any way mean a lack of love for our anyone or anything in this life. Let's remember that everyone and everything comes from God and therefore should be loved the way God loves them. Christ even went to the extent of telling us to love our enemies.

But it is a love that does not preclude a certain detachment from people and things and even from our own life. It's a love that starts and ends with God, and when people, things and even our life would stand in the way of our love for God, then we should be willing to detach ourselves from them so we can get to the real love.

To have this kind of understanding about detachment and to conform our life to it would certainly need a lot of sacrifice, discipline and God's grace. But as long as we have a strong faith, we can hack it.

We just have to see to it that everyday there should be some act of detachment, so we can approach this ideal effectively. Thus, Christ told us to deny ourselves, carry the cross to follow him. (cfr. Mt 16,24)

RTL's excess P8 B tariff revenues released for farmers subsidy

That the Rice Tarification Law (RTL) Is at work, has been proven with the recent release by the Department of Budget and Management (DBM) of P8.05 billion in excess tariff revenues to the Department of Agriculture (DA), as stipulated.

The recipients are some 1.56 million rice farmers found eligible to receive P5K each within the second half of 2022. In 2021, the government secured P18.9 billion from the RTL.

The RTL mandates that the Philippine government shall put into the Rice Competitiveness Enhancement Fund (RCEF) annually to finance programs for farm mechanization, seed development, propagation and promotion, credit assistance and extension services. Also, any excess in tariff revenues are allocated for financial assistance to rice farmers, titling of agricultural rice lands, expanded crop insurance, and crop diversification program.

The DBM issued a special allotment release amounting to P8.98 billion in March, which was

Problems in Plain Sight

Coram oculis nostris is the Latin for right before our very eyes. And that right before us the sad reality in our education sector is unfolded and there is no denying that indeed there lies a problem.

August 22, 2022, was the execution date in the education sector. It was the date of the first day of classes for Basic Education and the Commission on Higher Education had also greened light the limited face-to-face or expanded limited face-to-face mode. In the Elementary and Secondary Levels, the mandate was clear, it was face-to-face, on-site, or bust.

Right before my very eyes, I saw the dreadful yet old sight of overcrowded Tacloban roads, in particular the Utap, Sampaguita, Apitong and Real Streets were jam-packed in the cold early morning. The Artery from San Juanico Area to Bagacay, Abucay, and Maharlika were unmistakably bumper to bumper. This time it was apparent that this is a gridlock scenario. This is the external reality that the excess tariff revenues, to the DA under the unprogrammed appropriations of the 2022 national budget.

MY COMMENTS:

As of this writing, I can safely say that the RTL is ably implemented and that RCEF is benefitting from it. It is hoped that the atmosphere/management-wise, does not change and erase the gains it enjoyed.

undeniably affects the internal reality of the state of education in our nation.

Merlinda Halipot of the Manila Bulletin penned a bold observation Same Old Problems marred the first day of school. She pointed out the usual shortages of classrooms, teachers, and teaching resources, it was news because after the rosy pronouncements and after multi-billion allegations of corruption in the Department of Education (which means access to billions worth of funds) and the changes of administration, we have more of the same.

Citing Halipot's report it was certain that this one is old news, more of a déjà vu "Our general situation now is we have classrooms of 40-50 students, taught by teachers with seven to eight teaching loads plus ancillary duties," he explained. Textbooks and modules, he added, are also "sorely insufficient" while the concrete plans on how learning will be conducted "are still not rolled out."

These observations were true in Tacloban City and yes elsewhere.

It would be sad to note that many times pointing out the obvious would mean that you become critical and will mark you as an enemy of the state. However, in most cases, these are simple observations. The things that happen right before our eyes are not propaganda but a manifestation of truth observable and perceivable even recordable.

The reality is that we are going to solve our education problems by starting with identifying our problems and accepting that we have problems.

The gridlock in our traffic and the crowding of our schools, classrooms, and shortages of our educational resources are tell-tale signs of deeper problems inside our educational crevices. These, in turn, are manifested in our results on our International Standards Tests and Assessments, and sadly these define us. It also describes us and creates prestige or delineates us from the community from the international learning community.

For a thing or a phenomenon with which we are all too familiar, we must set aside our differences, party affiliations, and interests and solve the problems of our education sector. The traffic on our roads and the overcrowding of our school obvious and perceivable before our very eyes is at the very least something that we all must address. And that we must get our acts together for our children and their future.

God, our Father, you guide everything in wisdom and love. Accept the prayers we offer for our nation, by the wisdom of our leaders and integrity of our citizens, may harmony and justice be secured and may there be lasting prosperity and peace.

Almighty and eternal God, You know the longings of our hearts and You protect our rights in your goodness, watch over those in authority, so that people everywhere may enjoy freedom, security and peace.

We ask this through our Lord Jesus Christ, your Son, who lives and reigns with you and the Holy Spirit, one God, forever and ever, Amen. (Courtesy of Daughters of St. Paul)

Tacloban city welcomes proposed causeway project; says will spur economic and tourism activities and solve traffic congestion problem

TACLOBAN CITY – The planned construction of a causeway here was welcomed by city officials, saying aside from solving the problem of traffic congestion, it will also help spur more economic and tourism activities.

Anacleto Rei Lacanilao, the city administrator, said that the proposed causeway project came at a time that the Daniel Z. Romualdez (DZR) Airport will also undergo a major rehabilitation.

On Thursday (Sept.1), the Department of Public Works and Highways (DPWH) announced a causeway will be constructed over Cancabato Bay, starting at the front of the City Hall building up to Kataisan Point where the DZR Airport is located before the end of the current year.

The proposed 2.25 kms and the four-lane bridge has a budget allocation of P3.46 billion, the DPWH added on its report.

“This has been in the works in a while. The causeway will ease up traffic in many roads between the airport and Tacloban city downtown area. It will cut travel time by more than half,” Lacanilao said.

“This will be good for tourism and investment in the city. Overall this major infrastructure project is expected to contribute to the progress not only of the city but also to the nearby municipalities,” he added.

In the statement released by the DPWH-8, construction of the causeway would start before end of the current year which it said a first of its kind in the region.

With a total project cost of P3.4692 billion, the 4-lane road embankment spans approximately up to 2.557-kilometer in length with a bridge that stretches to 180 meters and also features bike lanes, concrete canals, sidewalks, as well as wave deflectors on both sides.

The DPWH 8 will be constructing this year the 0.586 kilometer of the Tacloban City Causeway with allocation of P990 million.

“This project is expected to offer an improved path user experience that attracts the local community and tourists, and will soon cater as an infrastructure that can be used by motorists seeking for a scenic drive, and by locals who prefer walking, running, and biking,” DPWH Regional Director Allan Borromeo said.

in order to endure harsh site location and high humidity, as well as somehow serve as protection for nearby communities against the wrath of nature such as erosive tidal movements brought by weather disturbances.

Based on the project description, the main core of the structure is common borrow reinforced with high strength geotextile laid at every 2-meter fill.

The hydraulic geotextile tubes are to be placed on both sides to contain the embankment and to add stability on the structure. Also, the toe and side

Suspect in the killing of a village chairman arrested for illegal possession of firearms

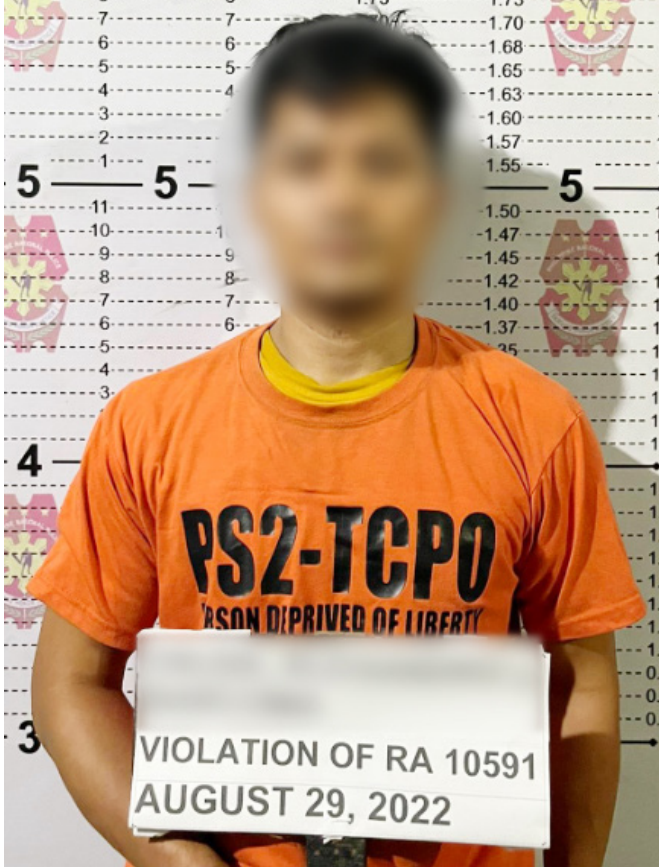

ORMOC CITY- An enlisted member of the Philippine Army suspected to be behind on the shooting to death of a village chief in Javier, Leyte last week was arrested by the town police for illegal possession of firearms in Tacloban City last Monday (August 29).

Javier chief of police, Lt. Nicky Bermudo, identified the suspect as Alexandro Calda, 33, enlisted personnel with a rank of a sergeant and assigned at the 631B based in Basey, Samar.

Bermudo said that their operatives have been tailing Calda as he was the main suspect in a shooting incident of Joel Riños, village chairman of Barangay Inayupan last August 22.

The police officer added that Bermudo was identified through the aid of a close circuit television (CCTV), barangay intelligence network (BIN) and a witness who happened to be in the vicinity where the victim was shot to death.

Bermudo continued that the operating team approached the suspect to conduct an interview pertaining to the shooting incident but the latter introduced himself as enlisted personnel of the Philippine Army.

The town police chief added that when they asked from the suspect for his identification, he voluntarily opened the u-box of his motorcycle wherein a short firearm was sighted in plain view prompting the PNP personnel to ask for the proper documents appertaining thereto but the suspect said none.

The firearm was a .45 caliber pistol with markings Colt MK IV Series 80 and chamber-loaded with live ammunition with two magazines loaded with six live ammunition each.

The suspect along with the confiscated items was brought to Police Station 2 of Tacloban City Police Office for proper disposition. (ROBERT DEJON) giving examples, exercises, practice, etc., but just the same, I try to simplify concepts and principles for easier grasp, especially if they are heavy enough for the level and kind of students I'm handling.

I hope that those who are leaving their students alone to discover things for themselves are not just making it an alibi to evade their responsibility. If laziness and irresponsibility are the real reasons, shame on them! They ought to abandon the teaching profession. They have no business being there.

You see, crowding students with tons of reading materials to browse in preparation for difficult tests when they meet is not facilitating learning. It's not serving as a guide. That's gross neglect of duty, armed with excuses that students should be left alone to discover knowledge by themselves, while these "teachers" are relaxing at home and other convenient places.

No, that's not my style. I take an active part in the learning and skills development of my students. That's why I call myself a teacher. I don't leave them alone. I guide them. Yes, I allow them to discover knowledge, but with my imposing presence, simplify ideas for them so that they could grasp them with ease and thus learn in the process.

conduct a technical examination to compare the signatures and thumbmarks of registered voters on the voters registration records (VRRs) against those in the Election Day Computerized Voters List (EDCVL) which the court granted.

Pepe Sapo, document examiner from the Commission on Elections (Comelec)'s voters identification division, election records and statistics department, submitted to the court their dactyloscopic and questioned document report which concluded that "massive irregularities took place" as the signatures and fingerprints of 3,928 voters from the VRR did not match with those at the EDVCL.

However, the court ruled that the Comelec report is not enough to indicate that there was fraud committed.

"It is the established doctrine of this jurisdiction that opinions of handwriting experts are not binding on the court. It may accept totally or partially or even dispense with the Comelec findings and conclusions and conduct its own examinations of the questioned handwriting," it said on its ruling dated August 26 but was only released last August 30.

The court further stated that Dorado's camp should have reported to the Comelec representatives or the police officers manning the election if there was indeed a "massive substituted voting" of 3,928 voters on the Election Day.

Dorado did not show the court any police blotter or minutes of these allegations.

The court added that assuming that the Comelec findings are correct, still the 50% threshold of unlawful ballots was not met to nullify Rosales' proclamation, the court said.

In its summation of the votes, the court ruled that Dorado garnered 22,268 total votes with 695 annulled votes, while Rosales obtained 23,456 votes with 1,355 annulled votes.

Rosales, who is serving his first term, still won by 1,188 votes over Dorado. (RACHEL ARNAIZ) barangay and SK elections are Leyte Rep. Richard Gomez and Samar Governor Sharee Ann Tan.

Gomez has filed a bill seeking for the cancellation of the barangay and SK elections to next year saying that the money intended for such political exercise could be spent for other purposes of the government like addressing the food security program.

For her part, Gov. Tan said that considering that the country had just conducted a presidential election, it's better for the barangay and SK polls be moved to at least next year.

"Its better we sort of settle things first like putting into place our programs. Hopefully, we can have the elections by next year," she said.

If the December 5 will not be cancelled, the filing of certificates of candidacy for those who will ran for the barangay and SK elections will start on October 6 to 13 with the campaign period to begin on November 25 to Dec. 3.

Construction worker shot dead by two unidentified suspects in Calbayog City
ORMOC CITY-A construction worker died on the spot after two still unidentified gunmen shot him at the back of his head while walking on the way to work about 6: 40 am last Monday(August 29) at Purok 5, Brgy. East Awang, Calbayog City.
Calbayog chief of police Lt. Col Ericson Del Rosario identified the victim as Roy Wahingon, 33, and a resident of P-5 Brgy. West Awang of the said city.
Initial investigation conducted by responding police disclosed that while the victim was walking along the street towards his work place together with his foreman Gregorio Baldomaro, the two armed suspects suddenly appeared from behind and without provocation, shot the victim once hitting on his left head that resulted to his instantaneous death.
The suspects immediately fled on foot towards a diversion road near the Northwest Samar State University.

Forum aims to synchronize devolution plans of Region 8 LGUs

TACLOBAN CITY - The Department of the Interior and Local Government (DILG) in Eastern Visayas (Region 8) will hold a regional forum to harmonize devolution transition plans between national government agencies (NGAs) and local government units (LGUs) regarding the implementation of Mandanas-Garcia Supreme Court ruling.

Melford Maderazo, DILG Region 8 focal person of the devolution transition plan (DTP), said they have been doing coaching activities to review correct, and complete the local governments' DTP in the region in preparation for the upcoming forum.

"All cities, towns, and villages have already submitted their DTPs. The next step is to clean up the DTPs in support of the ongoing transition to full devolution," Maderazo said in a press briefing on Thursday.

The DILG has not yet announced the dates of the regional forum that will be held before the end of September.

On the part of the national government, Department of Budget and Management Region 8 assistant director Aleli Hernandez said some agencies in the region have already submitted their DTPs to the DBM central office.

Among these agencies are DILG; Department of Public Works and Highways; Department of Tourism; National Irrigation Administration; Department of Transportation; Department of Science and Technology; Department of Agriculture; Department of Human Settlements and Urban Development; Department of Trade and Industry; Department of Social Welfare and Development; Department of Education; and Office of the Presidential Adviser on Peace, Reconciliation and Unity.

"Preparation of transition plans is in close coordination with national government agencies. The plans will serve as guides on the monitoring and performance assessment of local governments by the agencies concerned," Hernandez said.

Government agencies are given until October 2022 to finalize their transition plans.

Executive Order No. 138 and its Implementing Rules and Regulations mandate all provinces, cities, municipalities, and villages to prepare their DTPs in close coordination with the concerned national government agencies to guide them towards the full assumption of devolved functions and services that come with more financial resources.

Last year, then President Rodrigo Duterte issued the directive to boost the local government's preparation for more responsibilities with the implementation of the Mandanas-Garcia ruling in 2022.

The Supreme Court Mandanas-Garcia ruling resulted from the petition made by Batangas Governor Hermilando Mandanas and former Bataan governor Enrique Garcia Jr. before the Supreme Court on local government shares on internal revenue allotment (IRA).

With the increased budget share, the LGUs are expected to be responsible for the funding and delivery of the activities, which have been devolved to them under Republic Act 7160, the Local Government Code of 1991, and other subsequent laws.

Among the functions assigned to local governments based on the Local Government Code are agriculture programs, local infrastructures, environmental services, revenue mobilization, health services, maintenance of peace and order, employment facilitation, transportation, tourism, and housing. (PNA)
